A Strange Winter.
Built for Flying Men.
Where Flies Could Skate.
Mysterious Milwaukee.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Jan. 22.

THIS IS a strange winter. Nearly 2,000 miles of travel through many states, from New York westward, without a trace of snow until you reach the high ground at La Junta, Col.

Even there, and on the high rolling hills of New Mexico through which the Santa Fe "Chief" is now passing, snow lies in thin patches, more like early spring than mid-winter.

THOUSANDS OF square miles of unused lands lie all around you. Room and fertility enough for all the people now on earth and 1,000,000,000 more.

Those who believe that everything was planned in advance conclude that these millions of hilltops were prepared especially for a superior flying machine race, as the fertile valleys of the Nile and the Tigris and Euphrates, with their regular food supply, were arranged to give civilization a start.

You do not see or know America, if you study your country from a Fifth avenue sidewalk.

It is a pity that so many must live and die without ever knowing the country that belongs to them.

ONE OF THE MOST beautiful places in the world is Phoenix, Ariz., marvelous climate, beautiful mountains, valleys and roads, perfect winter sunshine.

Inspecting that lovely city through the eyes of newspaper reporters, you find a great crowd gathered in one spot struggling to pass through one narrow door. It leads to a courtroom in which a prosecuting attorney will try to persuade 12 men that Mrs. Judd, accused of "the trunk murders," should be executed.

Mrs. Judd sits there with hair carefully "waved," wearing one of a complete line of new dresses. The odds are against justice, dressed in an old-fashioned, dowdy way, long baggy skirts, her hair in a Grecian knot.

THE CROWD watching a woman's struggle to escape death actually enjoy the sight.

Human beings have not changed much since a young French nobleman of the Eighteenth Century suggested to his fair companion that they "spend a couple of hours pleasantly, before dinner, watching criminals executed and tortured in the public square." See Brandes' "Life of Voltaire."

YOU PASS through old-fashioned America on this trip, and study it in Senator Capper's Weekly, published at Topeka, Kan.

A youth remarks to his lady love, in a Kansas comic strip, that:

"Mahatma Gandhi could dress that way because he didn't hafta track skunks in snow up to his knees."

A New York boy would hardly know what that means.

MRS. G. G. S. suggests to the Kansas editor that women can save steps by putting the kitchen work table "directly in front of the kitchen mirror." Looking in the mirror reminds her to straighten up her shoulders and "overcome other weak spots."

Mrs. Julia C. Black wonders if Senator Capper remembers when men's Sunday best shirts had "bosoms," were starched "stiff as a board and ironed up glossy enough for a fly to skate on them."

Mrs. J. E. M. asks the senator if he remembers "when you dolled up in your new calico dress and, shoes in hand, walked barefoot to Sunday school, in a school house, putting on your shoes just before you got there to keep them new and shiny."

MR. BONFILS' Denver Post says Denver is excited over the city's first kidnaping by gunmen. Two young men, with automatics, forced two women to drive to the house of Benjamin T. Bower, 60 years old. They took him away. Telling his wife that if she did not provide $50,000 ransom her husband would be killed.

COLORADO DOES not like these eastern ways and will probably pass a law punishing kidnaping with death.

If the ransom is not paid, the wife has no such amount of money. The kidnapers, if wise, will refrain from murdering their victim. Killing him would not bring the money and it might secure for them unpleasant sensations in connection with capital punishment.

WASHINGTON TELLS of the $2,000,000,000 government fund to improve conditions, under the direction of Charles G. Dawes. It is suggested that $200,000,000 will go to depositors in closed banks, $50,000,000 in loans to distressed farmers. Great corporations may borrow up to $100,000,000 each but "only on good collateral approved by Dawes and his board of directors." WHAT IS GOOD COLLATERAL?

Three years ago New York Central stock would have been the best possible collateral at $200 a share. It wouldn't be accepted as "bank collateral" now at $50 a share.

SENATOR CAPPER, in a signed article, calls attention to the fact that Milwaukee, Wis.,

COX SCORES PHILLIPS ON RELIEF

Declares Pittsburgh Head Of Hoover Body 'Doesn't Know' Depression Exists

Father James R. Cox, "shepherd of the unemployed," said today that Frank R. Phillips, utility head and Hoover unemployment committee chairman here, probably "doesn't know there is a depression."

Phillips, who attended a White House reception last night, was reported as "assuring President Hoover that the Western Pennsylvania metropolis would be able to take care of its unemployment problems without federal assistance."

SCORES STATEMENT

The priest, who let a jobless army of thousands to Washington to ask Congress and President Hoover for "jobs, not charity," and a $5,000,000,000 fund to provide work, said today:

"Is Mr. Phillips' statement to be believed, or has it basis in his own feeling of security—the feeling that he has everything? He probably feels that the whole world has everything—a reasoning that is, perhaps, why his companies—gas, electric, transportation—made no reductions in their rates.

"Probably he doesn't know there is a depression—that more than 100,000 men need jobs here.

"If the problem is being handled, why does Mr. Phillips' company have to shut off light, and gas; why does the railways company have to lay off 400 men; why are so many men and women coming to agencies in which Mr. Phillips is interested, asking for assistance which ordinarily the normal welfare bureaus could give.

"Is he to be believed, rather than the 25,000 orderly, well-behaved jobless who went to Washington and told an entirely different story two weeks ago?

AGENCIES OVERRUN

"It's a fact that social agencies, not only in Pittsburgh, but in the whole country are overrun with demands. These agencies are striving, trying their best to do what they can. But here alone there have been 500 new cases a day, and a few days ago the responsible heads of the agencies said $7,000,000 more, minimum, is required.

"And men don't want charity—they want jobs. They want to work, not to beg.

"Whatever has been done to relieve the situation has been done mostly by the poor themselves. The kind Frank R. Phillips represents haven't contributed their share."

Mackey's Daughter Gives Up City Job

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Mrs. Lorna Mackey Haines, daughter of former Mayor Harry A. Mackey, has resigned her position as an investigator in the office of the city solicitor. She gave no reason.

Last summer Mrs. Haines obtained a divorce from her husband and at present is living at the home of her parents with her two children.

HOUSE PASSES FINANCE BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The $2,000,000,000 finance corporation bill neared its final enactment today when the House approved a conference report harmonizing its differences with the Senate.

The measure was to be called up in the Senate later and, if approved, will reach President Hoover for signature before nightfall.

Meanwhile the House Appropriations Committee was considering the President's request for a $500,000,000 appropriation to provide capital stock for the corporation. The amount may be voted by the House tomorrow.

The corporation, which will be headed by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, will be ready to begin business early next week. The groundwork is already being laid by Dawes and Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Long Asks Ruling On Governorship

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A delegation, headed by Huey P. Long, called on the justices of the State Supreme Court in private chambers today and requested an immediate ruling that would settle the controversy over who is Governor of Louisiana.

CITY HALTS TOWING OF AUTOS

Cars to Be Tagged Pending Legal Rule on State Law Banning Machine Removal

One of Pittsburgh's greatest political rackets, the towing away ofo illegally parked cars to "concession" garages, tottered today as police received orders not to impound any parked machine until a ruling on the legality of such action is handed down by the City Law Department.

Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey issued the anti-towing order last night. It applies only to illegally parked cars. Automobiles involved in wrecks or crimes or those operated by a driver under influence of liquor still are to be impounded.

GARAGES DESIGNATED

The action was taken after someone discovered that a law passed by the 1931 Legislature may be interpreted as prohibiting removal of parked cars.

Thousands of illegally parked automobiles are towed each year to the "police concession" garages, designated by Council.

Police are instructed to call these garages only when they wish an illegally parked car removed. The owner can recover his machine only after he has secured a police release card and paid the garage owner towing and storage charges.

Frequent charges have been made that certain policemen were given a percentage of the garage charge on each car they ordered impounded.

CARS TO BE TAGGED

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt today said that he had been asked to give Director of Public Safety James M. Clark, Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh and Inspector Dorsey a ruling on the exact meaning of the law which, he said, is believed to prohibit towing away of a parked car unless the owner is first notified.

Waldschmidt said he had not had time to study the law carefully but would do so immediately. His decision is to be held in abeyance until Director Clark, now confined to his home by a cold, returns to his office.

Until then police will tag—not tow.

Rumor Picks Coolidge as Steel Head

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 22.—(INS.)—The usual silence, often described as "golden," prevailed in the quiet law office of Calvin Coolidge this afternoon as reports swept in from New York to the effect that the former President had been selected to succeed James A. Farrell as president of the United States Steel Corporation.

Unofficially the opinion was expressed that the reports were in a category with those which have placed Mr. Coolidge in the White House again; in the United States Senate; on the bench of the United States Supreme Court, and presiding over his alma mater, Amherst College.

U. S. WORKERS SACKING SPEAKEASY

PROHIBITION WORKERS, FOLLOWING RAIDERS, SEIZING ALL THE FIXTURES IN SPEAKEASY

U. S. laborers at 41 Tunnel street this afternoon emptying beer kegs, sacking all the equipment—bar, furniture, everything!—their first seizure under a recent U. S. court ruling.

RAIDERS SEIZE BAR FIXTURES

The first seizure in Pittsburgh of furnishings and equipment of an alleged speakeasy, under a recent United States Supreme Court ruling, was made today when prohibition agents conducted a raid at 41 Tunnel street. The bar, brass rail, pictures, buffet, radio, tables and chairs, clock, phonograph, draperies, table linen, cuspidors, stoves, cash register, ice box, ash trays, rugs and hat racks were carted away to a government storage house.

Two agents reported they purchased liquor and then announced the house was raided. They called Prohibition Administrator R. S. Krause, who superintended the seizure of the equipment. In the bar, agents said, they found small quantities of gin, whisky, wine and three and a half barrels of beer.

Later, while dismantling rooms, agents said they found several caches of liquor. Under a loose tread of a stairway they found 35 pints of gin, and other liquor. In a building in the rear they found four half-barrels of beer.

William J. O'Brien, 39, of 82 Congress street, who agents said was the bartender, was arrested.

Lobby Informer, Inventor, Suicide

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Samuel S. Eveland, 63, chemist and inventor, was found shot to death today in his Overbrook home. Police announced it a suicide.

Recently Eveland was given credit for perfecting a method of purifying ramie, a vegetable fiber. His name came before the United States Senate Lobby Committee last November when John Holland, an investigator, testified that Eveland reported hearing a well-known sugar company official order a sum of money sent to a United States Senator.

N. Y. Clerk Indicted, Kept Marriage Fees

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Two indictments against Deputy City Clerk James J. McCormick, a Tammany leader, were filed today by a grand jury, an outgrowth of McCormick's testimony before the Hofstadter Legislative Committee that he received about $135,000 in fees from couples he married in the municipal chapel.

Killer Crowley Grins On March to Death

Nonchalant at Doom, Tells Executioners To Tighten Straps

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
Universal Service.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 22.—As nonchalantly as he made a target for bullets of virtually every policeman that crossed his path of crime, Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley, 20, went to his death in the electric chair at 11:06 last night for killing a patrolman.

He strode fearlessly into the death chamber, grinned broadly at the 25 newspapermen assembled to watch his execution, greeted a prison sergeant with a cheery "Hello, Sarg," and then in a more solemn voice said:

"My last words are that I send my love to my foster mother. Tell her I appreciate everything she has done."

But those were not his last words. As the prison chaplain who had led him into the death chamber read some prayers and the guards adjusted the straps on the electric chair and the wired helmet on the young slayer's head, he said casually:

"Say, Sarg, I don't believe

Crocodile Kills African Explorer

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Alois Kirchlechner, African explorer, who lived in Innsbruck, was torn and killed by a crocodile while attempting to shoot it from a canoe at Dire Da Gun, on the Nile River, in Egypt, said a dispatch received here yesterday.

The incident occurred December 16, but owing to the remoteness of the region where it happened the news was delayed.

RACKETEERS RAID 'HILL,' EAST END

Charges From Sawed-Off Shotguns Shatter Glass In Windows and Doors

Pittsburgh's gangland blazed into action again early today as night raiders, armed with sawed-off shotguns and traveling in speedy autos, swept into the Hill and East End districts, riddled the fronts of four business places with volleys of shot and sped back to underworld seclusion before police radio cars could pick up their trail.

Capt. John Schnurr, of Center avenue station, said he believed the raids were in reprisals for inter-gangland troubles.

An hour after three Webster avenue stores had been shot up by the cruising mauraders, police arrested five men in the Hill district and held them as suspects.

ATTACK RENEWED

Even while they were being arraigned in Center Avenue Police Station, East End police reported the fourth attack, in which shotguns sent a hail of lead through three large plate glass windows in the poolroom of Frank Burello, 551 Larimer avenue.

The Webster avenue attacks were on a fruit store, at 1000, and a bottle and keg supply house at 1029, both owned by Patsy Melarango, and a meat market at 1027 owned by Frank Cassilli.

Melaranga told police that his stores have been bombed three times in the past few months.

He denied he had any enemies in the racket world and said his bottle and keg business was not involved with underworld friction.

Cassilli said:

"They must have made a mistake. Maybe they got the wrong place."

LIVES OVER STORE

Melarango lives in an apartment over the fruit store. He told police that he heard the shots but thought they were backfires from an auto. He said he did not know of the shootings until

WALSH ACCUSER ARRESTED

A prosecuting witness, Mrs. Catherine Newingham, was arrested today as she entered the office of Alderman Jacob Yeager, 1809 West Liberty avenue, to testify in the election law violation charges which she and others have preferred against 16 men and women, including two sons of Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh.

She was arrested by Constable Harry Fink on a warrant issued on information of Edward (Buster) Doyle, of 117 First avenue, one of the defendants. The charge was violation of election law through interfering with voters.

Fink said he had warrants for two other prosecuting witnesses, James Nestor and his wife, Edith, of 1607 Clark street, Wilkinsburg, charging them with violating election laws by illegal registration and voting.

The charges grew out of the September primary, in which Paul Walsh, one of the 16 defendants, was the successful candidate for constable of the First Ward.

Lord Reading Ill, Plane Speeds Aid

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Lord Reading, noted British statesman and foreign secretary in the first National government of Prime Minister MacDonald, is seriously ill at Luxor, according to word received here today.

Mother Gambles for Baby's Life at 999 to 1 Odds

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—A two-year-old baby will gamble her life on the operating table this week on the opportunity to grow up a normal healthy child with the odds of 999 to 1 against her.

She is Diana Moore, whose 18-year-old mother was deserted by her father because Diana didn't turn out to be a boy.

There is only one chance in a thousand of ever righting her numbed brain. That slim chance will be given by the scalpel in the hands of a skilled surgeon. And again there is only one chance in a thousand that she will survive the operation.

Four physicians held consultation over Diana in the offices of Dr. Oscar Agner Spier. They were Dr. Spier, his son, Dr. Leslie C. Spier; Dr. Mortimer H. Lewis and Dr. Felix Hoffman.

When they told the baby's mother they believed there was one chance in a thousand of curing her by an operation, the mother declared herself willing to take the chance on her baby's life.

Driver Finds Rail Broken, Averts Passenger Wreck

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 22.—Fifty passengers on the Fairmont-Pittsburgh Express of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were saved from death or injury this morning by the discovery of a broken rail at the Hogsett cut crossing by a bus driver. The train was stopped a half mile from the scene.

Adam F. Quarrick, driver of the Oliver bus, found a broken rail and notified railroad officials. A heavy coal train had passed over a few minutes before.

BRITISH CABINET STAYS DESPITE SPLIT ON TARIFF ISSUE

MACDONALD'S GOVERNMENT MEETS TEST

Sets Precedent Aside and Acts to Preserve Unity During Economic Crisis

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Great Britain's cabinet split on the tariff issue today, but contrary to precedent the government will not resign.

The break was precipitated by the report of the committee on the balance of trade, but it really was caused by differences between the basic political theories of the free traders and the protectionists.

It was understood that the committee, backed by a cabinet majority, proposed a flat rate tariff of 10 to 15 per cent on manufactured and partially manufactured imports. The Liberals in the cabinet were believed to have held out for free trade and the Conservatives for a protection tariff.

UNITY SOUGHT

An official communique issued at the close of the cabinet meeting this afternoon explained the disagreement and added:

"The cabinet is deeply impressed with the paramount importance of maintaining national unity in the presence of the grave problems which confront this country and the whole world."

It was added that those who found themselves unable to support the conclusions reached by a majority of their colleagues on the subject of tariffs and allied issues were at liberty to express their views by speech and vote.

VOTE IN HOUSE

The cabinet action is unprecedented in British constitutional procedure and means that the tariff will be thrown into the House of Commons for free vote. With the preponderant Conservative majority the indications are enactment of a tariff is now only a matter of time.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald appears to have saved his national government from the crisis which developed so suddenly and for the moment can turn his attention to pressing international problems.

QUIZ IN 6-HOUR RAIL DAY VOTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Senate today adopted a resolution calling on the Interstate Commerce Commission to study the feasibility of the railroads adopting the six-hour day.

The resolution was offered by Chairman Couzens, who said reports had come to him from Chicago conferences between the railroad brotherhoods and executives that if Congress took some interest in the six-hour day an agreement might be reached between contending factions.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Still undecided about whether to accept a 10 per cent wage reduction, 800 brotherhood and union leaders today studied the arguments of railway presidents that the industry was threatened with further bankruptcies and the loss of credit.

The managements made what was apparently their final offer when they promised to do "whatever may be practicable" to stabilize employment, refusing most of the other labor proposals including appointment of a commission to study a six-hour day.

Wisconsin Senator Assails Wilkerson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Senator Blaine (Rep.) of Wisconsin, charged today before a Senate committee that Judge James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, is holding up a decision in a case in which Senator Glenn's law firm is engaged until after his nomination for Circuit Judge is acted upon.

Blaine said the demurrer was filed in a civil suit growing out of the extradition proceedings against John (Jake the Barber) Factor, a British subject.

Two Found Guilty In Fatal Stabbing

David Heffling, 15, and Marcus McFadden, 20, McKeesport Negroes, were found guilty of second degree murder by a jury in Criminal Court today in the stabbing to death of John W. McPee, 28, of Sharpsburg. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff deferred sentence until a motion for a new trial is disposed of.

POSTAL RATE BOOST DOOMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Postoffice Department has given up hope for obtaining postal rate increases as part of the administration's method of reducing the Treasury deficit.

F. A. Tilton, assistant postmaster general in charge of fiscal affairs, said today the matter was "a dead issue" so far as the Postoffice Department was concerned.

Postmaster General Brown has recommended to Congress that rates on non-local first class mail be increased from 2 to 3 cents, and that the 1921 war measure rates be resumed on bulk second class matter.

Opposition has arisen on Capitol Hill to the proposed increases and approval of the legislation was considered unlikely.

DIRECT U. S. AID TO BE PRESSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—A drive for direct federal relief of the hungry unemployed will be launched in the Senate as soon as Congress enacts President Hoover's $2,000,000,000 credit bill for aiding business, commerce and industry.

Progressives from both major parties announced today they would press for prompt action on the nonpartisan LaFollette-Costigan bill appropriating $375,000,000 for distribution among the states in helping to feed, clothe and shelter the jobless. The bill will be fought by administration leaders since President Hoover opposes direct federal relief.

The contributions would be limited to two-thirds of the amount raised by each state for like purposes. Pennsylvania's allotment would be $3,937,972 for the fiscal year 1932 and $7,875,945 for 1933.

Comedy to Be Given By 'Y' Playhouse

"Mud and Treacle," an English drawing room comedy by Ben W. Levy, will be presented by the "Y" Co-operative Playhouse in the auditorium of the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. Building, Bellefield avenue, February 7 and 8, it was announced today. Milton Brauman will direct the production.

Jobless Sea Cook Gets Al Smith's Brown Derby

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A jobless sea cook strutted the side walks of New York's East Side today wearing one of Al Smith's brown derbies.

George Stumpf, who used to cook beans on army transports but now stirs stew in the municipal lodging houses for his meals, said:

"Yes, sir, that's what I call a break. Here I walk into that free clothes place with a ticket callin' for a suit and they gimme one of the Guv'nor's blue worsted's, made on Fifth avenoo. Then, to top it off, they stick one of his hard hats on my head."

Stumpf has his new outfit because the former governor heeded the plea of the clothing relief division of the emergency unemployment committee.

ENGLAND VOTES CHURCH UNITY

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The lower house of the Convocation of Canterbury voted unanimously today to concur with the resolution adopted by the upper house Wednesday calling for establishment of intercommunion between the Church of England and the Old Catholic churches of Europe.

The resolution also was passed unanimously by the upper house.

There was an impressive scene at today's session when the clergy rose and recited the doxology after the prolocutor had read the collect for further unity.

GLASS BANKING BILL STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Sweeping changes in the Federal Reserve System, as proposed in a bill by Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, were under consideration today by the Senate.

The Glass bill is the product of a sub-committee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, which has given close study to revision of the Federal Reserve act.

A liquidation corporation operating under Federal Reserve direction is proposed as a means of extending aid to closed member banks of the Federal Reserve System. This feature of the bill is intended for permanent rather than temporary relief. A provision to extend similar aid to non-member banks during the present economic situation is included.

The liquidation corporation is a counter-proposal to the administration plan embodied in the Thomas-Beedy bill, under which Federal Reserve surpluses would be used to aid closed banks.

Congressmen Back Vare Man for Judge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Republican members of Congress from five additional Eastern Pennsylvania counties have joined a controversy between the Philadelphia Republican organization and the administration over appointment of a federal district judge.

A petition requesting President Hoover to appoint J. Gordon Forster, Philadelphia attorney, and choice of William S. Vare, for the post, to a vacancy on the federal bench at Philadelphia, was circulated and signed by all Republican Congressmen in the judicial district except one.

HAITI DEMANDS DICTATORSHIP OF U. S. END

Financial Rule Maintained For Benefit of Bankers, Island Charges in Note

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A formal request that the United States end the "financial dictatorship" which it is alleged to wield over Haiti, signed by the foreign minister of Haiti, was before Secretary of State Stimson today.

The request took the form of a lengthy letter from the Foreign Minister to Haiti, Dana G. Munro. It charged that a financial dictatorship is maintained in Haiti by the United States for the benefit of the New York bankers and American holders of Haitian bonds totaling about $15,000,000.

Haiti now proposes to set up its own fiscal agency, without American supervision, and possibly to retire these bonds by a new loan, which, it has been hinted, would be floated in France.

The note revealed the American financial adviser had suggested an additional American loan to Haiti, but this was refused by the island government "in view of the very hard political guarantees which the government of the United States has exacted in the past for the protection of the private interest of American citizens."

Senate to Get Peru's Plea for Quiz on Loans

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Ambassador Manuel Freyre Santander, at Washington, has informed the Peruvian government that the American State Department would transmit to the United States Senate's Banking Committee Peru's petition for further investigation of loans to Peru.

The foreign office has instructed the ambassador to ask for the inquiry to bring out whether any Peruvians other than Juan Leguia, son of former President Augusto B. Leguia, had received commissions for promoting loans.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A total of more than $571,000,000 has been borrowed in the United States in the last 10 years by the government of Chile, the Cosach nitrate monopoly, Chilean cities and the Mortgage Bank, an official statement said today.

The statement was Chile's reply to the request of Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, who asked for the figures in connection with a Senate investigation at Washington.

No commission, it said, had been paid in excess of 1 per cent, although some issues were sold at a discount.

G. O. P. OF OHIO BACKS HOOVER

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Ohio Republican State Central Committee yesterday indorsed President Hoover for a second term in the White House, and gave him what is virtually a free hand in selection of candidates for delegates to the Chicago national convention.

Overwhelming Hoover sentiment among committee members was evidenced by the fact that but two of the 48 votes were cast in opposition to the Hoover proposals, which is construed as insuring the President a solid delegation from Ohio.

Former State Chairman Fred W. Warner, of Marion, a leader of the faction that supported the candidacy of the late United States Senator Frank B. Willis in the contest with Hoover for Ohio's delegation four years ago, led the fight against the President yesterday.

A watchman in the Webster Avenue garage, across the street from the places attacked, said he heard seven or eight reports but, like Melarango, thought they were caused by an auto and paid no attention to them.

Police said the Webster avenue attacks occurred about 4 a. m., half an hour after the Larimer avenue raid. The latter, however, was not reported to the East End Station until several hours later.

AWAKENED BY SHOTS

Frank Burello, who operates the pool room, lives on the floor above it with his father, Phillip, and two brothers.

They were awakened when the raiders pumped four charges of buckshot through the windows.

Frank, city detectives said, told them the car circled the block, passed the building again and fired two more charges into it. There were four or five men in the car, he said.

The five men arrested gave their names as Cosimo Petty, 22, of 1604 Cliff street; Albert Albert, 21, of 1805 Cliff street; George Albert, 29, of 1204 River avenue; Isaac Riston, 18, of 1704 Cliff street, and Dominick Carluccik, 18, of 1518 Bedford avenue.

They were held for further investigation after a Center Avenue Police Court hearing.

Peggy Carroll Sues Husband for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty was filed here today by Peggy Carroll, screen and stage actress, against Arnold Morand. The complaint declared that Morand, threatening her once with a pistol, hampered her work.

Caisson Carries Body; 6 Drivers Held in Death of Girl

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—An artillery caisson bore the body of Saul Wein, World War veteran, to his grave today when comrades defied the Chauffeurs' and Teamsters' Union, which has been trying to bar private cars from Chicago funerals.

Members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars were given notice by the union that a military escort would not be allowed to follow the hearse to the cemetery. By way of reply, the veterans borrowed the caisson from the United States Army and the casket was borne in true military style, with an ex-soldier as driver.

Similar action was taken by an American Legion firing squad, which refused to drop out of the funeral procession of Edward Riley, crippled war veteran. Police were called in to avert a clash.

Police also protected the funeral of Shirley Pearlman, 17, a victim of Chicago's funeral war. Miss Pearlman was riding in the funeral cortege of a friend when the car was forced from the line by union drivers and was struck by a truck. In connection with Miss Pearlman's death, the grand jury yesterday returned true bills against six members of the union, charging conspiracy to interfere with a funeral procession.

Congress Defers Pay Cut Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(Universal)—Faced by a growing revolt against slashing the pay of about 230,000 federal employes, House leaders today agreed to drop the salary issue for the present.

An agreement was reached between Republican and Democratic leaders to defer action until near the end of the session.

FRENCH CHIEFS ASSAIL U. S. IN DEBATE

America's Aloof Attitude Denounced by Herriot While Deputies Cheer

International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—With a speech against the United States still ringing in its ears as it was delivered before adjournment this morning by former Premier Edouard Herriot, Radical-Socialist leader, the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon heard Premier Pierre Laval reiterate his stand on reparations.

Herriot, with Louis Marin, Nationalist leader, scored the United States for its aloof attitude toward Europe, criticizing its attitude toward France "in the past, during the present and in time to come."

Herriot was strongly cheered by the deputies as he declared:

"The United States, which often gives us advice, would gain by being closer to us in international negotiations aimed at uniting the whole world to assure peace."

In his blunt repetition of his reparations policy—that France can reduce reparations only if war debts are reduced—before the chamber this afternoon, Premier Laval said:

"France considers the Young plan as a definite settlement of the reparations problem.

"Therefore, France cannot consent to any new arrangement, but would agree to a new moratorium on reparations.

"We are willing to co-operate in the recovery of Europe on condition that all moral obligation is not banished."

BRIAND PLEADS FOR PEACE

PARIS, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—A plea that the nations of the world strive to overcome the "fragility" of peace when they meet in Geneva next month for the disarmament conference was made by Aristide Briand today.

Formally retiring from office for the time being at least France's veteran foreign minister told International News Service that war in Europe at present was impossible but that it was the duty of the world's statesmen to make the peace now existent a thing of permanency.

Briand expressed conviction that the disarmament conference could accomplish "something." Even if total disarmament is not feasible at present, he said, the delegates can, by trying, make some progress toward reduction in the world's fighting forces.

Briand expressed the conviction that fears of another war in the near future were based less upon tangibles than upon insidious propaganda spread by armament manufacturers.

Student Riots Close Berlin University

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Classes at the University of Berlin were suspended today after police had been called in to subdue fighting among student political factions.

Representatives of students and faculties of all the German universities issued a declaration today warning if the disarmament conference next month fails to "subordinate might to right" the ideal of peace in Europe will have failed.

Palestine Facing Immigration Curb

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Lewis French, Palestine land commissioner, the London Jewish Chronicle said today, has called for a further curtailment of Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Today

is about the most prosperous, best managed city in the United States, having in its treasury an unexpended balance of $6,000,000, $1,000,000 more than a year ago.

Milwaukee has no crime problem, thanks to a police force that accepts no bribes, and property is assessed for only 70 per cent of its real value.

Most amazing of all, Milwaukee, in which the late Victor L. Berger, an able and honest man, built up a powerful Socialist party, has for years been ruled by Socialists, with a Socialist mayor.

How can you explain anything as strange as that?

Dry Amendment to Stand, Smith Asserts

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The prohibition amendment, Alfred E. Smith—one of its most severe critics—believes, is in the Constitution to stay.

He told a meeting of the Hotel Association of New York last night that in his opinion repeal of the amendment was impossible. He said:

"I believe, however, that another amendment can be added which will provide that any state may, with the approval of the people, take control of such matters itself.

"When the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted, the people thought that all you had to do was to forbid something and that no one would do it. We have been at it 12 years, and the President's own commission says prohibition is unenforceable because it lacks public support."

The former governor and 1928 Democratic presidential candidate said prohibition is a political question. He said:

"They even elect county clerks on it."

GIRL TELLS OF RIDE WITH CHURCHMAN BEFORE MURDER

DISCARDED RAIL TICKET LEADS TO QUIZ

Victim Left Her at Home, Young Woman Says; Found Stabbed 25 Minutes Later

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22—Pretty 23-year-old Eleanor Temple, the last person known to have seen Norman Bechtel, her fellow church worker, alive, bought a round-trip railroad ticket between her home and Lansdale, Pa., where both attended a committee meeting at the Grace Mennonite Church before Bechtel was found dying.

However Miss Temple did not use the ticket but was driven to her North Philadelphia home with Robert Ross, another church worker, by Bechtel in his automobile.

The purchase of the round-trip ticket by Miss Temple, learned by International News Service, today engaged the attention of police with several other new angles of the investigation into the knife-murder of the model young bachelor.

CASUAL FRIENDS

Bechtel took Ross home first and then drove Miss Temple to her door.

Detectives questioned the girl again today. She reiterated that Bechtel had left her at her home at 11:45 p. m. without getting out of his automobile. His body was found 25 minutes later, many miles away.

Miss Temple said she had accepted Bechtel's invitation to drive her home because it was "more companionable" and she preferred it to going home on the train alone. She insisted she knew Bechtel only through her church work. She said:

"I can tell you absolutely nothing about this terrible crime. There is no way in which I can help you. Norman Bechtel and I were merely casual friends. In fact, I had not seen him for some time before the committee meeting in Lansdale."

HOUSE YIELDS CLUES

A search of the deserted house beside which the Bechtel automobile was abandoned revealed that it recently had been occupied by someone who slept and ate there. Many German newspapers, among other articles, were found inside the house.

The town of Bally, Pa., from where Bechtel originally came, is in the Perkiomen Valley, where many families of German descent reside. Police believed that the murderer of Bechtel may have come from somewhere near his former home and had known him for some time.

An examination of Bechtel's will and insurance policies revealed that the will, executed three years ago, left his estate to his brother, Wilbur, of Palm, Pa., and to his sister, Elsie, of Philadelphia. He carried $22,000 worth of insurance and also named his brother and sister as beneficiaries.

2 MEN ACCUSED BY GIRLS HELD

Two 16-year-old girls who left their homes in Defiance, Bedford County to hitch-hike to Pittsburgh landed in Morals Court today, accusing two married men of having attacked one of them.

The men, John Stewart, 40, of Amber street and T. J. Plunkett, 32, of Estella street, denied the accusation but were held for court.

The girls, Janet Grace and Isabella Stewart, told of riding on a moving van driven by Plunkett in Aspinwall yesterday.

They said Plunkett took them to a Butler street speakeasy last night, from there to a garage in Eva street, where the alleged attack on Janet Grace occurred. The Stewart girl told of breaking away and notifying police.

Plunkett said two men in the speakeasy kidnaped the girls and took them to the garage, where he and Stewart later found them.

Magistrate Thomas D. Jones turned the girls over to social workers, who will notify their parents. Jones did not ask any of the witnesses where the speakeasy was located.

The girls said they had left their homes because they were afraid to return after "playing hookey" from high school.

Pittsburgher Named On Barber's Board

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Appointment of an advisory committee in the Department of Public Instruction to assist in the enforcement of the 1931 barber's license law was announced today by Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction. The committee includes Frank Weibel, Pittsburgh.

All present barbers will become licensed by payment of a $2 fee before March 31. Persons desiring to become licensed barbers in the future must serve an apprenticeship and pass an examination.

Dry Law Violations Charged Against 15

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham today filed 47 informations in Federal Court charging 15 defendants with violations of the dry act. A majority of those named, including several women, had previously been held by the United States Commissioner.

FALLING STACK PERILS MANY

Half a dozen families occupying second and third floor apartments at 21 West Park way were startled from sleep early today as a 60-foot smokestack of the Ideal Laundry Company, same address, snapped, 30 feet of the sheetiron tube crashing onto the roofs of the one-story laundry and Crystal Laboratories, in front.

'SUB' AGROUND, CREW SAFE

VENTNOR, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The British submarine Rainbow ran aground this afternoon in a dense fog off Dunnose Point near here. It was expected that she would be refloated at high tide.

Admiralty officials said the Rainbow was in no danger and was not damaged, having grounded on a sandy bottom. A life-saving brigade was called out.

The submarine has a full complement of men aboard. She is one of the latest type of undersea craft.

Drivers' License Applications Slump

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Bureau of Motor Vehicles today announced receipt of 243,541 renewal applications for 1932 driver's licenses since January 4. This is a decrease of 31 per cent from the total of 321,221 received in the same period last year.

HAWAII MURDER VERDICT HELD IMPOSSIBLE

Prosecutor Also Sees No Chance of Acquittal in Clashing of Sentiments

(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service.)

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 22—City and County Prosecutor James F. (Smiling Jimmie) Gilliland today predicted that Mrs. Granville Fortescue; her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, E. J. Lord and Albert Jones, would never be convicted of the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, a native.

Tired of the barrage of verbal criticism and threatening letters he had received, Gilliland said:

"What's the use of trying to fool ourselves that either conviction or acquittal would be possible in this atmosphere? White sentiment is united against punishment of the four defendants even though it is conceded they took the law into their own hands and killed Kahahawai.

"I don't believe I know a single white man in the islands who doesn't believe that ample justification for the slaying existed after the trial of the five natives accused of an attack upon Lieut. Massie's wife had ended in a deadlock."

Kahahawai was one of the five men Mrs. Massie said attacked her. Gilliland added:

"I am optimistic I can obtain guilty verdicts in a retrial against the four surviving natives charged with attacking Mrs. Massie."

Meanwhile, Honolulu's crime crisis today was further stirred as police failed in their efforts to find David Lyman, 22, murderer, who escaped from Oahu prison and who was identified as the half-caste responsible for the second attack upon a Honolulu woman in less than three weeks.

Mrs. Taka Okazaki, an attractive 29-year-old Japanese woman, told her invalid husband and police that Lyman had attacked her after slugging her man friend, Takeo Harimoto, into unconsciousness.

Police were instructed to "shoot to kill," and the Chamber of Commerce offered a reward of $1,000 for Lyman, dead or alive.

GIRL, 14, DYING FROM BULLET

A 14-year-old schoolgirl who shot herself in her bedroom lay near death in Ohio Valley Hospital today.

Her father says the shooting was accidental.

She is Clara Westwood, daughter of Justice of the Peace and Mrs. James J. Westwood, of McKees Rocks, who spent the night at her bedside. A bullet wound in her abdomen, hope has been abandoned for her life, although a blood transfusion last midnight brought some improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Westwood and Clara's teacher, Miss Marie Werlinich, of Wilson Public School, friends of long standing, were in the dining room of the home at 107 Ella street when they heard Clara's screams. The father said:

"Clara went to my bedroom and took a revolver from under the pillow. I always keep a gun in the house. The next thing we heard was her screaming. I hurried up to her bedroom and found her sitting on her bed. She said: 'Daddy, I shot myself.'

"It was undoubtedly accidental. I thought maybe Clara had been scolded at school. Maybe she had read in school about wars and was interested in seeing a gun."

FOUR RESCUED AS HOME BURNS

Escaping to the roof of their home early today when fire broke out on the first floor, J. C. While, his wife and two children, Catherine, 12, and Joseph, 11, were led to safety down fire ladders. The two-story frame dwelling at 115 Mile Lock lane, Brackenridge, was completely destroyed, resulting in $8,000 damage. The family were unable to save any of their belongings as the blaze spread rapidly to the upper floor. Mr. and Mrs. While were playing cards when the fire broke out, and the children were in bed.

The fire spread to the attic of the home of A. W. Ross, 113 Mile Lock lane, several feet from the While home, but was checked by firemen. Mr. Ross, his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Ross, 65, his aunt, Miss Prudence Stakley, 70, and his sister, Mrs. Lenora Beskins, and her three children, Margaret, 20, Vernon, 25, and Robert, 25, awakened by the screams of the While family, dressed hurriedly and fled from the house. Slight damage resulted to their home.

Rabbit Dog Finds Silver During Hunt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—As a rabbit hound, Walter Hayhoe's dog is not so much, but he'd make a good detective.

Hunting on the edge of town with his master, the hound failed to raise any game but did discover a canvas bag full of silver pieces. The service was too elaborate. Hayhoe took it to the police.

NEW JUDGE TO SET KLINE DATE

Definite date for the trial of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his former director of supplies, Bertram L. Succop, will be set probably tomorrow, District Attorney Andrew T. Park indicated today.

Park conferred by telephone yesterday with Judge Thomas D. Finletter, of Philadelphia, named by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court as trial judge. He said a date would not be set until after the vacancy on the bench at Butler is filled. This appointment was expected tomorrow.

It was estimated here today that the trial and investigation of Kline and Succop will cost the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County and individuals $100,000. The largest item of expense will be $50,000, the cost of the audit shared by both the city and the citizens committee. Another $25,000 will represent the cost of the grand jury probe and trial of the case in Butler, which must be paid for by Allegheny County. The balance will be used in defraying expenses of witnesses, counsel fees, etc., by both defendant and plaintiffs.

Gas Blast Injures Two, Routs Tenants

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mathilda Henchert, 36, and her 13-year-old daughter were critically injured in a gas explosion in their apartment here early today. The blast routed the tenants of 30 other apartments in the building.

2 TRUNKS USED BY SLAYER EXHIBITED

Ruth Judd Painted as Woman Of Iron Nerve as State Renews Fight for Noose

By ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Marshaling a corps of Los Angeles witnesses to complete the weird story of the trunk murder, the state of Arizona today called on two mute witnesses in its attempt to convict Winnie Ruth Judd, preacher's daughter, and send her to the gallows.

The witnesses were the two trunks in which Mrs. Judd shipped the bodies of her chums, Hedvig Samuelson and Agnes Leroi, from Phoenix to Los Angeles last October.

Deputy sheriffs carried the trunks down a corridor, lined with an eager crowd of would-be spectators, and locked the trunks in an ante-room near the courtroom of Trial Judge Howard Speakman.

TRIAL DELAYED

After listening to attorneys battle over the introduction of evidence, Judge Speakman abruptly ordered a recess until late his afternoon. He consulted with the stae and defense in his private chambers and then announced that "some maters have come up that will take some time to straighten out."

Mrs. Judd yesterday was painted as a woman whose fury drove her to kill her best friends and mutilate their bodies, later attempting to conceal the crime by shipping the remains in trunks.

Mrs. Judd sat without flinching while 10 state witnesses on the opening day pointed accusing fingers at her. Once her nerve gave way and she delivered a shouted tongue-lashing to Dr. J. B. Catton, alienist of San Francisco, who had entered the courtroom to observe her.

The witnesses told two striking stories about Mrs. Judd. They characterized her as a woman of tremendous coolness of nerve and great resourcefulness.

PLAYED FOR TIME

"Mrs. Judd was described by Mrs. Nora D. Smith, nurse employed at the same hospital with the defendant, and Mrs. Leroi, as using a sly ruse to gain time for disposing of the bodies.

Mrs. Smith testified Mrs. Judd telephone the hospital, saying she was Mrs. Leroi and asking Dr. Percy Brown to be excused for the day.

Another ruse was when Mrs. Judd told a transfer man, Richard M. Swartz, that the big packing trunk, now known to have contained both bodies, was filled with books, to explain why the trunk was so heavy.

JAPAN'S FLEET HELD READY

SHANGHAI, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The Japanese fleet today stood ready to go into immediate action against Chinese of this city, while police took the utmost precautions to prevent further serious rioting between Chinese and Japanese.

The situation was by no means calm, as feeling between the two peoples ran high as a result of recent fatal clashes.

Rear Admiral Koichi Shiosawa, commander of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters, said that if the Chinese did not make amends for damage to Japanese life and property he would be forced to act.

NANKING, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Former President Chiang Kai-Shek, who left for his estate in the provinces immediately after the resignation of his government a short time ago, arrived here again this afternoon. He declined to comment on the purpose of his visit or on the Chinese political situation.

ROBBER BEATS WOMAN

Except for a slight cut on her arm and a headache, Mrs. Margaret Davis, 29, had completely recovered today from the beating given her by a robber who seized her in a dark hallway leading to her apartment at 713 Braddock avenue, Braddock, and escaped with her purse containing $108.

Mrs. Davis said she saw the man as she opened the door. He stepped aside and said:

"Come ahead, lady."

When she tried to pass him he grabbed her and reached for her pocketbook. She struggled and he hit her on the head and cut her arm with a knife.

REBELS IN SPAIN SURRENDER

BARCELONA, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The revolutionary movement in the Manresa district of Catalonia collapsed today.

Sallent, the last community to hold out against government troops, surrendered when reinforcements of cavalry and civil guards arrived on the scene. Most of the rebels fled, while the remainder raised the white flag of surrender.

The general strike which preceded the uprising was called off in most districts, and complete order was expected to be restored shortly. Arrests here totaled 200. The rebels raised a white flag upon the arrival of government troops.

Communists at Berga threw bombs and fired at civil guards, but no casualties were reported. Seven Communist leaders, known as the "Committee for the Revolutionary Movement," were lodged in jail. The Berga and Figol movements appeared to have been crushed completely.

200 OLD HYMNS ELIMINATED BY METHODISTS

Conference Here Retains 'Rock of Ages,' but Ignores Popular 'Old Rugged Cross'

Two hundred hymns of the Methodist Episcopal Church were doomed to oblivion and 200 new ones suggested by a committee representing the Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant and Methodist Episcopal Church South groups as it labored on a proposed new hymnal today in the Hotel Schenley.

Looking toward a union of the three branches of the Methodist Church, the committee composed of ministers, college professors and singers, reached a verdict as one played a piano and James R. Houghton, of Boston University, with his rich baritone voice, led the singing.

After discussion "Rock of Ages," one of the old-time hymns, was retained, a spokesman for the committee said. "The Old Rugged Cross," which many had hoped, it was said, would be included in the new hymnal, had never been considered a Methodist hymn and was not approved.

Three of the old hymns stricken out were "Church Triumphant," "O Come With Me" and "O Perfect Life of Love." The reasons for discarding so many numbers in the present hymnal were given as failure of words to fit the music, exaggerated imagery and obsolescence. Dr. J. W. Hawley, of the First Methodist Protestant Church, Aiken avenue, was the only Pittsburgh pastor on the committee. It ends its three-day session tonight.

SEARCH HOMES IN KIDNAPING

DENVER, Col., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Benjamin P. Bower, missing nearly three days as the victim of kidnapers who demanded $50,000, was the object of a house-to-house search by policemen and firemen today.

Baffled at every turn, but hoping no harm had been done the 62-year-old bakery manager, police planned this minute hunt to ascertain definitely whether Bower was alive or dead. He was abducted from his home by two men Tuesday night.

Little importance was attached by detectives to the temporary detention of Kenneth Coffman, 28, questioned last night. Nothing developed from discovery of the kidnapers' car, deserted in an isolated section.

Reports that the kidnapers had communicated with the family were firmly denied by the attorney for the family and the police.

CROWLEY DOPED BEFORE WALK TO DEATH

Dies Game, So 'Hopped Up' He Didn't Realize Doom Was Near, Writer Says

By JACK LAIT

Author of "The Big House" and Other Well Known Stories

Written Expressly for International News Service

SING SING PRISON, Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 22.—They knocked him off.

He was just a little, fat boy. I have seen many executions, but I have never seen one so completely according to the code as this one. There have been many controversies about whether or not they dope the boys who are about to answer for the great doom. Some say yes, some say no. I want to tell you officially—yes.

Crowley walked into the chamber of last resort not cocky and not yellow. They had shot him so full of hop that he didn't know what it was all about. And he was game plenty. And of all the murderers it has been my unfortunate experience to watch as these great states exacted their price I have never seen anybody go to his doom with a sweeter, more completely understanding resignation than this boy.

CROWLEY 'HOPPED UP'

I was at Sing Sing all day. Warden Lawes slipped on a piece of ice and broke his arm. That was just too bad. Crowley had nothing to do with that. But when 11 o'clock came around, according to law of the sovereign state of New York they had to get rid of a little mosquito named Francis Crowley.

It was a very neat job. The Empire State did it like nobody's business. He was so "hopped up" that he didn't know whether he was going to his finale or just walking into another stage of his silly young life.

You have heard of controversies about whether they dope them or not—they do.

It was my thirtieth execution. With me it is exactly clinical. I wrote yesterday that this boy would die game. Out of 30 they all wound up that way. But I never saw anybody go like this kid did.

POLICEMEN NERVOUS

It was a solemn, deadly event. We were all there, newspapermen. We don't enjoy it. It's one of those jobs that's pushed on us, like a doctor who has to cut up bodies because that is his racket. Seeing men pay the penalty for their mortal sins is no novelty.

We forgathered in the anteroom, the coppers frisked us for fear that we might have on our persons cameras. We didn't.

After plenty of delays we were let into the death chamber. It was a very little theater including police, deputies, physicians and officials. I guess there weren't 40 in there.

We all removed our hats because even reporters in the presence of death, pay respect to a crisis.

The coppers seemed to be more nervous than we were.

LITTLE FAT BOY

At the remote end of the little chamber a door opened. Two policemen stepped in. The door swung behind them. It opened again. A priest walked in. He was tremendously agitated.

Behind him came a little fat boy. He had upset Manhattan Island. He wore a white shirt, and he looked like my boy or your boy. He was quite alive. He looked the little room over, and he said:

"I don't mind."

His life was three minutes to go. And he didn't mind.

He found the chair without any direction. There was a smile on his face.

In a feeble game way he waved his right hand to the sergeant against the wall and bade him hello.

CRITICAL IN CHAIR

I have seen many guys die game. But Crowley was the only one I ever heard get specific about the machinery of the law that was knocking him off, when he said:

"I don't think it's tight enough down below." Meaning the straps.

So the great Empire State paid off, and Francis Crowley is now no longer with us. He murdered a copper, he was a bad boy, and I suppose we're better off without him.

But as I stood there in the death chamber of the big house and the great state of New York rubbed him out, I couldn't help but think:

Just a little fat boy.

He croaked a copper. He was a robber. But he was a product of Manhattan Island. Any of us could have been Francis Crowley.

WHOSE FAULT

When he stiffened against the black belts with a smile on his young pan looking reporters who represented the world in the face there was something about the expression of that kid's face that made me ask myself:

"Am I not to blame?"

The illegitimate child of a servant girl and a copper, the frantic kid "raised up" with no breeding and no training passed out like a gentleman—and he was not born to be one.

The great Empire State is washed up of Francis Crowley. But was it his fault or ours?

Mrs. Catt, 73, Quits Peace Board Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Carrie Chapman Catt, 73-year-old woman suffrage and peace advocate, retired yesterday as chairman of the National Conference on the Cause and Cure of War. She relinquishes the post after holding it seven years, explaining:

"One can't go on forever."

HIS 'LAST MILE' DONE

FRANCIS (TWO-GUN) CROWLEY . . . . DIED IN "THE CHAIR"

"Two-Gun," the 20-year-old moral imbecile who was captured only after a long siege by 300 policemen in the heart of New York City, at Sing Sing, where he paid with his life for killing a policeman. He refused to see his 17-year-old girl friend, Helen Walsh.

CROWLEY GRINS AT DEATH

those straps down here are tight enough."

They were tightened, a mask was thrown over his face, and he said no more. Soon a groaning noise was heard in an adjoining room.

Crowley lunged forward in the seat, straining the straps and gripping his fists as 2,000 volts of death-dealing electricity sped through his body.

There was a wisp of smoke that curled up from his head—and the current was turned off. Two physicians then stepped up, opened Crowley's white shirt at the neck, pushed aside a little Catholic relic he wore around his neck, and tested his heart and lungs with stethoscopes.

He was dead.

LIFE FOE OF POLICE

And thus ended Two-Gun Crowley's brief and sordid career that achieved its only peak of the spectacular when Crowley shot it out with his life-long enemies—the police.

He wounded a detective in one of these exploits, killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch on a lonely Long Island road in another, and fought a fierce pistol battle with 100 other policemen in a third which ended in his capture only after machine guns and tear bombs had been mustered into service.

There was an ironic touch to Crowley's frequent boast that he "hated cops." He was the illegitimate son of an officer, and his stepbrother was killed in a pistol duel with a policeman. In the death house today, as the time for his execution neared, Crowley showed not the slightest trace of remorse or fear. The last request he made in his cell was for a dish of ice cream, which he ate avidly.

His foster-mother and four other foster relatives, who visited him in the death house, left just before the execution, weeping bitterly.

But Two-Gun Crowley wept no tears.

Trotzky Takes Lease On Island Villa

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, whom the Soviet Russians call "Judas" Trotzky, has taken a two-year lease on a villa on the Island of Prinkipo, a move which appears to discredit published reports that he intended going to Germany to live.

Measles Still Lead Quarantine Cases

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 7; diphtheria, 1; measles, 28; chickenpox, 10; mumps, 7, and pneumonia, 5.

NEW BAY DEATH STIRS MANILA

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 22.—(INS)—A second mysterious death in a fishtrap in Manila Bay today further aroused the city which was startled over circumstances connected with the death of Mrs. Mabel Sedgwick Tait, 23, wife of Edwin Tait, a wealthy showman.

Mrs. Tait's body, with a severe head wound, was found in the fish-trap Monday night. The body of Esteban Reyes, a Filipino fisherman, was recovered from the same place today.

Tait voluntarily submitted to police questioning, explaining:

"I loved Mabel and we were happily married. I cannot understand the whole situation. I want this thing fully investigated until the mystery is cleared up. If the case was murder I am the first person to wish the murderer brought to justice."

RUSSIA MARKS LENIN DEATH

MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Thousands of peasants and workers yesterday marched slowly past the glass-encased catafalque in Red Square on which rests the body of Nikolai Lenin.

It was the beginning of a two-day observance of the eighth anniversary of Lenin's death and of the "Bloody Sunday" of 1905, when the soldiers of the Czar shot down a group of workers who went to the palace in St. Petersburg with a petition asking improvement in the labor laws.

All Russia worked yesterday, but today not a wheel turned.

Writer to Tell Of Harlan Strike

Facts regarding conditions in the coal fields of Harlan County, Ky., will be told the Squirrel Hill branch of the Socialist party tonight by Mrs. Jessie Lloyd O'Connor, a writer, just returned from a two-week stay in that region. Her talk will be given at a meeting in the Block Building, 1909 Murray avenue, which is open to the public.

Prison 'Houdini' Escapes 14th Time

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Jan. 22.—(INS)—Leland Harvey, "Houdini of Georgia prisons," and his pal, Jack Martin, escaped again from the death cell of the Georgia State Prison Farm here early today.

It was the fourteenth time Harvey had made good his boast that "no jail can hold me."

Girl Charges Persecution By Son of Rail Chief

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Russell Sage Underwood, son of the former president of the Erie Railroad, was accused in Supreme Court yesterday of conspiring with his father and a private detective to force Miss Elizabeth Furst out of town because, she alleged, he owed her "certain rights, duties and obligations."

Miss Furst, who claims to be a former fiancee of young Underwood, is suing the trio for $100,000, charging slander and conspiracy.

She made the conspiracy charge in a bill of particulars, and the defendants demanded another bill explaining what the certain rights, duties and obligations consisted of.

The girl charges she was slandered.

Co-defendants with Underwood are his father, Frederick D. Underwood, and Harry A. Pohr, private detective.

Stolen Illuminating Gas Kills Man, 10 Ill

YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Illuminating gas which, it is said, was being stolen by means of a garden hose attached to a supply pipe, yesterday caused the death of Roy Eckenrode, 24, and made ill 10 other persons in adjacent houses. The dead man's brother, Arthur Eckenrode, admitted. Coroner L. U. Zech said, that Roy had been stealing gas by attaching one end of a hose to a supply pipe in his cellar and the other end to a stove in the kitchen.

Registration Body Pensions Approved

Employes of the Registration Commission are eligible to the Allegheny County Pension Fund. At a meeting yesterday of the Pension Fund Board, employes of the commission, which is appointed by the Governor, paid by the county and functions only in the City of Pittsburgh, were declared eligible. The action affects but one employe, Charles E. Ebeck, who has been employed by the commission for 21 years.

Three Penna. Boys Named to West Point

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Three Pennsylvania youths were designated yesterday by the War Department as candidates for admission to the West Point Military Academy, July 1.

James Henderson, of Oil City, and Ford Richardson, Philadelphia, were selected on recommendation of President Hoover. The other, Kenneth W. Fargo, Erie, was selected from the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Liberty Ave. Place Raided Third Time

Prohibition agents, for the third time in two months, last night raided an alleged speakeasy at 951 Liberty avenue, arresting John Blake, according to reports made today. Whisky, gin, rum, beer and alcohol were reported seized.

About 100 gallons of beer mash, 200 gallons of beer and brewery equipment were reported seized in a raid by the agents on an alleged wildcat brewery at 454 East Fourth street, Homestead.

Oldest Auto Club Votes to Dissolve

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Loss of memberships has caused the board of governors to vote for dissolution of the Automobile Club of America, oldest motoring organization in the United States, Elmer Thompson, secretary, announced.

A member of the club said approximately 3,000 resignations due to unfavorable economic conditions, had been received in the last three or four months.

PRE-AUTO SHOW DINNER SET FOR TONIGHT

Ex-Pittsburgher Listed As Principal Speaker; Exhibit Opens Tomorrow

Roy H. Faulkner, vice president of the Studebaker Corporation and a former Pittsburgher, will be the principal speaker at a pre-show dinner meeting of Pittsburgh automobile dealers tonight at McCann's East Liberty store. He will discuss 1932 prospects in the automotive industry on the eve of the opening of Pittsburgh's annual automobile show, Motor Square Garden, tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Faulkner, who began his career here 17 years ago as a retail salesman, will give his impression of the New York show.

He is optimistic for the future of the industry and believes that "The enthusiastic New York and other show crowds are exercising a keener sense of values than ever before."

Pittsburgh's show will officially open tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

In keeping with the trend in automobile design toward airplane lines, a "Schloss-Mainberg" sailplane will be on exhibit at this year's show. It has been pointed out by W. N. Owings, secretary-manager of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, that some of the 1932 models to be exhibited will have their speed efficiency increased at least 12 per cent by the improvements in aerodynamic details.

BANK SECURITY CASH SOUGHT

J. S. Odland, receiver of the Citizens National Bank of Monessen, filed a suit in Federal Court against the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, of Hartford, Conn., seeking to recover $35,000 on surety bonds given by the defendant company for two former employes of the bank, now under indictment for alleged misapplication and embezzlement of funds of the bank.

One was a $25,000 bond for John S. Duvall, former cashier, and the other a $10,000 bond for John D. Mammas, assistant cashier, according to the receiver's statement of claim. Mammas, indicted last May, is now a fugitive, and Duvall, indicted in September, is under $10,000 bond pending trial.

Through acts of Duvall, according to the statement of claim, the bank suffered losses of $274,965.52. Mammas, according to the receiver, embezzled and misapplied $13,639.44.

TESTS BEFORE ENGINEERS

Dr. S. M. Kintner, vice president in charge of engineering for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, will discuss "Some Observations on Research" at the annual meeting of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania in the William Penn Hotel, tonight.

Dr. Phillips Thomas, Westinghouse research engineer, will show the surprising traits of electrons in a series of demonstrations. Room lights will be extinguished by a puff of human breath and a tone of the voice and relighted with an ordinary match. One small light beam will transmit conversation as effectively as a telephone wire and musical tones will be made visible.

POLICE RESCUE GAS VICTIM

Police and firemen of Mt. Lebanon worked several hours late yesterday before they succeeded in reviving Mrs. Mary McPherson, 40, of 124 Marlin drive, East Mt. Lebanon. She was found unconscious in her home from the effects of gas when her daughter, Virginia, 17, returned from school.

Police under Capt. John Swoager, who were the first to reach the home, gave first aid, then called firemen, who responded under Fire Chief James E. Woods. Several tanks of oxygen were consumed before they were able to revive the victim by means of an inhalator.

Physicians who were called in reported last night that Mrs. McPherson was recovering.

INVENTS NEW ALARM CLOCK

DR. S. BARTON SKLAR AND HIS 'SPLIT MINUTE' ALARM CLOCK

Scientist's Newest Offering Permits Short Warning

Dr. S. Barton Sklar, the man who gave science the gas to exterminate the boll weevil and whose steel process won him a fellowship in the French Association for the Advancement of Science, has invented a new kind of clock.

The inventor's latest creation will be a boon to chemists, physicians and housewives. The old alarm clock that heretofore rang once a day will now, with Dr. Sklar's new attachment, peal forth anywhere from one-half to 95 minutes from the time it is set.

The arrangement will warn the physician giving sun ray treatments that more heat will burn his patient's back, and will tell the chemist that his ingredients have been [illegible] sufficiently. Important, too, Dr. Sklar points out, it will cook the fastidious husband's eggs the time he likes them.

The new achievement is simple to operate. Merely set the time interval and turn the alarm lever.

Urge Police Chief To Defy McCloskey

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association, meeting here yesterday, adopted a resolution commending the four City Commissioners of Johnstown for their stand in urging the maintenance of Police Chief C. E. Briney despite the suspension for Briney ordered by the Mayor.

The resolution "commended the Commissioners in their stand to see that the civil service law of Pennsylvania is upheld and that Chief Briney is maintained for the benefit of the citizens of Johnstown."

State Group Pledges Roosevelt Backing

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's first instructed support from Pennsylvania for the Democratic nomination for the presidency was given him here yesterday by the Democratic committee of the Fifteenth Congressional District.

By a resolution introduced by F. J. Price, Pike County, the district's two delegates are to vote for the New York state executive "as long as his name is before the convention."

Harbison Honored By International Y

Ralph W. Harbison, of Pittsburgh, was elected a member of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association at a meeting in New York, according to word received here. Dr. John R. Mott, who resigned after 17 years of service as general secretary, has been succeeded by Francis S. Harmon, Mississippi editor and lawyer.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

The month of January seems to rival June this year, as far as cupid is concerned. It has already had its quota of weddings, yet there are two more of importance to take place before February is upon us, and today I can tell you of a brand new betrothal of interest. The James Leo Sheekeys, of Braddock, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Cosgrove Sheekey, to Peter Westervelt, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Westervelt, of Westminster place.

Sarah, who is a granddaughter of Mrs. Thomas Cosgrove, of Pittsburgh, is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison College of Carnegie Tech, and her fiance is a member of the class of 1932 of the University of Pittsburgh School of Dentistry.

* * *

* * *

Guests Feted

Mrs. Clarence F. Byrnes, of Academy avenue, Sewickley, who leaves with Mr. Byrnes next week for New York, is honor guest at a luncheon today given by Miss Mary Agate Brown, in the Sewickley home of her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Brown.

On Wednesday Mrs. A. G. Harlow, of Newberry lane, entertained Mrs. Walter E. Johnson, of Minneapolis, Minn., who is the guest of her mother, Mrs. A. B. Harlow, of Beaver road, Sewickley. Mrs. Sidney Liggett, of Edgeworth, entertained with an informal luncheon in her home yesterday.

* * *

Of course you're all agog over the matinee the Women's City Club is giving the morning of January 30 in the Nixon of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." And ushers for the affair will include seven students of the Ellis School, Jessie Wilson, Joanne Dodds, Eleanor Maxwell, Katherine Eaton, Dorothy Clark, Eldora Covey and Elizabeth Dupke.

Officers of Federation Named in Beaver Valley

Mrs. P. A. Fersnler, of Midland, was elected president of the Beaver Valley Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday. Mrs. John M. Jackson, of the Beaver Falls Outlook Club, was made second vice president; Mrs. Lloyd B. Young, of the New Brighton Women's Club, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. W. R. Leigh, Monaca Woman's Club, treasurer.

Mrs. A. B. McGrew gave a talk on parliamentary law at the morning session and Mrs. J. I. Armstrong, district chairman of the home in the State Federation, launched her study program on insurance. Mrs. David Denman, Westmoreland County member of the State Legislature, was the principal speaker in the afternoon. The meeting was held in the New Brighton Methodist Protestant Church.

STAGE AND PLAY AIDE

MRS. WILMER M. JACOBY . . . PICTURED IN HER HOME

Mrs. Jacoby, society figure, helping with the Stage and Play Society production, February 16, at Twentieth Century Club.

Miss Pearle Silverman's Engagement Announced

The Rev. and Mrs. Jacob Silverman, of Detroit, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pearle Silverman, to Samuel Greenfeld, of Lebanon, Pa. Miss Silverman, a sister of Mrs. J. Leibovitz, of Beechwood boulevard, is a graduate of the University of Michigan. A spring wedding will terminate the engagement.

Minnie Stein Engaged To Dr. J. N. Schneider

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Stein, of Murdoch street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Minnie Stein, to Dr. Joseph H. Schneider, son of Mrs. Philippiene Schneider, of Cleveland.

YWCA Budget Appeal Nears Half-Way Mark

The budget appeal of the Young Women's Christian Association for $133,000 neared the half-way mark today as team workers held their final luncheon report meeting in Central Branch, Chatham street. New subscriptions amounting to $16,299 were reported yesterday, bringing the total pledged to date to $61,554.

The campaign is scheduled to close on Monday with a dinner meeting in Central.

Miss Helen Crawley, metropolitan industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was today's speaker and the invocation was by the Rev. W. Frank Reber.

AVALON HOSTESS PARTY

Club Women to Hold Novel Affair As First Card Party Feature To Aid Borough Relief

One of the most original ways yet devised by clubs for money raising purposes is the "hostess luncheon," one of which the Avalon Woman's Club has planned for Tuesday in the Methodist Church. It is worked something like this—The chairman asks a number of club members to be hostesses. Each one is responsible for a card table, sees that it is set and decorated and she also provides the guests and certain small accessories for the meal. One of her guests brings a hot dish, another brings the salad and the third, the desert for her table.

Mrs. W. E. Michel is chairman for Tuesday's event and is receiving reservations. Mrs. J. M. Cunningham is chairman of games and entertainment, Mrs. R. E. Buffington, of decorations, and Mrs. Ella Little, Mrs. A. M. Kerr and Mrs. W. N. McClellan are assisting. It's a somewhat singular fact that the Avalon Club has never sponsored a card party. Informal games of different kinds are to follow the luncheon and the proceeds will go toward borough relief.

* * *

Husbands Guests

Husbands of club members will be their guests on Tuesday when the Ben Avon Woman's Club meets at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fraser. A quartet consisting of Percy Dorrington, Earl Renner, Earnest Raybaugh and Russell Sturgeon will sing and an "opera" will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Close and Mr. Dorrington with a chorus made up of the club women and their husbands-guests.

* * *

Mrs. Glenn McIlvaine will sing and Miss Gladys Schmitt, a student at the Universary of Pittsburgh, will read from her own writings at Monday's meeting of the Pittsburgh Female College Association. The club meets in the Woman's City Club.

* * *

Two Awards

Mrs. T. S. Loring, of Crafton, will accept reservations until Wednesday for the Allegheny County Federation luncheon. It's to be on Friday in Kaufmann's auditorium, and there will be two awards for attendance this time, one for clubs having a membership less than 100 and the second for those having more than 100.

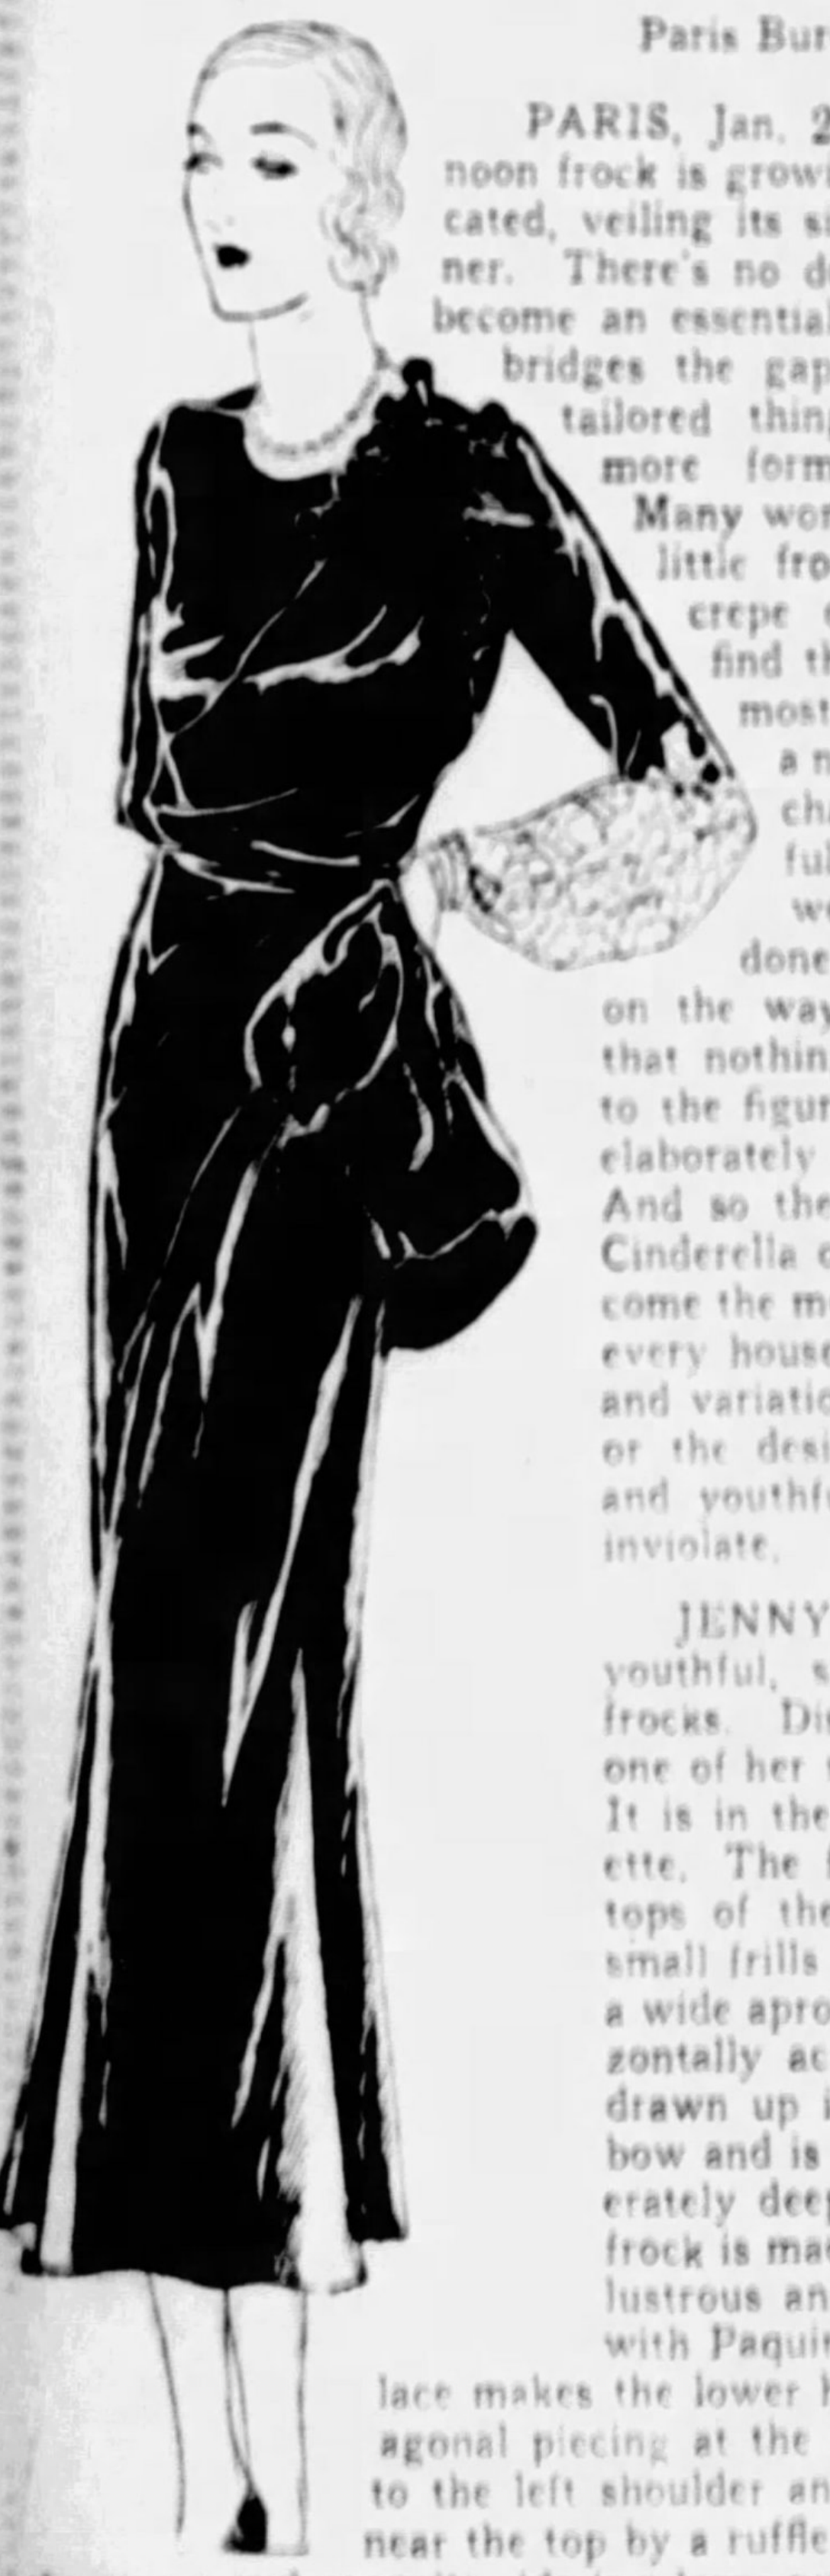
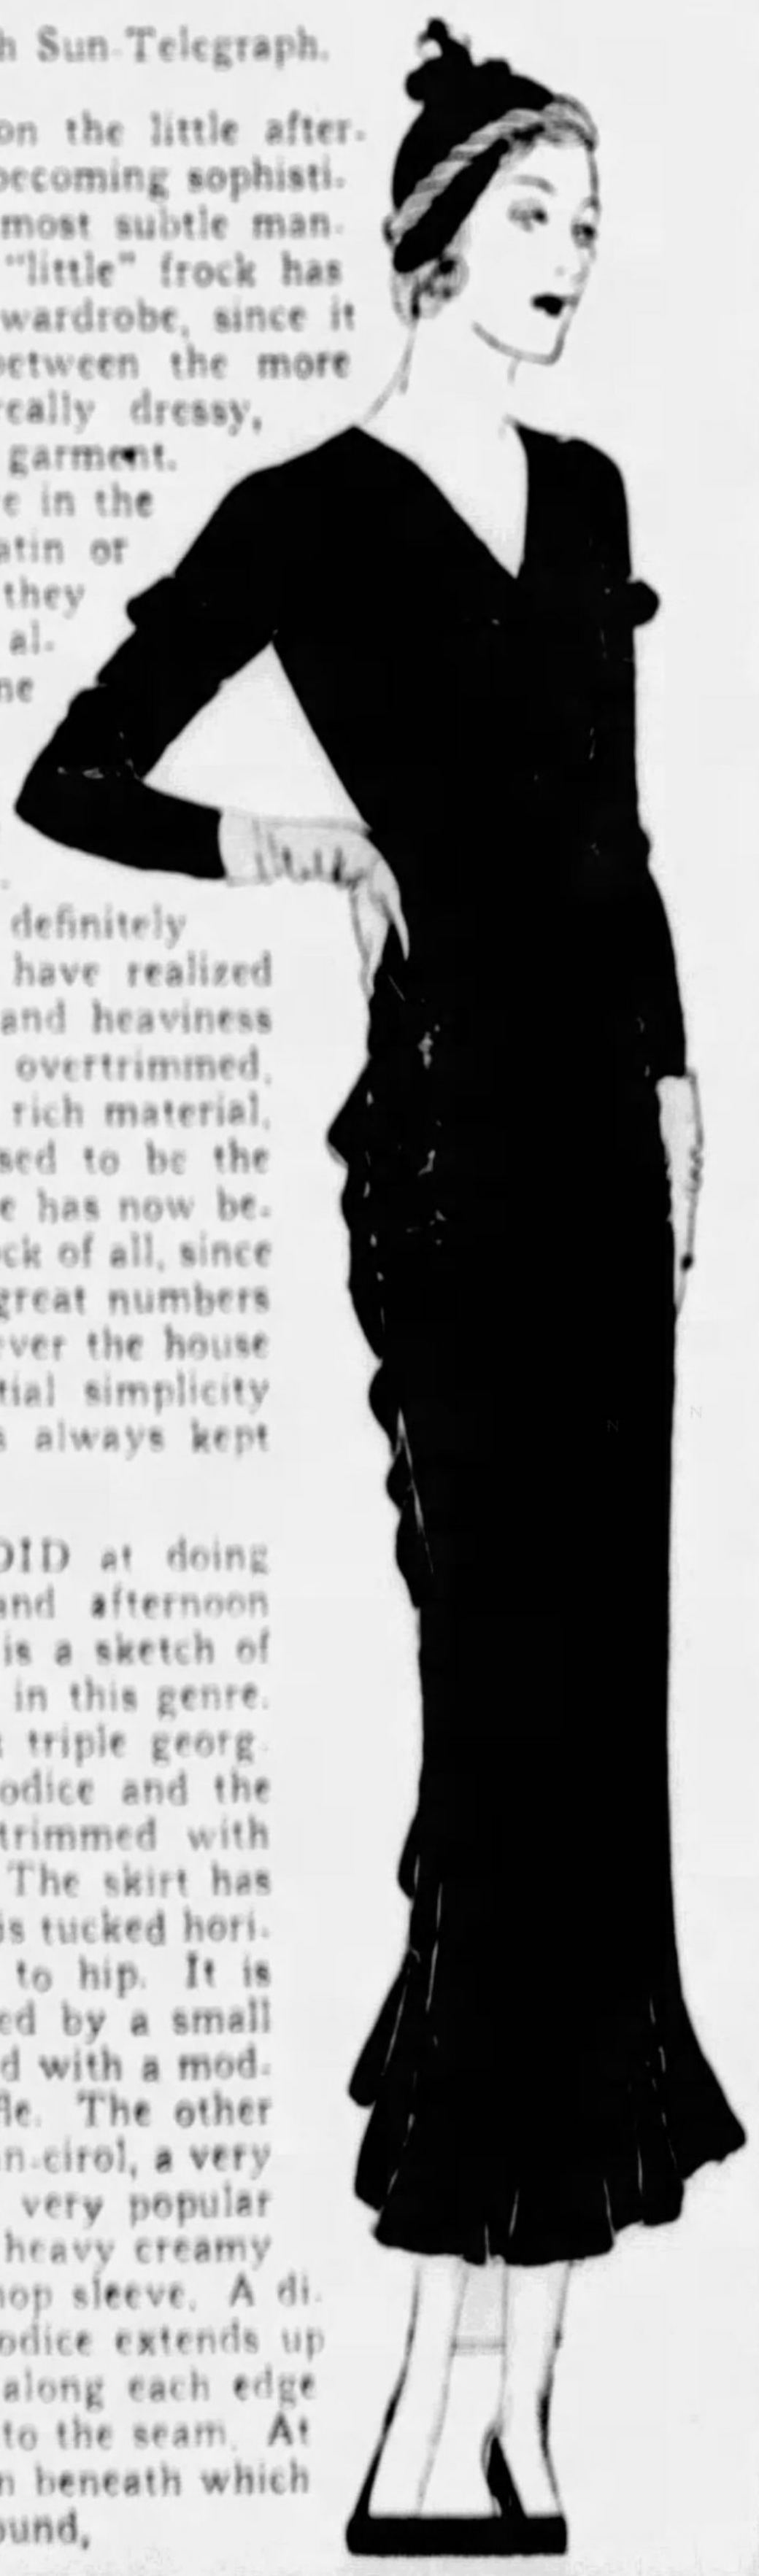
POPULAR LITTLE AFTERNOON FROCK BECOMES SOPHISTICATED

—Sketched in Paris—





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—This season the little afternoon frock is growing up. It is becoming sophisticated, veiling its simplicity in a most subtle manner. There's no doubt that the "little" frock has become an essential part of our wardrobe, since it bridges the gap beautifully between the more tailored things and the really dressy, more formal type of garment. Many women all but live in the little frock of black satin or crepe de chine, as they find that it fits into almost every scheme and confers a charming, youthful look on the wearer. Overdone clothes are definitely on the way out, for we have realized that nothing adds years and heaviness to the figure as does the overtrimmed, elaborately made frock of rich material. And so the frock that used to be the Cinderella of the wardrobe has now become the most popular frock of all, since every house shows it in great numbers and variation. But whatever the house or the design, the essential simplicity and youthful freshness is always kept inviolate.

* * *

JENNY IS SPLENDID at doing youthful, simple but grand afternoon frocks. Displayed today is a sketch of one of her newest models in this genre. It is in the popular black triple georgette. The front of the bodice and the tops of the sleeves are trimmed with small frills cut circular. The skirt has a wide apron front which is tucked horizontally across from hip to hip. It is drawn up in back and tied by a small bow and is edged all round with a moderately deep, circular ruffle. The other frock is made of black satin-cirol, a very lustrous and supple satin very popular with Paquin. Handmade heavy creamy lace makes the lower half of the bishop sleeve. A diagonal piecing at the front of the bodice extends up to the left shoulder and is bordered along each edge near the top by a ruffle of satin set into the seam. At the upper and opposite side is a large puff of satin from beneath which the skirt flares with a soft, circular movement all around.

BECK WAITS ON VARE, DAVIS

Pennsylvania today stood assured of at least one anti-prohibition candidate for United States senator this year.

Congressman James M. Beck of Philadelphia, himself an anti-dry and a prospective candidate, speaking before the National Crushed Stone Association in the William Penn Hotel last night said:

"I hope Mr. Vare will be a candidate and give the state a chance to show up the Senate.

"If Mr. Vare does not run and Mr. Davis does not come out with a wet platform, he must, of course, take the chance that I will be a candidate."

The "Mr. Vare" and "Mr. Davis" referred to were William S. Vare, elected to the Senate in 1926 but ousted by senatorial action, and James J. Davis, present junior senator.

Trolley Service Cut Up at West View

AUTO LEADERS PROTEST TAX TO HOOVER

Executives Tell President Levy on Cars Will Delay Recovery in Business

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Protests against cigaret and auto taxes proposed by the administration were made today by leaders in both fields.

The automobile men called on President Hoover personally and presented a unanimous protest against the proposed special 5 per cent tax Congress is considering applying to motor cars and trucks.

Such a tax, Mr. Hoover was told, would be highly discriminatory and would serve as a restrictive measure to the one industry which should take the lead in bringing the country back to prosperity.

Those who saw the President—and who will appear tomorrow before the House Ways and Means Committee—were Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors; W. C. Cowling, personal representative of Henry Ford; Roy D. Chapin, president of Hudson Motor Company; Alvan MacAuley, president of Packard Motor Car Company; C. W. Nash, president of Nash Motor Company; George Graham, president of Rockne Motor Company; Robert Graham, president of Graham-Paige Company, and Pike Johnson, vice president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Meanwhile, an assertion that the government itself will suffer if Congress increases the present cigaret tax, which takes 80 per cent of the industry's profits, was made by Junius Parker, of New York, speaking for the Tobacco Merchants' Association before the committee.

The increase was recommended by the treasury as a part of the tax increase program. Parker declared:

"Taking into account customs duties and other federal charges, the United States gets $500,000,000 a year and the manufacturers get $125,000,000."

Parker declared that 6 cents out of the sale price of every package of cigarets of 20 goes to the Federal Government. He pointed to a sharp decline in cigaret sales during the latter part of 1931, partly due, he said, to the imposition of state taxes.

Independents Form Leetsdale Branch

Seventy-five Independent Republicans, of Leetsdale, formed a permanent organization in the Leetsdale Grade School last night, electing L. H. Hinds, president; Gregory Betts, secretary, and William Nicholson, treasurer. Speakers were L. A. Cotton and Harry Quay.

Ill, Starving Man Found in Street

Mike Gasonovitch, 55, who gave his address as Water street, Pittsburgh, was taken to Homestead Hospital late last night by West Homestead police, who found him in the street. At the hospital it was said he was suffering from starvation and pneumonia. His condition was regarded as critical.

Automobile Club Elects at Pitcairn

The Valley Automobile Club of Pitcairn last night elected these officers: President, J. L. Evans; vice president, T. A. Russell; secretary-treasurer, M. H. Stout; assistant secretary, Paul Noll; directors, D. C. Feather, E. K. Lang, J. T. Anderson, G. C. Eutsey and J. T. Mentzer.

Vote Machine Suit Hearing Postponed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22—(AP)—The hearing in the State Supreme Court on the appeal in the Philadelphia voting machine controversy was postponed today until Monday.

The appeal is on the action of the Dauphin County Court in refusing a preliminary injunction to prevent Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish from ordering 800 additional voting machines for Philadelphia. Beamish has already signed a contract with the Automatic Voting Machine Company, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Amtorg Must Pay $37,010 Back Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Amtorg Trading Corporation, official commercial representative of the Russian government, will have to pay an additional $37,070 into the Federal Treasury as income tax for 1924 and 1925. This was ruled today by the Board of Tax Appeals, which held the corporation would have to pay a deficiency assessment on $264,897 it had deducted as taxes paid to the Russian government.

Ambridge Fireman Held After Crash

Arch Fisher, 45, of 127 Lakewood avenue, Ambridge, chief of the Ambridge Fire Department, and Hugh Fetzer, 26, of 210 Chestnut street, were arrested by North Side police early today after their automobiles collided in East Ohio street.

Fisher was charged with reckless driving and Fetzer with violating the automobile laws, after he had been examined by Dr. D. E. Sable, city physician, and pronounced under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

VICE CRUSADER SCORES JUDGES

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A 79-year-old vice crusader who never tires of fighting crime, looked forward to the future today with hope that it would bring an improvement in law enforcement.

He is Frank J. Loesch, who served on the Wickersham Commission, and who was re-elected yesterday for the fifth time as president of the Chicago Crime Commission, despite the fact he will be 80 years old in April.

Without mentioning any names, the veteran anti-crime campaigner spoke his mind in his annual report concerning certain members of the city's judiciary, declaring that one municipal judge had acquired the nickname of "Cash Register." He said:

"To what depths must a judge have sunk to earn such a sobriquet?"

He referred to the "abysmal ignogance" of another judge and to the "mountebank performance" of a third.

N. Y. POLICEMAN SLAIN IN HOLDUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—John Walsh, member of the New York police force for 27 years, and a personal friend of Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, was shot and killed in a speakeasy holdup last night.

Walsh was slain as he attempted to draw his service revolver instead of complying with the "hands up" order of two youthful robbers. The holdup men escaped in an automobile driven by a third youth.

Commissioner Mulrooney took personal charge of the investigation.

Walsh, dressed in civilian clothes except for his uniform trousers, was standing at the bar when the robbers entered. As he reached for his revolver one of them fired at close range.

Walsh recently was relieved from heavy duty.

Funeral services for Lydia Schaffer Riesmeyer, 55, who died Wednesday, will be held at her home, 5818 Aylesboro avenue, at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Homewood Cemetery. She was a member of St. Andrew's Evangelical Church. She leaves her husband, Edward H. Riesmeyer; a daughter, Margaret Riesmeyer; four sons, Henry, Edward, Jr., Paul and Walter Riesmeyer; three sisters, Mrs. A. D. Diefield, Mrs. W. W. Stewart and Mrs. F. H. Succop, and two brothers, Harry W. and Elmer F. Schaffer.

Moore Funeral.

Funeral services for Dwight E. Moore, who died at his home, 113 Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg, yesterday, will be held at 3 p. m. Monday. He was born in Bridgewater, Pa., February 20, 1852, and came to Pittsburgh when a young man. He organized the Wilkinsburg Dairy Company 34 years ago. He was a member of First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg and the Maccabees. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Wilmer B. Laufman, Jr., and Miss Adeleine Moore, and a sister, Miss Louise Moore.

Hoffman Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rachel William Hoffman, 56, widow of Elmer Hoffman, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of her son, John T. Hoffman, 7442 Irvine street, Swissvale. She was a member of Swissvale Chapter No. 300, O. E. S., and leaves a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hodder; two sons, John and Elmer; a brother, James G. Williams, of Boston, Mass., and three sisters, Mrs. A. Harris and Miss Ida Williams, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. E. Bowen, of Duquesne.

Mary Emma Mehard.

Miss Mary Emma Mehard, former Pittsburgher, died at her home in Los Angeles Wednesday, according to word received here. Interment will be in that city. She was the daughter of the late Rev. Dr. William Mehard. She leaves two brothers, Attorney Charles E. Mehard, of Pittsburgh, and William R. Mehard, of Glendale, Cal.

Wurts Funeral.

Funeral services for Alexander Jay Wurts, 69, first professor on the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology, who died yesterday in his home in the Schenley apartments, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Ellsworth avenue and Neville street. Interment will be in Allegheny Cemetery.

CLOONAN TO GO ON PENSION

Deputy County Treasurer Gilbert C. Cloonan completed yesterday 20 years of employment with Allegheny County, and January 31 will retire with a pension of $100 a month. His present position pays $400 a month. His successor has not been announced by Treasurer Robert S. Cain.

Mr. Cloonan

Under the last two administrations in the County Commissioners' office headed by the late Joseph G. Armstrong, Cloonan held two offices, head of the election bureau and chief statistician at a total salary of $4,600 a year. After Armstrong failed to win a renomination, Cloonan resigned, effective January 4, leaving him 21 days short of putting in his 20 years service. Cain offered him a job to qualify for the pension.

Cloonan also receives a pension of $50 a month from the Federal government, having served in the Spanish-American War as a private in Battery C, 5th U. S. Artillery.

Ringling Ineligible To N. Y. Park Board

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Mayor Walker would like to appoint John Ringling, circus owner, to the park commission and thereby get a good zoo in the bargain. But Ringling is a resident of Florida and that squelches the plan.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

I wonder how fathers and mothers can be that indifferent? . . . Like that well known magazine writer and his former wife, the star, whose young sons (they can't be out of their teens) haven't rec'd a penny of support in over two years and are dining now and then at the expense of their local friends . . . The parents, they tell you, are highly strung, "artistic" people, who simply cannot be bothered with children and who were the victims of sour breaks until a year ago . . . So they decided to have the rivets melted and begin all over agan—without the handicap of children . . . Gee! . . . That tale about the "mysterious" authors of "Washington Merry-Go-Round" fascinates me . . . How the Dep't of Justice and so many other sleuths could never blow the whistle on the right guy and how that book bothered so many statesmen and how so many reporters were fired because they were suspected of having something to do with that tome's manufacture . . . The current legend now has the "actual author" on the verge of "confessing it all," with the hope that his confession will remove any suspicion from the innocents . . . And that real author will shortly write pieces of inside stuff for a new mag—with the initials "F. R. S." which certainly will embarrass another whose initials are exactly the same—meaning Mr. Hoover's confidenital secretary!

The tales in the rags about Frank Stanton, Jr., were interesting . . . Junior's passing when a motor car went up in smoke reminded some of the commentators that his father wrote the beautiful lyrics of "Mighty Lak a Rose" . . . And that Stanton, Sr., was inspired to write that classic at the birth of the lad who was killed the other Sabbath . . . As a matter of fact, the Stantons were about to part when the child was born—and his arrival reconciled them—and Stanton was so happy he penned the poem . . . It made me chuckle long and loud when I read that long-winded complaint in that Wyoming paper . . . The one that fretted and worked itself up into a lather over the "desecration" of the "beautiful" word "O-kay!" . . . Of all things to worry about! . . . Beautiful? . . . Then, to make the joke funnier, along came a Columbia collitch prof with a statement to the Evepost . . . He grumbled that the word is not a nice one, and that Broadway was fouling the rest of the country by including it along with such horrible phrases as "O, yeah?" and so forth . . . "It is the jargon of the jungle!" wept the professor . . . Oh, foooff!! . . . It's in the dictionary only three times, once as "Okeh" . . . Good old Dr. Vizetelly, editor of the F&W Standard Dicksh, however, told the prof. to go put on his long pants . . . News must indeed be scarce for some of the "more conservative" papers when they fall for all those professors who do or say anything to land on page 14, 15 or 16 . . . So what if such phrases are "awful?" . . . Thank goodness my kin never sent me to collitch . . . I'd be selling bonds by now, perhaps—I mean trying to sell 'em!

George Jean Nathan simply won't give in . . . I mean he won't fess up and admit that the talkies are important, or that enough of them are that good to write about or get excited about . . . I told him yeserday that he didn't see enough of them to so assert himself, but he sniffed at me . . . He said that, perhaps, a performance in some of the gabbies was something to cheer about, or a well directed scene, but that he know of no talkies that could teach the stage anything . . . I am not that familiar with the screen to argue about it . . . Nathan points out, too, that the stage has never been inspired by the commotion pictures—that the movies have taken the classics from the stage and the book shops . . . That they never sponsored or produced a classic—with sound, that is—that eventually was brought to the footlights . . . And while I do not know, I suspect that that is so . . . He admitted, though, that he had never seen "Cimarron," which was selected as the best flicker of 1931, so I told him to see it and have himself a time . . . And that "Street Scene," on the screen was better than the stage version. . . . So Nathan got me a hoop and told me to go roll it—and I did!

Of course, when I am the target for a legend it is ridic for me to even try to argue that I'm not guilty . . . But Heywood Broun objects to a few things . . . The same Broun who heretofore yawned and yowled at anyone who attempted censorship of anything . . . Broun tells of a woman who told him that something ought to be done about Walter Winchell . . . He calls her a woman . . . She must have been a lady, for only a lady would go to the bother . . . So Broun discussed me at length and decided I did things that I shouldn't . . . That it should be all right for a man to tell a woman that he loves her or that he doesn't without having to worry whether or not a Winchell was hiding under a rug. . . . Broun also complains of gossips who jot down items about people dining together, or what time a man comes home and if they were seen together, etc. . . . That was what shattered another illusion—for Broun, who certainly is a great reporter, for the first time that I know of, got himself mixed up, confused, etc. . . . He confuses me with the laddies who report such trivia . . . I never do. . . . But, I suppose, it is the widely accepted legend . . . What a cinch of a job it would be if I could get away with doing that sort of a column!

As a matter of fact, a number of the other gentlemen of the press fill their pillars with such stuff . . . They report: "That woman sitting at the Bloop-Blup last night was Josie Pischer and the man was Hymie Plotz," or the Sun's Mr. Morehouse reports a list of names of folk who witnessed an opening night or who were at Tony's, a speakeasy, last night . . . These lads never pause to separate the names of the married men who might have told their squaws they were going to be late on business . . . So the list comes out and these is hubby's tag under the name of a doll that perhaps the wife has heard things about . . . I see it every Monday in the Sun, but perhaps Heywood Broun was under the impression that I do that column . . . Even his Telly's Mr. Washer reported such a list the other day . . . To me these lists are the grandest tip-offs to suspicious wives in town . . . One of the boys, only the other day, reported that a musical comedy girl and a renowned playwright were going places, etc. . . . That playwright, whose name he mentioned, is a married man! . . . Surely Broun knows he never reads that stuff here . . . Apparently he thinks he has, therefore his beef . . . But his comment, while sour here and there, offered some sweet-selling posies—so I feel that he gave me more than an even break . . . I am a nuisance, and there's no getting away from that fact! . . . But he touched me, deeply, too, when he remarked: ". . . and no one need suggest to me that my complaint is founded solely on the jealousy of one columnist on his way down against a commentator coming up the stairs. Particularly since the two have met and passed each other" . . . Heywood must have meant our ages.

MOVIE RACE :-: Studios Vie for 'Shot' At Olympic Games :-: AMUSEMENTS

Lewis Ayres Again May Be Hero in Hollywood Sport Story

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 22.

A quiet but determined race is on in Hollywood—its goal the first Olympic Games story to reach the screen.

Universal is the latest entrant, and if a satisfactory story can be whipped into shape, Carl Laemmle, Jr., is planning to use it as a starring vehicle for Lewis Ayres.

While the preparations are being kept pretty well kept under cover, I learn that Howard Green is working on the story. No director is considered as yet.

Lewis Ayres

One of Universal's biggest money makers of last year was a sport-story, "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

Paramount is another studio which is planning to make an Olympic Games picture. Several others are rumored as secretly working on the same idea.

GOSSIP

Lila Lee is a possibility as Tom Mix's leading woman. I saw Tom at the theater the other day with his daughter, Thomasina . . . Tip for the boys who have paid off to Dick Arlen on the golf course: That New York trip has Dick way off form. He's doing 92 now . . . Groucho Marx is quoted as saying that the life of a joke seldom exceeds 14 days. Columnists can't be so particular . . . The talk is Charles Rogers will take over the abandoned Pathe studio for his independent productions . . . Ian Keith plans to do a single matinee of "Hamlet" here. He has to do a performance of "Grand Hotel" the same night . . . Patrick Kearney, he who dramatized "An American Tragedy" to Theodore Dreiser's satisfaction, is due here today to write for Universal . . . Though George O'Brien's contract is up at Fox, rumor says he will re-sign. George has been years at this studio.

Lila Lee

THEY STILL HOPE

"Heart-break set." That's what they call the dance-hall scene for Jack Oakie's picture at Paramount. Working as atmosphere players on this set—and glad to get the chance—are certain men and women who once held positions of importance in the world. In this crowd is a man who, eight years ago, was a highly-paid director. Such stars as Gloria Swanson and Bebe Daniels worked under him. Another man 65 years old was a small town bank president. He lost his money in the crash . . . A girl who starred on the Spanish stage is another. She came to Hollywood expecting easy fame, and now is lucky to get enough money to eat on. Still another extra is a novelist, who had a successful book a few years ago. Almost a dozen in all, these victims of misfortune are eking out a precarious existence.

Y.M. and W.H.A. Plans Comedy Drama

On February 7 and 8 the Co-operative Playhouse of the Y. M. and W. H. A. will present "Mud and Treacle," by Benn W. Levy. This comedy drama will be directed by Milton Brauman.

Mr. Martin to Speak At I. K. S. Studio

The Green Room Studio of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement will continue the Friday study meetings with a program at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The meeting will be open to the playgoing public. As a feature of the evening, the executive committee will present Darrell V. Martin, radio editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in a discussion of the part which radio plays in the development of the theater. Accompanying this discussion, Frank Mulloy, publicity director of radio station WCAE, will offer his views.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Walter Abel, who plays an important role in "Mourning Becomes Electra" in the Nixon, sorta has an idea that he hasn't done just right by the late Henry Miller. Y'see, Mr. Abel feels gratefully obligated to Mr. Miller because the latter took him out of a dramatic school in 1917 and gave him a year's contract to play in "Come Out of the Kitchen" with Ruth Chatterton, thus giving the initial impetus to what actors call a career. The cause of conscience-bother is leaving rehearsals of "The Animal Kingdom," produced by Henry Miller's boy, Gilbert, to take his present job. It was all amicably arranged by the Theater Guild, still and all Mr. Abel thinks what he thinks.

Thurston, the magician, with a company of 15, has been booked by RKO for a tour to cover February and March . . . In Baltimore last week Sue Carol and Nick Stuart, from the films, now doing flesh, topped the b.o. record recently set by Sophie Tucker . . . Milwaukee now is seeing "The Green Pastures," which has a route that doesn't come nearer Pittsburgh than Cincinnati, and which will end in Denver the last week in July . . . Tom Powers, who finished his engagement in "Smiling Through" here, has been succeeded by Reginald Owen . . . June Walker and Geoffrey Kerr, who are Mr. and Mrs., have signed on for a drama called "Collision."

Hero Fights Booze in Fulton

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"West of Broadway," starring John Gilbert, opened yesterday in the Fulton. In this one Mr. Gilbert fights love and booze. The skeleton of Joe Morgan is in the cupboard.

The World War ends as the film begins and Mr. Gilbert comes sailing home. There are four machine gun bullets in him and heaven knows what else is wrong with him. But he gets from his cot in the ship's hospital and parades down the gang-plank to meet the girl he left behind him.

As it turns out the girl isn't there after all. She's engaged to marry another fellow. So Mr. Gilbert goes night-clubbing with Lois Moran, cast as one of those tarnished-reputation heroines. And after he has three drinks of liquor, they go out into the early morning and get married.

Almost at once, Mr. Gilbert wants to get rid of his bride. See my lawyer, he tells her. But she, bless her, is in love with him. He can't buy her off! So away he runs to his Dude Ranch in the West—oh yes, he's a millionaire—thinking he has eluded the lady. But there she is sitting on his bed in the ranch house.

So he pouts, rides a white horse and has a couple of spells of what El Brendel, who brings the film some Swedish brightness, calls heebie-jeebies. And finally he gets his divorce. But it is all a mistake.

That goes for the picture too! Certainly, the talkies haven't been very kind to Mr. Gilbert.

Offered For The First Time Tomorrow At Sensational Remnant Day Prices

50,000 YARDS of SILKS

Impossible to handle goods by the yard with today's huge sale of yardage remnants, so these immense quantities of new silks go on sale tomorrow—presenting record opportunities to save. One striking example: new flat crepes that walked away with last Remnant Day at far higher prices, break the market tomorrow at 75c yard!

Washable Flat Crepes

At this sensational price, 5,000 yards is all we can offer of these silks—a beautifully soft, firm, drapable quality that far outshadows anything on the market around $1.00. Come early for your share.

39-42 In. Print Chiffons

These are the silks that walked away with Remnant Day last year at $1.00. New fashion prints—39 and 42-in.—and only 75c!

32-In. Washable Shantung

Fine, heavy weight—washable, vat dyed and guaranteed sunproof — save on a leading silk for Spring and Summer—exceptional, 75c yard.

75¢ YARD

39-In. Washable Flat Crepe

3000 yards, all silk, at a price that a year ago would have seemed impossible. Washable. 50 colors.

New 1932 Printed Crepes

A new low sale price on the forty most fashionable patterns in Spring prints. 39 in. wide.

Superfine Canton Crepes

Cantons of this quality sold at $1.95 last year. Tomorrow a beautiful Spring and Summer weight, 95c.

Permanent Moire Jacquards

Perhaps the most exquisite silk of the season! Self color jacquarded. 12 colors. Selling elsewhere at $1.65!

39-In. Satin Back Flat Crepes

Many Remnant Days since these fine crepes were so low! Black, White and 20 colors.

95¢ YARD

40-In. Mosaic Casement Cloth

28c

Because it is suitable for every window in the house, this mosaic casement cloth has proved to be one of the most popular curtain fabrics. Choice of three patterns that recently sold for 55c a yard, and previous to that sold for 85c a yard. So you can readily see what extraordinary values they are at 28c a yard.

Net, Damask, Casement Cloth

50c Yd.

Broken lines and part pieces reduced for Remnant Day. In some cases enough yards to drape a room, others with enough for one or two pair, but all extraodinary values.

FOR EXAMPLE: 50-inch casement cloths that sold for $3.50 yard, 50-inch silk madras that was $2.50 yard. 42-inch bungalow net that was $1.25 yard, 50-inch striped Drapery silk formerly $4.00 yard and 50-inch Damask and Rep up to $2.50 yard, all reduced to 50c a yard.

$1 Damask Window Valance

50c Yd.

A couple hundred yards of Damask window value in several colors reduced to half price at 50c a yard. Come early for best selections.

POLITICS

Prohibitionists Demand County Recognition

—By MARK SHIELDS—

As appointments are made in the County Building joy and gloom reign among the various factions of independents who supported County Commissioners C. M. Barr and Charles C. McGovern at the general election. The faction of the patriot being appointed agrees that no better man could be found. The factions of the disappointed cry that the great victory of November is being dissipated by poor generalship.

Mark Shields

But now a whole party, a regularly registered unit of political activity, has stepped to the front with a demand for recognition of services rendered.

It is the Prohibition party, of which Ray Garber is county chairman. You might wonder why we need a Prohibition party when we have prohibition. Well, the home fires must be kept burning, even though the home brew is merrily fermenting. And the best fuel for home fires is jobs, recognition of that fact showing that the Prohibition party knows its primer as well as the old liners.

* * *

20,000 Votes for Barr On Prohibition Ticket

The Prohibitionists point out that Barr received approximately 20,000 votes on their ticket, and that without them he would have been beaten by Dave Lawrence, the Democrat. That's true, too. For this valiant effort acknowledgment is asked, and acknowledgments have been made on much less foundation.

That Prohibition party vote for Barr has more than one point of interest.

After the general election it will be recalled that the Lawrence group, partly Democrats, but principally members of the Republican city machine which wished to defeat Barr, insisted that official count of the ballots would show Lawrence elected by four or five thousand, even though the unofficial figures indicated Barr had defeated his Democratic opponent by approximately 10,000 votes.

Many of us could not discover anything to warrant such an extraordinary discrepancy, and wondered at the basis for the Lawrence optimism. Then the facts crept out. The associates of Mr. Lawrence had entirely overlooked the Prohibition vote for Barr, and had been totaling his vote only in the Independent and Square Deal ticket columns. Under all conditions, that omission was not amazing.

But you can see that the Prohibition party, when it knocks on the door of the County Board, has some grounds for expectation that the barrier to the promised land will be taken down.

Atlantic and Gulf Bid Same On State Gasoline

Politicians today discussed the awarding yesterday by the state of the contract for furnishing gasoline to automobiles on official commonwealth business.

The Atlantic Refining and Gulf Oil companies bid exactly the same price. The contract was let to Atlantic, though heretofore there has been a division of business between that company and Gulf. In explanation of yesterday's action it was said that the Atlantic is a Pennsylvania outfit. And it is, Pittsburghers being prominent in its control.

But the Gulf has always been thought to be quite as much a Pennsylvania organization, the Mellon family being generally regarded as Pennsylvanians, if not Pennsylvania—in a political sense, until recently.

In the special session of the Legislature after several weeks of stagnation a compromise was reached between Gov. Pinchot and what the Governor believed was the voice of the Philadelphia organization in Harrisburg, Senator Sam Salus. The compromise included a one-cent gasoline tax.

But just as everything seemed oiled, along came President Edward Cox, of Philadelphia City Council, to kick over the agreement. William S. Vare was appealed to as umpire, but declined to settle the scrap between two members of his organization.

* * *

Cox Council Head And Company Officer

Now, Cox, in addition to being president of City Council, also is an official of the Atlantic Refining Company, according to information I have.

To those who claim that politics affects every decision of those in public authority, that Mr. Pinchot dislikes anything with a Mellon tag, and that Mr. Pinchot hopes to be delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention with the help of at least some of the Vare organization—which does not relish President Hoover—there is the counter-argument about Mr. Cox and the debacle of the Governor's legislative plans.

Of course, those who take the first two arguments, above, may say that the dead past buries its dead and the future must be taken care of.

All I can say is, I would like to have a picture of Republican State Chairman Edward Martin, functioning under Mellon auspices, being compelled as State Treasurer to drive past a Gulf station and get his gasoline from Atlantic—unless he pays for it himself.

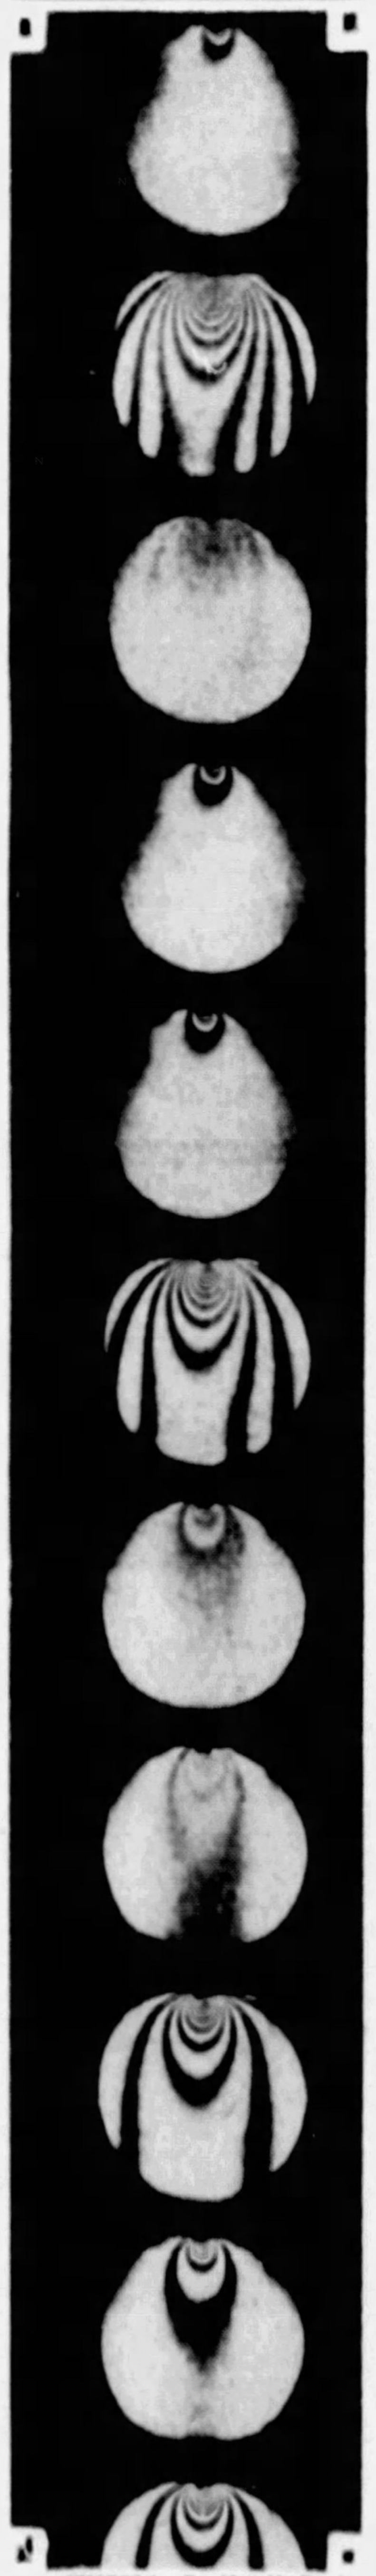
Professor at Tech Takes Film Showing Strain Under Blow

Strain Filmed!



PHOTOS by Dr. Max M. Frocht.

MOVIE CLIP SHOWING STRESS

A clip from the first pictures (movie film) ever made of the strain or stress placed upon material by a heavily struck blow. The first picture is a cross section of a piece of bakelite just as the blow was struck and the subsequent ones show the fluctuation of the stress until in the very last one, the half circle, it's an evenly distributed stress.

Experiment Seen As Aid to Auto Industry

"Consider your car's rear axle" may some day be the advertising slogan of a manufacturer who may add the warning, "Be kind to that axle." All on account of a Carnegie Tech professor who has taken moving pictures showing how "tired" certain materials become and where they "hurt" the most.

Dr. Frocht

Dr. Max M. Frocht has just published the first motion pictures ever taken in this country showing the stress and strain of a model under an impact blow. How does he do it? He tells you:

"It's easy if you know the science of photoelasticity and the polariscope."

Dr. Frocht's experiments were made with Bakelite models, and they will enable manufacturers to tell where their products need reenforcing.

In the case of the auto's axle, the manufacturer will know, by the photoelastic method, where fatigue stress should occur and will be enabled to strengthen the wearable parts.

Bakelite was used, Dr. Frocht explains, because of its transparency, but the discoveries apply to other metals and materials. A ray of monochromatic light is passed through the model, pressure is applied and the camera records dark lines or fringes appearing through the model. These fringes, Dr. Frocht explains, are the yard sticks in measuring stress. When a value of the first fringe is known it is an easy step to compute the values of the other fringes.

Dr. Frocht concludes:

"The growth of high-speed and large size machinery can be aided by this method of determining the distribution of stress and strain on materials. With the mathematical method, only the simplest problems in stress can be determined."

France Couldn't Make Weight for Lausanne Bout

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Lausanne peace conference has been postponed.

France couldn't make the weight.

The boys will stall until the Hoovertorium collapses in June. In the meantime they will meet in Geneva if they can find a cracker barrel there.

Diplomats of the little entente nations were supposed to punch the bag in Montreux today. That has also been postponed until further notice.

Charley Dawes won't go to Switzerland until the third alarm.

Charley has wasted a lot of good tobacco at those things. He is a little too belligerent for that international choir of hems and haws.

Whenever there is trouble brewing, Charley grabs himself a big spoon. He not only tells 'em to get off but helps to soap the steps.

He has the correct idea about European conferences. The others may look a little more dignified and solemn. But as Charley says:

DAVIS PLEADS FOR RELIEF OF COAL TRADE

Senator in WCAE Talk Backs His Bill as Business Aid And Cure for Suffering

Senator James J. Davis made a strong plea for his bill, planned for the relief of the bituminous coal industry, when he spoke over WCAE during the Globe Trotter period last night.

Senator Davis, interviewed by Mark Shields, political editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, declared:

"Not a single coal company is earning a fair return on its investment, and thousands of miners are suffering from unemployment, with resultant misery for themselves and their families.

"This is the time for action. All our experience in the past shows that low prices in most cases mean low wages and low wages mean reduced purchasing power, less business for our stores, our mills and our factories.

"The only reason I introduced the bill before the Senate was to stabilize the bituminous coal industry. That would mean the bringing about of good conditions, and if I am fortunate enough to do that, it will be a most valuable piece of legislation."

Senator Davis was the first of a long list of well-known personalities of the political world who will be brought before the microphone of WCAE, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph station, by Mark Shields. Shields' talks are featured at 6:30 o'clock every Thursday night.

MAN HELD UP, HOME LOOTED

Leaving his home, 504 East Lacock street, North Side, for the police station to report he had been robbed of $3 and his house keys by a man who seized him in the hallway this morning, Burt Barker, returned to discover his dwelling ransacked and a $52 radio stolen. The same person was blamed for the two robberies.

Two days ago Max Cohen opened a man's furnishing store at 1222 Wylie avenue. This morning he discovered thieves had stolen clothing valued at $500.

The drug store of William Strauss, 645 Collins avenue, was entered during the night and cigars, cash and a watch stolen.

While the family of J. P. Heckert, 50 Clifton boulevard, North Side, slept, thieves ransacked the lower floor, stealing $15 and jewelry and clothes valued at $200, police were informed.

Joseph Spark, of Second street, Linhart, reported to county detectives he was held up by two Negroes today while driving between Dravosburg and Duquesne. The Negroes, at pistol point, ordered him from his car, took $5 from his pockets and drove away in his auto, a Ford sedan bearing license plate 422-V-7.

Father Callahan Defends Parallel Theory Proof Against Critic

By THE VERY REV. J. J. CALLAHAN
President, Duquesne University.

In Wednesday's issue of the Sun-Telegraph was an article by Prof. Smith, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, which claims to show that my proof of the parallel theory is not valid. It will be extremely easy to show that the professor's article does nothing of the kind.

At the outset let me say that I appreciate the kind things said about my book, and that when I criticize the critic, it is without the least feeling of resentment. But, when a man enters the ring with the gloves on, he must be prepared to take as well as give.

He starts out to find the fallacy in my argument, and all that he can urge is that my proof will not hold on a sphere; he gives as reason:

Dr. Callahan

"Parallels do not exist on the sphere."

Right in this argument he has blinded both his eyes. First, he is wrong logically. My proof was concerned with straight lines and is valid and absolute for such. That my proof would not apply to curved lines on a sphere has nothing to do with the matter. The objection is entirely beside the question.

Every schoolboy knows that geometry is divided into plane and solid. He knows that parallel lines are treated in plane geometry; he knows likewise that spheres are treated in solid geometry.

SEES MATHEMATICAL ERROR

So much for the logical eye; now for the mathematical. The professor denies parallels to be possible on a sphere. He is making an assertion that every one that stops to think knows to be mathematically false.

What about parallels of latitude spoken of in every child's geography? What about railroad tracks on the curved surface of the earth? Any book on geometry would set him right. It would give him the definition of parallel circles as "circles that have the same axis and the same poles." Any schoolboy can verify this by referring to his text book.

In the next place my critic draws my figure for me, but substitutes curves for my straight lines. He draws them with the

STUDENT CLUBS PENALIZED

Infractions of student rules drew punishment to a fraternity at the University of Pittsburgh and a "liberal" club at Carnegie Tech, it was learned today, with Sigma Alpha Mu fined $50, and the Forum Club of Tech suspended.

The Pitt fraternity, a national social organization, aroused the ire of the fraternity committee after, it was charged, the frat held an extra social function—an informal dance and bridge November 10, attended by more than 30 couples. The fraternity was placed on a year's probation, and its events during the spring and fall rushing seasons reduced one-half.

The Forum Club was suspended by the Tech Student council for staging a debate off the campus. The meeting, held Saturday night, had Dr. Scott Nearing, Philadelphia and Dr. Roswell O. Johnson, of the University of Pittsburgh, as speakers.

The Civil Liberties Union, in a statement today, [illegible] to [illegible] attitude of the student council at Tech, declaring that "excommunication of the Forum Club is based on the fact that the debate was held, despite the club's formal and actual severance with it."

DECISION LOSS NOT TO HALT LONG FIGHT

Coal Operators Planning Next Step to Obtain Favorable Differential

Coal operators in this district are planning to hold a series of conferences in order to determine the next step in the fight for a more favorable differential on lake cargo coal freight rates. Leaders in the industry were unable to say just what the next step will be, following the publication of a decision against Pittsburgh operators by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday.

The decision leaves in effect the existing differential of 35 cents a ton between Western Pennsylvania and southern fields on coal shipped to ports on Lake Erie. Operators here and in Eastern Ohio were seeking a differential of 45 cents a ton on the grounds that this would more nearly reflect the natural advantage which local mines should have because of their nearness to the market.

FIGHT TO CONTINUE

R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the committee of local operators making the rate fight, said that the spirit of this district will compel them to keep on with the 10-year struggle, but he declared that no plan of action had been made.

C. E. Lesher, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest operator in the district, said:

"We will have to study the decision before we can decide on our next move."

The existing differential of 35 cents was a compromise reached by the railroads following a rate war in 1929. It was not established by the commission but the last decision indicates the commission's approval.

LONG DISPUTE

Nearly three years ago the commission ruled in favor of the Pittsburgh district and increased the differential from 25 to 45 cents a ton by ordering a 20-cent cut in the freight rate for this district. The southern railroads then made a similar cut and nullified the order in defiance of the commission. The northern railroads followed with a second cut of 20 cents. The railroads finally compromised on the present rates.

An attempt to get the United State Supreme Court to compel the southern railroads to respect the commission's order failed when the court refused to hand down a decision on the grounds that the case was moot since it had been settled by compromise.

LONDON, Jan. 22.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Flew from Paris yesterday. Americans always made this trip but wont fly at home. Yet we have 20 lines as good. I sure miss Charley Dawes. The trouble is there is not enough of Dawes to go round everywhere we need him. I bet you they call the Lausanne reparation conference off as we are not there. You can't have a picnic lunch unless the party carrying the basket comes.

Legion Chiefs View Work Of Sharpsburg Post

State officials of the American Legion here yesterday to attend the annual banquet of the Allegheny County committee in McCreery's, made an inspection tour in the afternoon of the George L. Walter, Jr., Post 106, American Legion, Sharpsburg.

After a visit to the post's relief store where supplies for 325 families of the borough are stored, the visitors made a tour of four schools where children of unemployed are provided lunch daily by the Legion. The schools visited were St. Mary's and St. Joseph's parochial schools, Linden Avenue Public School and Main Street Public School.

Dr. S. K. Hall, commander of the Sharpsburg post, told the visitors that the relief store has supplied 1,985 baskets of food and 42 tons of coal since November of last year. The post is giving medical care to 63 cases and six hospital cases. More than 600 school children are given lunch every day.

The visitors were George Proesl, Pennsylvania state commander; Guy Griffith, state service officer, and Ronald Thompson, executive committeeman of Allegheny County.

BUS HEARING SET FOR NEXT TUESDAY

New Firm Plans Service To Thornburg, Crafton; Plan Favored in Ingram

Officials of the Oriole Motor Coach Lines, Inc., who have applied to the Public Service Commission for permission to extend their lines to serve residents of Thornburg, Ingram, Crafton, Rosslyn Heights and parts of the Twentieth and Twenty-eighth Wards of Pittsburgh will be given a hearing before commission examiners Tuesday in the City-County Building. Residents of the communities involved are planning to attend the hearing.

A new and distinct line is proposed from Liberty and Ferry street to Thornburg over West Main street to Noblestown road to Obey avenue to Middletown road to Berry street, Ingram, along Ingram avenue to Thornburg. At the intersection of Prospect avenue and Berry street, Ingram, there will be a junction in the bus service, one route going to Thornburg and the other along Prospect avenue to Fairywood part of the Twenty-eighth Ward.

It was announced the fare from the city to the end of the lines would be 20 cents, with five tickets good for a limited period for 75 cents. Rides within boroughs would be five cents.

William Supan, an official of the company, promised in addition to regular service to Fairywood there will be buses to carry the 75 pupils of the neighborhood attending Langley High School in Sheraden.

The Rook station line which now serves the old Westwood district is to be extended to Rosslyn Heights if the proposal meets with the approval of the Public Service Commission. Idlewood and parts of Crafton will be served with a new line over Independence street or the new Washington pike to Greentree and then along the Baldwin road to Crafton.

The Ingram Board of Trade, Borough Council and the Volunteer Fire Department have adopted resolutions favoring the bus service.

River Yields Body, Seek Man's Identity

Morgue attaches today were trying to learn whether the body of a man recovered from the Allegheny River was that of Andrew Fortuna, 51, of 135 Railroad avenue, Blawknox, who disappeared from his home December 5.

A description of Fortuna tallies with that of the body.

BROMO QUININE DESTROYS THE COLD INFECTION WITHIN —AND QUICKLY EXPELS THE POISON FROM THE SYSTEM

Common sense and COLDS

When you realize that it is the "ultravirus" (cold germ) infection within the system that produces all the discomforts of a cold, common sense indicates that it must be destroyed and expelled from within.

Bromo Quinine tablets are not merely a relief measure for cold discomforts . . . they destroy the infection and eliminate the impurities from the system.

When sneezing, headaches, sore throat, pains, feverish condition and other cold symptoms appear, just take a few tablets of this proved remedy—

11, GOOD STORY-TELLER

CARL WHITMAN, 11 MARTIN FLAHERTY

A wanderer and a teller tales—that's Carl, who spun many absorbing stories until it finally developed that last Tuesday he had run away from Mrs. Mary Werle, 2240 Candace street, with whom his parents in Corry, Pa., had sent him to live. Flaherty found him.

RUNAWAY BOY HOAXES POLICE

Carl Whitman of 424 Union street, Corry, is only 11 years old, but he must have his fun with the big city's police.

He was arrested at the south end of the Liberty Tunnels today where he was begging food and money.

He told Traffic Patrolman Martin Flaherty that he had been kidnaped from his home in Corry by six men the Saturday before Christmas.

At the Mt. Washington Police Station, Carl revised his story and said that he had run away from home and hitch-hiked to Pittsburgh, arriving here December 20. Since that time, he said, he had been sleeping in hallways and vacant buildings and begging food and money.

That was a very good story too until Mrs. Mary Werle, 2240 Candace street appeared. She told police the boy had been sent from Corry by his parents to make his home with her about a month and a half ago. He disappeared Tuesday, she said.

So Carl, wearing new clothes which policemen had purchased him from the Nineteenth Ward Charity Fund, went with Mrs. Werle and the police notified Corry officers not to bother notifying the boy's parents that their long lost son had been found.

Poor Board Inquiry Payment Held Up

The court order issued by Judge James H. Gray to pay the three auditors who checked the affairs of the County Poor Board has been held up by County Commissioners until the legality of payment of the $4,500 asked is determined.

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern has said that the Poor Board should pay the bill. The court order directs the Commissioners to pay it.

BUILD UP NAVY, LEGION CHIEF URGES HERE

Stevens Cites Defense Need And Job Aid; Denounces Reduction of U. S. Army

A plea to build the United States Navy to the full strength of the London treaty and gain by this action not only adequate protection but a degree of unemployment relief, was made by National Commander Henry L. Stevens, Jr., last night at the annual American Legion's Allegheny County Committee banquet in McCreery's dining room.

Stevens also condemned the national policy that has reduced the Army to "only a group of highly-trained technicians." Youth was credited with holding the future success of the country as the Commander cited the leadership of Washington, Hamilton, Lafayette and Jefferson.

Recalling a "splendid Navy was literally scuttled nine years ago," Stevens said:

"Now we are 20 per cent behind the program of the London treaty. Remember, too, that in the construction of every battleship, 80 per cent of the cost goes to labor and only 20 per cent towards the actual material.

"Such construction would relieve the unemployment situation to a certain extent.

"And the poor old Regular Army—the National Guard—has become America's first line of defense. There is now a threat to cut down the Army appropriation, which would demoralize the entire National Guard from Maine to California."

How Do Sportswomen Manage?

Cup winners can't be quitters. The woman in any field of sport must take her sporting chance with Nature. Any strenuous match may bring on her monthly sickness. But there need be no pain! Midol always meets this emergency, as all active women should know. It will block periodic pain for hours.

And Midol is as harmless as the aspirin that stops your headaches. (It is non-narcotic.) If you want your next monthly period to begin and end without even a moment's discomfort, just ask for Midol at any drug store. Tuck the little box in your purse and be ready.

LIVELY SESSION MARKS BRIDGE TILT HERE

'Officials' Ahead in Deals And Hold Point Lead As Contest Nears Close

After a lively session last night the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Bridge Club tournament, testing the relative merits of the "official" and Culbertson systems of play, moved into its final phase with interest steadily soaring.

The deciding 25-hand play of the 100-hand tournament being held in William Penn Hotel headquarters of the bridge club will be played tomorrow evening. As before, persons interested in bridge are cordially invited to witness the play and participate in the discussions which follow.

As a result of last night's round of 25 deals, the "official" system players will enter the final round tomorrow night with a 13-deal advantage, having won 44 of the 75 deals played. In points, the "official" lead over the Culbertson method players is a total of 6,635.

Boy, 18, Sentenced As Thief Despite Poor Pay Plea

A plea that if he had a $15-a-week job he would not have had to steal, as he admitted doing when getting $10 a week, failed to impress Judge James H. Gray. He sentenced Frank Cuncie, 18, of Butler street, to Huntingdon Reformatory. The boy pleaded guilty to stealing a case of 50 watches, retail value $250, from the Pittsburgh News Company, Ferry street, where he worked.

The boy, an orphan, said he was reared in an asylum until he was 14, when, he said, he was turned out to find a job and support himself. He said:

"You know how it is, Judge, for a fellow without any parents to have to make his own way. I had to pay $8 a week for my room and board, and $10 a week isn't enough. I could go straight if I could find a $15 job."

Rally Arranged By Luther League

A rally of the seventh branch of the Pittsburgh Luther League will be held at the Evangelical Lutheran Church, of Aspinwall, February 5. Speakers will be the Rev. E. L. T. Engers, of Messiah Lutheran Church, Morningside, and the Rev. J. I. Shaud, of Christ Lutheran Church, East Liberty.

HOMES TO OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Twenty-nine new Chatham Village homes, built by the Buhl Foundation to demonstrate the possibility of building finer homes for persons of moderate incomes, will be opened for public inspection tomorrow, officials announced today. Five of the homes have been furnished by four downtown department stores.

It was pointed out by officials that, with costs of building and site development as high in Pittsburgh as anywhere, if the project is successful commercially, it should prove equally successful in other cities.

The village, to be composed of 300 homes when completed, 125 of which will be ready for rental in May, is the result of a three-year study of the housing experience of many American cities leading finally to the garden type development of the foundation. The village is a short distance from Mt. Washington bluff.

Victim of Attack Brings New Charges

Felix Michalowski, of 2718 Larkin way, was being held for assault and battery today on information of Michael Obannes, 510 Wylie avenue, who charges that Michalowski struck him in the eye with a brass knuckler. Michalowski had been held for the grand jury, but when Obannes, who had been confined in South Side Hospital until yesterday, did not appear against him, he was freed.

Obannes swore out a new warrant.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

DUQUESNE HEAD GIVES DEFENSE OF THEORY

Asserts Tech Critic Wrong Logically, Mathematically On Question of Parallels

concavities facing one another. If he had placed them as they should be, with the concave sides facing the same way, then they would be parallel. But neither the one nor the other has the least thing in the world to do with my proposition proving the parallelogram of straight lines.

POINTS TO CONTRADICTION

The next logical blunder is where he says:

"The author has proved that parallelograms exist, not that the opposite sides of a parallelogram are equal."

My critic contradicts himself. Just a few lines above in his own statement of the proof he said:

"It easily follows that ABCD is a parallelogram."

Now the proof from which this followed consisted precisely in proving the sides equal, because they were shown to be corresponding sides of equal triangles. By what logic can one show a parallelogram to exist by proving the sides equal, and still not have the sides proved equal. The logical eye is again out. Now for the mathematical.

"A definition cannot be proved."

This statement shows a lack of knowledge of the first notions of geometry. In geometry the existence of everything must be either postulated or proved. We cannot prove existence of a straight line geometrically, therefore we postulate it.

DEFINED, NOT PROVED

The whole trouble with the parallel theory was that parallels were defined but not proved; and it was just this proof of a definition that mathematicians have sought for at least 25 centuries. In this I am not giving any theory of my own. It is the distinction between nominal and real definitions that antedates Euclid. Every writer on geometry explains it. It is even ordinary common sense. If definitions cannot be proved, I can define a cartwheel as an animal running on four feet, and in that case it would be just as valid as any other.

The next bit of astonishing logic and mathematics is where my critic admits that I have proved any number of parallelograms, including all points of the two lines, and then urges two objections against the proof.

The first is that the segments are related. Of course they are. Why, parallelism is a relation. Hence the segments that are shown parallel must be related. If they were not related they could not be put into relation, that of parallelism or any other.

ANSWERS SECOND OBJECTION

The second objection is that I have shown parallelism at a point O, the common center of the parallelogram. Then he adds the strange requirement:

"When it shall be shown that a parallel exists with its sides on L and M and its center at some other point different from O, then and only then will the Callahan proof be acceptable."

There are several answers to this. (1) I did not prove parallelism with regard to the point O, but with regard to the sides of the parallelogram which could be drawn anywhere. The assumption is therefore false. (2) But let us grant that I did. By what mathematical logic does the professor demand a second point of parallelism. Every geometric proof (since it must be a concrete case) centers in some certain figure. But that is enough. No geometry gives more than one concrete instance. (3) But again let us grant the requirement. The same parallelism can be shown with regard to ten million points, if one had the necessary time and wanted to waste it. But I have no reason to believe that the public will be so illogical as to expect it. One proof is enough.

DENIES COMPLEXITY

Many other inaccuracies could be pointed out, but it is not worth the time and space.

One thing I wish to call attention to, and this does not concern my critic alone, but all non-Euclideans. It is the suggestion thrown out as a smoke screen that the questions treated are too deep or too subtle for the ordinary man.

It is pure suggestion. The ordinary man is as capable of forming notions of parallel lines as the professor, and more so, for his conceptions have not been warped by non-Euclidean prejudices. The theorems proving the parallel theory can be grasped by any boy that knows and understands 20 propositions of the beginning of plane geometry. The fallacy, then, if it exists, should be discovered without so much beating about the bush. The professor has not discovered it, and with all due respect to him, he never will. It does not exist.

Mrs. Grace Gale, 41, of 3450 Ward street, asked Judge Frank P. Patterson, in Common Pleas Court, to grant her a second divorce from Harry N. Gale, 43, whom she had remarried a year after she had first divorced him, in 1918. She said she remarried him for the sake of their children, a son, now 20, and a daughter, now 22 and married.

She testified that her husband had beaten her and threatened to shoot her. She said he had beaten her for buying a new coat, although she was working, and said he sometimes struck her if she returned late from work.

PRUDENCE PENNY :-: How to Prepare Seasonable Foods :-: LATEST DELICACIES :-: Appetite Tempters For All of the Family

CRANBERRY FRITTERS—1 cup flour, [illegible] teaspoon baking powder, [illegible] teaspoon salt, 1 [illegible] tablespoons [illegible], ¾ cup [illegible] cranberry sauce, [illegible] tablespoons milk, 1 egg, ½ tablespoon lemon juice.

Sift flour together with salt, baking powder and sugar. Beat egg until light and add milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Now add lemon juice and cranberry sauce. Drop by teaspoonfuls into hot fat. [illegible] drain on brown paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Serve with foamy sauce.

* * *

PINEAPPLE BRAN PANCAKES—[illegible] 4 eggs, 1 cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, [illegible] tablespoons butter, 1½ cups milk, 1 cup all-bran, 1½ cups [illegible], 1 8-ounce can drained crushed pineapple.

Beat the eggs well, add milk and sifted dry ingredients. Then add the drained pineapple and 3 tablespoons melted butter and bake on a hot griddle pan. Serve with maple syrup.

* * *

APPLE CRACKER PUDDING—1 cup apple sauce, 2 egg yolks and whites, 1 grated lemon rind, 4 tablespoons cracker crumbs.

Spread apple sauce on the bottom of a well buttered pudding dish. Beat the yolks of the eggs until thick and lemon colored and add the grated lemon rind, the cracker crumbs and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour over the apple sauce and bake in a slow oven 20 minutes.

* * *

NOODLE OYSTER LOAF WITH CREAMED EGGS—One-quarter ounce package noodles, ¾ cup milk, 3 eggs beaten, ½ pint oysters, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cook the noodles in boiling salted water 15 minutes. Drain. Combine with milk, beaten eggs and oysters and mix thoroughly with the noodles. Season and pour into buttered pan which has been dusted with flour or sifted crumbs. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes. Unmold on platter and slice. On each slice place a hard cooked egg cut into halves lengthwise, mask with white sauce and garnish with parsley and paprika. Serves six.

* * *

PRUNE WHIP—Two egg whites, ¾ pound prunes, ⅜ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, pinch salt.

Soak prunes until tender. Put through sieve or food chopper. Add to egg white and beat until mixture holds its shape. Chill and serve.

* * *

VICTORIAN CUP CAKES—Two eggs, 2 tablespoons cocoa, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, 4 tablespoons boiling water.

Separate the eggs and beat the yolks thoroughly. Add sugar gradually and then add the cocoa and boiling water, which have previously been mixed to a smooth paste. Whip into this mixture the sifted flour, salt and baking powder. Fold in the whites of eggs beaten stiff, and the vanilla.

Bake in gem or patty pans in a moderate oven. They may be frosted with white or chocolate icing and decorated with chocolate shot.

* * *

GINGERBREAD WAFFLES—One-half cup sugar, ⅓ cup molasses, ½ cup shortening, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon soda, ¾ cup milk, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon each, ginger, cloves and all-spice.

Cream sugar and shortening, add beaten eggs and molasses. Sift flour 3 times, then add salt, baking powder, soda and spices and add alternately with the milk. Bake on a hot waffle iron and serve with whipped cream.

* * *

ALMOND CAKE CRUMB PUDDING—Scald 2 cups of milk and pour over 1 cup of dry old cake crumbs. Let stand half an hour then rub through a sieve. Add any fruit pulp that has been put through a sieve as banana or peach, using ½ cup. Add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring and ½ tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3 eggs, slightly beaten. Turn into buttered individual molds, set in a pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Remove from the oven, let stand for five minutes, turn out and serve with a sauce to which ½ cup of crushed almonds have been added.

* * *

CREAM OF SAUERKRAUT SOUP—Four cups hot white stock (chicken or veal) or water, 2 cups sauerkraut, ¼ cup butter or bacon fat, 1 slice onion, 1 stalk celery cut in inch pieces, ½ bay leaf, ¼ cup flour, 2 cups milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika.

Cook onion, celery and bay leaf in butter five minutes, add flour; add hot stock or water; add milk, allow to boil; add sauerkraut, cook five minutes more. Season with salt and paprika. (It is a little thick if all the sauerkraut is left in the soup, but if it is preferred, the soup need not be strained at all.) Serve with toasted bread sticks. This makes a most delicious, unusual soup.

* * *

CHOCOLATE FUDGE—2 squares bitter chocolate, 2 cups granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon corn syrup.

Put the chocolate into the saucepan into which the candy is to be cooked and melt over hot water. Add sugar, syrup, salt and butter and stir until the mass is well blended, then add the milk. Place directly over the fire and with occasional stirring cook rapidly to the soft ball stage (236 degrees F.). When candy is done remove from fire and put pan in cold water. Cool thoroughly before beating, otherwise the texture will not be fine and creamy. Do not shake or disturb the candy while it is cooling. When candy is cool enough that the hand may be held on the bottom of the pan with comfort, it is ready to be beaten. Add vanilla and beat vigorously until crystallization is fully accomplished. Before the candy becomes too stiff, turn quickly into a well buttered pan. If the candy becomes too stiff to spread out in the pan attractively knead the fudge like fondant until it is smooth and plastic enough to press out into the pan. Mark in squares. Nuts, candied fruits, raisins, dates, etc., may be added to fudge just before turning out into the pan. Yield: 1¼ pounds.

* * *

CABBAGE AU GRATIN—One medium sized cabbage, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 2 cups milk, ⅛ pound cheese, diced, ¼ cup buttered bread crumbs.

Remove outer leaves and wash the cabbage, then shred. Cook uncovered in boiling salted water for 10 minutes, drain. Prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, pepper and milk. When thick add cheese and allow it to melt. Place cabbage in buttered baking dish and add the white sauce. Cover the top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven about [illegible] minutes. Serves six.

* * *

PINEAPPLE SNOWFLAKES—One and one-half cups cooked rice, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, ½ cup shredded cocoanut, ½ cup crushed pineapple, 1 tablespoon candied orange peel, ½ cup cream (whipped).

Mix rice with remaining ingredients, folding in the whipped cream last. Pile in sherbet glasses, chill, sprinkle generously with cocoanut and serve very cold. Four servings.

* * *

PEACH BLOOM SALAD—Twelve canned peach halves, 1 package cream cheese, 2 tablespoons rich milk or cream, ½ package pasteurized dates, ¼ cup nut meats or celery, salt, lettuce, salad dressing.

Rub cheese to a paste with the cream, add chopped pitted dates, nuts or celery, and salt to taste. Drain canned peaches from their syrup, fill hollow in six of the peaches with cheese mixture, cover with remaining peaches. Then take a bit of red vegetable coloring on back of spoon and brush over peach to make "bloom." Fasten a sprig of mint or other leaf to top to make stem end. Serve on lettuce and with salad dressing. Six servings.

* * *

SPICED SHERRY TODDY—One No. 2 can sour pitted cherries, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 quart grape juice, 4 cloves, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, nutmeg.

Drain cherries from juice and chop them. Soak orange rind, lemon juice, cherry juice, water and sugar for 15 minutes. More sugar may be added if needed. Add grape juice and spices and simmer for 15 minutes. Serve hot or chill and serve with shaved ice. If served cold, each glass may be decorated with a sprig of fresh mint. Makes about two quarts of delicious beverage.

* * *

HONEY FUDGE—One square bitter chocolate, 1-3 cup honey, 2 cups granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 4 tablespoons vanilla, 1 cup nuts.

Melt chocolate over hot water in the saucepan in which the candy is to be cooked. Add the honey, sugar, and salt and stir until well blended. Then add the milk and butter. With occasional stirring, cook rapidly to the soft ball stage (236 degree Farenheit). At the instant the candy is done, remove it from the fire and set in a pan of cold water. When cooled to luke warm, add vanilla and beat until stiff. Add nuts and stir just enough to distribute quickly into a buttered pan. Yield 1½ lbs.

* * *

CHICKEN CREAM SOUP WITH NOODLES—Six cups rich chicken stock, 1 cup noodles (narrow), ½ tablespoonful finely chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste, 2 eggs yolks (beaten), ½ cup slightly sour cream, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Heat the stock, add noodles, parsley, salt and pepper and cook for 15 minutes. Combine beaten egg yolks with the cream and lemon juice and add to the soup. Remove the soup from the fire and stir until it is slightly thickened. Serve immediately.

* * *

TOMATO SURPRISE—Six medium-sized tomatoes, peeled, 1 cup cooked chicken, diced, ¼ cup celery, diced, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, Dash of white pepper.

Cut away stem-end of tomatoes and cut tomatoes down halfway in sixths. Sprinkle inside of each tomato with salt, invert, and chill 30 minutes. Toss lightly together chicken, celery, mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper. Spread tomatoes slightly and place chicken mixture in each tomato. Serve on crisp lettuce. Top each tomato with additional mayonnaise and garnish with celery curls. Serves 6.

* * *

RAISED DOUGHNUTS—1 yeast cake, 1 cup warm water, 1 cup milk, 1 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, about 8 cups bread flour.

Soften 1 compressed yeast cake in 1 cup of warm water. Scald 1 cup of milk and when cool add the yeast and 3½ cups bread flour and beat until smooth. Let stand about 3 hours in a warm place. Cream ½ cup of butter with 1 cup of brown sugar, add 2 beaten eggs and beat well. Add to the yeast and flour mixture enough extra flour—about 4 cups—to make a dough stiff enough to handle. Knead until elastic, set in a cool place to rise overnight. In the morning knead well and let rise until double in bulk. Take 1-3 of the dough and roll out on a floured board to 1-3 inch in thickness. Shape with a doughnut cutter. Lay the doughnuts on a slightly floured board and let rise

ODD FELLOWS HONOR 'FATHER'

More than 800 Odd Fellows from many sections of Allegheny County attended the annual anniversary services honoring Thomas Wildey, known as the "Founder and Father of American Odd Fellowship," and George Washington, in North Side Carnegie Hall, last night. Speakers were Simon Sipple, of Allentown, grand master of Pennsylvania; Norval R. Daugherty, of Pittsburgh, grand warden, and Joseph Schmidt, secretary of the I. O. O. F. Home for the Aged in Grove City.

Thomas Wildey, who was born in London, January 15, 1782, came to America in 1818, and a short time later instituted the first I. O. O. F. lodge in America, becoming head of the lodge in this country. He was initiated into the organization in London, and before coming to the colonies founded several chapters in England. He died October 19, 1861.

Nutritious Rice Has Many Favorable Qualities

This valuable and popular food is the staff of life for over one-third of the world's population.

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Formerly Health Commissioner, New York City,
United States Senator from New York.

Who can doubt that the health of the family depends upon the housewife? Her wisdom in spending the food money is important. From one-quarter to one-third of the family income is spent for things to eat.

An article I read recently attempted to show how money should be spent in the purchasing of the necessary foods. Among other things, it stated that the smaller the income, the more important it is to use cereals. It advocated that from one-sixth to one-half of the food money should be spent on bread, cereals and rice.

At times when it is necessary to buy for as little money as possible, food that will build up and protect health, rice should be given consideration. It is a food which should be eaten not only during times of stress, but should be included as a regular part of the diet.

The use of rice is usually associated with the Chinese or Japanese people. It is interesting to learn that today America exports huge quantities of rice to Japan and other Oriental countries.

EXTENSIVELY GROWN

There is a general impression that the most widely cultivated food grown in the world is wheat. This is not so. Rice is the most extensively grown grain and forms the staff of life for over one-third of the world's total population.

In addition to the economic factor involved, there are many reasons why it should be a staple food in the diet. Rice is nutritious, containing about 88 per cent of food value. This is made up essentially of starch and other substances which are energy producing.

Rice is extremely easy to digest. It is for this reason that rice is important in the diet of the child or invalid. Very small starch cells are found in rice. These cells are delicately constructed. Very little heat is required to burst them and make them easily digested.

DOESN'T SPOIL

Another important thing about rice is that it does not spoil when stored. It differs from other inexpensive foods, such as potatoes, in that it does not become mouldy. Further, rice can be stored in a small space and does not require the care and attention that more bulky foods demand.

Polished rice is the form most commonly eaten in this country. Brown rice is believed to be more nutritious and is gaining in popularity. When the rice is polished some of the valuable contents, particularly the vitamins and mineral elements, are removed. This deficiency is overcome by serving it with milk or cream.

Rice, when properly prepared, is not only a nutritious dish, but a tempting one. It may be served in a variety of ways and in combination with other foods. In this way it lends variety to the diet. This is particularly important when there is a limited food budget.

Women Learn More About Good Sportsmanship

Can women be friends—honest, generous, loyal friends—just as men are?

Or is there some mysterious animosity, some lurking jealousy or fear, between gals that keeps 'em trying to edge in on each other, and at each other's throats?

Wanda is sold on the idea that they can't; and that there is and she thinks the reason is boy friends, bitter rivalry for attention, rivalry that blows friendship and fair play right out of their heads.

Is she right?

"Dear Sally:

"Do you think there is ever really such a thing as a fine true friendship between girls?

"I mean among girls who are attractive, have nice personalities and are popular with boys. I have known lots of girls, but there are mighty few that are what you could call real friends.

"They are all lovely to each other until some boy happens around and then it is really funny the way the atmosphere changes. I get the biggest kick out of it. It's like watching a show. You know just what is going to happen next.

"For instance, you're at a party. Everyone is paired up and having a glorious time when some female will take a notion that some other girl has a boy friend whom she would like to fool around with for the rest of the evening. She makes a big and to another girl a perfectly obvious play for him.

FRIENDSHIP VANISHES

"The boys don't always fall in line but in most cases they do. Everyone likes to be flattered. That leaves the young man who brought the girl and the other boy's girl friend in a rather uncomfortable position. But does the interfering girl care? She does not. She gets a terrible bang out of it. She simply swells with pride. She has put something over! I think it is contemptible.

"It has always seemed to me that girls can be friends until some desirable male comes along, then the so-called friendship goes up in smoke.

"I haven't many girl friends for that reason. I just can't be bothered. Honestly it just burns me up the way some nit-wit girls act. And I am not jealous either. But I certainly wouldn't stand around ogling some other girl's boy friend, whether I knew her or not. I hate seeing people made uncomfortable, but so many girls seem to have no regard for other people's feelings at all.

CAN BE FRIENDS

"Just what do you think of girls' friendships with each other? Is there such a thing? I know men can be friends, but I don't believe women can. I've seen them 'cat' each other too often. "Wanda."

Can women be real friends?

Certainly they can, my dear, if they've learned to be civilized. And even if you haven't happened to run across them yet, there are many fine friendships between women, but they are between women who have learned as men learn to be human beings first, and women last.

Once women were bitter rivals for the attentions of men. They had to depend on men for a roof over their heads and the food that kept them alive. Naturally most of them were out to grab off the choicest specimens, hurt whom it might. But even in those days, there were fine friendships among them.

Now when women are on their own, capable of supplying their own roofs and cakes, they're learning more and more about good sportsmanship. So keep on looking, honey. You may know a good many girls who are still back in the Dark Ages, but there are others!

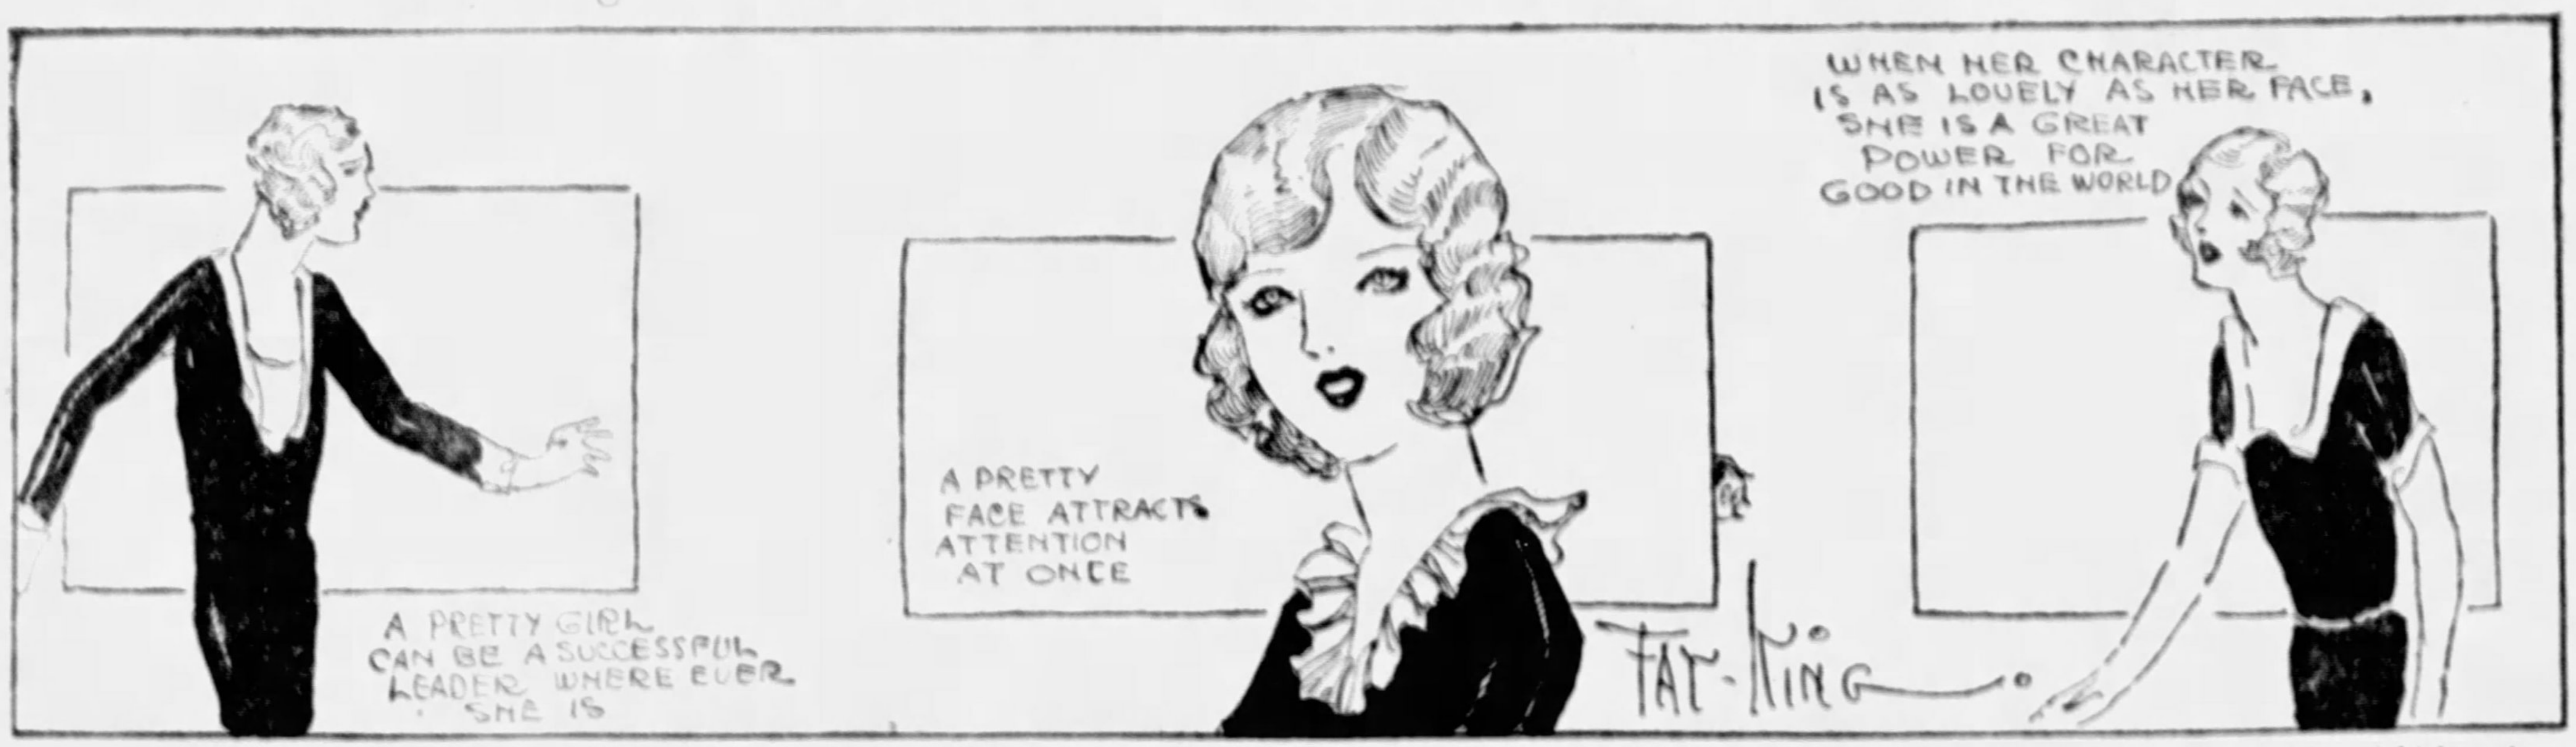
Fay King Praises Girl Who Prefers to Be as Good as She Is Beautiful



A PRETTY GIRL CAN BE A SUCCESSFUL LEADER WHERE EVER SHE IS A PRETTY FACE ATTRACTS ATTENTION AT ONCE
WHEN HER CHARACTER IS AS LOVELY AS HER FACE, SHE IS A GREAT POWER FOR GOOD IN THE WORLD
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

When a very good, sweet and noble girl also happens to be plain, there is always likely to be a little doubt whether a good deal of this may not be due to the fact that she did not have the temptations that beauty attracts.

Great as the credit and praise may be which is given her, it can never be quite as complete as that bestowed upon the girl who is also as beautiful of face and figure as she is in character.

For we know only too well how easily she might have become otherwise.

That is why there is no greater influence for good in the world than that girl who prefers to be as good as she is beautiful.

What Can Z Make at No-Trumps?

Y: ♠ 7 ♥ K 3 ♣ Q 8 7 5 ♦ K Q J 8 7 4
A: ♠ 10 8 6 ♥ 10 2 ♣ K J 9 6 4 2 ♦ 5 2
B: ♠ K 5 4 3 ♥ Q J 9 7 6 5 ♣ ♦ 10 9 3
Z: ♠ A Q J 9 2 ♥ A 8 4 ♣ A 10 3 ♦ A 6

I held Z's hand in a duplicate game. On account of the honors I made an opening semi-demand bid of 2-No Trumps. Over my partner's response of 3-Diamonds I showed powerful spades by bidding 3-Spades, then I returned to no-trumps when Y rebid diamonds. Upon that my partner jumped to 6-No Trumps. The opening lead was A's 6 of clubs. The question is, how many can I win against perfect play from that point?

I won the opening lead with dummy's 7. B discarded a low heart. The lone spade was led from dummy and my J won on a finesse. Having taken two rounds of diamonds to prove that dummy could win every remaining trick in that suit I took my A of clubs to force a discard from B. He let go a small spade. Dummy was put in the lead with its king of hearts, and three tricks were taken in diamonds. B followed suit upon the first and discarded two hearts on the other two tricks. I discarded two spades and one club. What A did was of small interest; he had no chance to win either a spade or heart trick. At the end of the ninth trick the holdings about the table were as shown below.

Y: ♥ 3 ♣ Q 8 ♦ 7
A: ♠ 10 6 ♣ K J
B: ♠ K 5 ♥ Q J
Z: ♠ A Q ♥ A 8

I led Y's last diamond. Of course B was helpless. If he discarded one of his two spades, both of mine would be good; if he let go one of his hearts, he would give me two tricks in that suit. He knew that he must hold spades; he was not so sure about hearts; possibly A might be able to stop the suit. All I had to do was watch B, holding two cards of the suit from which he discarded and discarding from the suit of which he retained two. When B let go his J of hearts I discarded my Q of spades. The heart lead from dummy gave me the remaining three tricks. After the opening lead nothing could stop my squeeze for a grand slam—one trick more than we had dared bid.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Skin Disease Can Be Cured

Dr. Copeland

Psoriasis is a disagreeable disease of the skin. No one but its victim really appreciates the misery it causes. There is no pain, but the appearance of the skin is greatly embarrassing.

Psoriasis is often confused with eczema, but it is important to distinguish between them. In psoriasis there are circular patches of inflamed skin, and these may be found on any part of the body. Each patch has a red base, varying in size. It is covered with a dry, silvery, adherent scale. The inflamed area is exceedingly dry, containing no pus and causing no itching or pain.

The patches of diseased skin in eczema are larger. They are moist, itch and have no covering of silvery white scales.

Most persons who have psoriasis worry for fear they may pass the disease on to other members of the family. There is no such danger. Psoriasis is not contagious, and cannot be transmitted from one person to another.

I desire, too, to assure the worried mother that eczema is not contagious. Children are often shunned because of this condition. They need not be.

If you have psoriasis it is important to make every effort to improve your general health. Avoid the excessive use of alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee. Protein foods, such as lean meats, milk and eggs, should be eaten in moderation.

Many salves and ointments are sold for the relief of this condition. Please do not use any remedy unless it has been prescribed by your physician. Before using the salve, the scaly surface of the skin should be removed. This is best done by a warm bath, using a stiff brush and tincture of green soap.

After the bath apply the salve to the inflamed area. When the scaly condition of the skin has disappeared the salve should be changed to something more soothing or stimulating.

X-ray treatments, as well as exposure to sunlight, have been beneficial in many cases. Of course, the treatment, whatever it is, should be supervised by a physician.

Psoriasis is often a stubborn condition. You must not become discouraged if the ailment does not quickly respond to treatment.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

When using dental floss, be gentle. An abrasion in the tissues of the gums invites infection.

If the hair is oily and there's no time for a shampoo, take the tresslocks strand by strand, and wipe with a soft cloth which has been dipped in rubbing alcohol, diluted one-half with water.

When black is worn the complexion is paler by contrast. A black frock on blonde or brunet calls for delicately tinted complexion powder, light rouge, vivid lipstick. Eye shadows of mauve look well with the black frock. Blue shadows won't do with cherry lips. A red frock requires carefully selected make-up, rouge that hormonizes somewhat with the color of the robe.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Relieves Katherine in the Sick Room

For a startled second as Lillian smilingly said, "Here's the baby," I caught my breath in the panic stricken fear that because of my worry over Faith, Katherine had permitted my sick baby to be brought from the nursery to my room. I had heard the doctor's injunction of absolute quiet for her and it did not seem possible that Katherine would disregard it. Then as Lillian smilingly held out some sheets of typed manuscript to me, I realized what she had meant.

"Oh!" I exclaimed, "you are calling this—" I took the manuscript in my hands—and Lillian finished the sentence for me.

"The brain—cheild," she said, "that's what these are called in our most hackneyed Greenwich Village circles, I believe."

"I'll put the 'brain cheild' in its cradle," I said, depositing the manuscript in a wire basket on my desk, "and attend to it later. Just now—" I broke off and moved rapidly to the door.

"Just now," Lillian echoed, "you can think of nothing but a real baby, and I don't blame you."

She went with me down the hall to the door of the nursery. Katherine, a little pale and with eyes weary from her night's vigil, opened the door to us.

"The Princess awaits you," she said brightly. "She will give you a brief audience if you are properly respectful."

We went into the other room where Faith lay upon the same bed which had held her during the dread seizure which had so terrified us all. But today her eyes were wide open, instead of closed, her tiny soft face was smooth, instead of being puckered with pain.

"You wouldn't know she'd been ill, would you?" Katherine said pridefully.

"Indeed, no," I said warmly, fighting the impulse to snatch up that tiny body in my arms and cover it with kisses, "but you, my dear, you look as if you'd—"

"Been dragged through the proverbial knot-hole," Lillian supplemented.

"But look here," I said with sudden decision. "You haven't had a wink of sleep."

"Guilty, m'lud, as charged," Katherine retorted, "but what of it? I've done many a stretch longer than this without shutting my eyes."

"But that's no reason why you should do it now," I returned.

I turned to Lillian. "You haven't slept yet, have you?"

"Not yet, but soon," she said with a grin.

"But I have," I said stoutly. "I've had a most wonderful rest. Why can't I do relief duty now?"

"No reason in the world," Katherine said quickly, "except that you have that revision on your hands for Philip Veritzen."

"That can just go by the board," I said stoutly. "You said yourself"—I turned accusingly to Lillian—"that all we promised him was the rough draft, so if I do not raise it—"

"What's the matter with starring in a double role," Lillian asked with a glint of mischief in her eye, "revise my faulty typing with your trusty blue pencil while at the same time keeping a wary eye upon Faith? I can see the headlines now," her eyes twinkled appreciatively, "'Mother and Playwright.' Beautiful Madge Graham plays both roles with equal facility!"

"Katherine!" I turned my back with carefully assumed indifference upon Lillian. "Would I be able to revise that copy without neglecting Faith?"

"Unless you've suddenly developed deafness," she said, smiling. "Otherwise I'll match the lungs of our Princess against any drammer ever drammed. Really, Madge, it's entirely feasible. Faith's due for feeding and a nap in 10 minutes. And she won't wake up for hours afterward, with any luck at all. Go and get started on your revision, so that you can bring your work in here when I call you, and I'll have the chance for a glorious 40 winks while you're holding down two jobs. It's not every woman who can do that."

There was such genuine friendly admiration in her voice that I felt like going on my knees to her in contrition for the jealous angry thoughts which had been mine because she had not permitted me to share her vigil with my sick child. But as I had been able to keep the knowledge of my feeling from her, I could not offer her any apology without betraying the meanness of which I had been guilty—and—as a result wounding her beyond reason. So I contented myself with voicing the gratitude which was mine at being given this opportunity to sit beside my baby and watch over her. But I had not finished when a decisive voice sounded behind me.

"What's all this discussion about watching over my granddaughter? You seem to forget that I am still on earth."

I nearly accomplished the feat known as "shaking in one's shoes." It was the voice of my mother-in-law, and she evidently was on the war path.

Household Hints

Lemon peel will remove stain from the hands.

When making tea in a flask always use condensed milk instead of cow's milk. This keeps the tea much warmer.

Place new kid gloves between the folds of a wet towel for an hour or more before putting them on for the first time. This will prevent cracking.

When scrambling eggs, add one tablespoonful of fine breadcrumbs and one tablespoonful of milk to every beaten egg, season to taste and cook in the usual way.

Informal Wedding Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would appreciate it very much if you would let me know whether or not I must have printed invitations, or whether I could write an informal note to my guests, for a home wedding. I am only having 40 people—my close relatives, and the ceremony will be held at home.

Please let me know how to word the note, if I should use it, as I would like to avoid the expense of printing invitations.

L. T.

By no means, dear lady, should you or need you go to the expense (or formality) of having engraving invitations for such a small informal wedding. It is the correct thing to send written notes of invitation.

The really correct thing is for your mother, or whoever is the hostess of your home, to write these notes of invitation. Like this:

Dear Grace:

Mary and Tom are to be merried at home on Saturday, the first of February, at 4 o'clock. It would make us all very happy if you and Jack will come.

Cordially yours,

MARTHA WHITLOCK WELLS.

To or For Luncheon?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When inviting guests for luncheon, which is correct to say, "Come to my luncheon," or "Come for luncheon?"

Some say, "I accept with pleasure your kind invitation for luncheon," others say "to luncheon."

MRS. B.

While there isn't very much of a distinction between these two expressions, "come to luncheon" is the most acceptable.

Some people have even made the distinction that the chops "come for luncheon," but the guests "come to luncheon!"

Prudence Penny's Recipe

until double in bulk—about 45 minutes. Fry in deep fat at 350 degrees Fahrenheit until brown. Drain.

* * *

CREOLE ROLL—2 cups sugar, 1 cup cream, 1 package pasteurized dates, 1 cup nut meats.

Cook sugar and cream (or evaporated milk) to soft ball stage (236 degrees Fahrenheit). Add the sliced dates and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture will form a firm ball in cold water (246 degrees Fahrenheit). Remove from fire, add chopped nuts, cool, and pour into a greased pan. Shape in a roll. Cut into small pieces. Wrap in wax paper.

* * *

MEAT PIE—Four cups cold cooked beef, 2 hard cooked eggs, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, baking powder biscuit dough. Dice meat and eggs and add seasoning. Place in baking dish and pour sufficient gravy over to moisten. Roll or pat baking powder biscuit dough 1/2 inch thick and cut with small biscuit cutter. Place biscuits over meat mixture and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) 20 minutes, or until biscuits are baked. Serves six.

* * *

CURRIED MEAT—One onion, 2 cups washed rice, 1 tablespoon butter, stock, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 1/2 cup stewed and strained tomatoes, 2 cups cubed cold roast meat. Brown onion in butter, add rice, stir until slightly browned. Add enough stock to cover and boil slowly until done, adding more stock if required. Add curry powder, tomato and meat. Garnish ring mold with thin strips of bacon. Pack in the meat mixture and place in very hot oven to cook bacon. Garnish with stuffed olives wrapped in bacon slices and broiled until golden brown.

* * *

CREAM OF LETTUCE SOUP—Two and one-half cups white stock, 1 head lettuce, finely cut, 2 tablespoons rice, 1/2 cup cream, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten, few grains nutmeg, salt, 1/4 tablespoon onion, finely chopped, pepper.

Cook onion five minutes in butter, add lettuce, rice and stock. Cook until rice is soft, then add cream, egg yolk, nutmeg, salt and pepper.

* * *

BUTTERMILK COOKIES—One cup white flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup whole wheat flour, 1/2 package pasteurized dates, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1-3 cup buttermilk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

*Use sour milk or sweet if preferred. If sweet milk is used, omit soda, and increase baking powder to 3 teaspoons.

Sift white flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Add whole wheat (or graham) flour. Mix dates through dry ingredients with finger tips. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, then beaten egg. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add vanilla and beat until well mixed. Drop by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on well-oiled baking sheet or inverted pan. Bake in a fairly hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for about 10 minutes. Makes 36 small cookies.

* * *

TUTTI FRUTTI SQUARES—Three-quarter cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 package pasteurized dates, sliced, 1 cup nut meats, 1 package orange peel (4 oz.), 1 package sliced, candied lemon peel (4 oz.), 1 package sliced, candied citron, 2 eggs, 3/4 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons fat, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix dry ingredients and sift them over the fruit and chopped nuts, distributing the fruit through flour with the finger tips. Beat the eggs; beat in sugar gradually. Add melted fat, then flour, fruit and vanilla. Spread mixture 1/2 inch thick in a well-greased shallow baking pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 3/4 to 1 hour. When cool cut in squares and roll each in powdered sugar. Makes 25 squares.

* * *

FIVE-MINUTE CABBAGE—2 cups milk, 1 quart shredded cabbage, 3 tablespoons melted butter or other fat, 2 tablespoons flour, salt, pepper.

Heat the milk and cook the cabbage in it for 2 minutes. Add the blended fat and flour, and the seasoning, cook rapidly for 3 or 4 minutes, and stir constantly. The cabbage retains its crispness and is delicate in flavor and color.

* * *

SHREDDED CABBAGE—4 tablespoons or more of fat, 1 or 1 1/2 onions, sliced, 1 green pepper, shreded, 1 1/2 quarts shredded cabbage, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup boiling water.

Melt the fat and cook the onions and pepper until the onions are slightly browned. Add the cabbage, salt and water. Stir frequently and simmer until the vegetables are tender.

* * *

QUICK-COOKED SPINACH—Carefully pick over the spinach, discard wilted leaves, cut off the stem ends, and wash in several waters to remove grit. If the spinach is young and tender, it can be cooked in the water that clings to the leaves. Start the cooking at moderate heat, cover the kettle at first, turn the spinach now and then until thoroughly wilted, then remove the cover, and stir frequently. Cook about 10 to 15 minutes (for a quantity of 2 pounds), chop fine, season with pepper, salt and butter or other fat, and serve. Spinach cooked in this way will retain its attractive green color and fresh flavor.

DUKE-GEORGETOWN FOOTBALL GAME OFF

ONE OF THE football games announced some time ago as tentatively booked for next fall in this city has fallen through and a hole has been knocked in the home schedule of the Duquesne University team. Contrary to expectations, the Georgetown University gridders will not repeat their Pittsburgh visit of 1931. Their proposed meeting with the Dukes at Forbes Field on October 28 has been called off, reducing by one the number of night contests local fans will be privileged to witness, as Elmer Layden, director of athletics, says the Bluff institution will allow the date to remain open.

Elmer Layden

According to advices from Washington, the cancellation resulted from the inability of the schools to agree on a playing time. After the game had been listed tentatively as a night attraction here for Friday, October 28, Georgetown found that such an arrangement would not fit in with the remainder of its schedule. It offered to play a daylight game here instead on Thanksgiving Day or the Saturday following, that is November 24 or 26.

BUT NEITHER OF those dates proved acceptable to Director Layden. He had decided to close the season earlier and not to play during the week that includes Thanksgiving Day and did not wish to change the arrangements. Besides, Pitt plays Penn State here on Thanksgiving Day and a date only two days later was not considered a good spot from a drawing viewpoint.

So the Georgetown game has been canceled and no attempt will be made to book another attraction in its place. The Dukes will remain idle that week. One other game will shortly be added to the Duquesne schedule, however. Rather it will be arranged to precede the list of contests already announced, as it is to be the opening number on the Bluffites' program, in fact the curtain raiser for the college grid season as a whole in Pittsburgh.

WHEN THE DUKE schedule was given out the night game with West Virginia University at Forbes Field September 23 was first on the list, but it was announced that if a satisfactory booking could be made the Red and Blue would open the campaign one week earlier.

Such an arrangement is now believed to be possible, and it is expected that a contract will be closed shortly for an opening game at the Pirate park on Friday night, September 16, that will not only provide a strong attraction certain to please the fans but also give the Dukes the conditioning benefits of a real contest before their tough battle with the Mountaineers.

IF ROGERS HORNSBY had not walked out to give things a second thought after once agreeing on terms for a deal, Hack Wilson would now belong to the Braves instead of to the Cardinals, and Burleigh Grimes would not be with the Cubs. Bill McKechnie, Boston skipper, still rating Wilson a good gamble and willing to talk trade for him any time St. Louis is ready, says no manager ever came closer to getting a player without actually landing him than he did in the case of Hack. "When Judge Fuchs and I were at the Chicago meetings in December," Bill relates, "we actually had Wilson as the property of the Braves for half an hour or so. Manager Hornsby virtually agreed to give us Wilson for three players. Then he asked for half an hour of time in which to think it over, left the conference, ran across the St. Louis people, and they quickly gave up Burleigh Grimes when Hornsby agreed to toss in Bud Teachout along with Wilson."

Jesse Hill

IN THE PURCHASE of Outfielder Jesse Hill from the Hollywood club, the Yankees have acquired another Pacific Coast League player who is rated one of the best prospects in the minors. Hill, a former all-around athlete at the University of Southern California, hit .356 in 115 games for Hollywood in 1930 and .320 in 159 games last season.

With all his promise, Hill may find it a hard matter to win a place on the Yankee payroll right away, as his coming will give Joe McCarthy no fewer than nine outfielders for the spring training trip. In addition to Hill, there are Ruth, Combs and Chapman, the old regulars, and Cooke, Byrd, Hoag, Walker and Selkirk. Hill is the third player coming to the Yanks from the Coast League this year, Infielders Frank Crosetti and Eddie Farrell having preceded him.

THE BASEBALL HOLDOUT epidemic is striking nearer home, the first news to reach the public of a balk in the Pirate family having come in the dispatch from Ada, Okla., announcing the return of an unsigned contract by Center Fielder Lloyd Waner. A bulletin from San Francisco also has Gus Suhr on the rebellious list.

Though one story says Lloyd rejected the contract because it is for only one year, his objection no doubt has to do with a salary cut, as the younger Waner knows the Pittsburgh club makes it a rule not to enter into pacts for more than a single season. The general belief is that the differences will be smoothed out in a short time.

WHEN THE TALK runs to high scoring in basketball, veteran followers of the court game in this district will tell you that the present-day fans haven't seen anything. They recall that on March 16, 1909, in a championship game in the old Central League, the famous Bill Keenan, then playing center for Johnstown under the leadership of Joe Fogarty, scored 38 field goals in 30 minutes of play, and that his mates made 17 more in the regulation time. The records show this to be the best mark that has ever been made in a championship pro game.

THAT SEASON WAS the first for Johnstown in what was then the outstanding pro league of the country. On the roster were Keenan, ranked as the greatest center of all time; Joe Fogarty, one of the best players in history; John (Snake) Deal, without a superior as a slick passer; Jack Fox, Ollie McLaughlin and Flo Hagerty.

Johnstown finished fifth that season, but in the race of 1910-11 ran a close second to McKeesport's great steam-roller combination, then transferred to Uniontown, consisting of Sears, O'Donnell, Getzinger, Henschel, Bogie and Swenson. The following year the Johnnies obtained Dutch Wohlfarth, Bobby Mayham and Doc Newman, and copped the league championship.

IT WILL BE a left hook against a right cross when Billy Petrolle and Eddie Ran, two of the fight game's most celebrated sockers, come together for a 10-round battle at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight.

Billy Petrolle

It was Petrolle's left hook that carried him to victory over Jimmy McLarnin, Tony Canzoneri, Justo Suarez, Billy Townsend and others. It has blasted the hopes of many a climbing young battler in the same position than Ran occupies today.

BUT WHETHER THE Fargo Express will be as successful against Eddie tonight remains to be seen. The fast-coming Polish welterweight, whose proper name, by the way, is Edouard Fitzmajster, and who is not yet 23, has a devastating punch of his own in the deadly right cross that has kept four of his last five opponents bouncing around the ring. Only Franto Nekolny was able to stay on his feet. One solid punch stopped Louis (Kid) Kaplan, and only last week Jimmy McNamara met the same fate. With two such wallopers as Petrolle and Ran exchanging slams, a rare punching bee is in prospect. Each can hit hard enough to win if he lands solidly, but it will take the fight itself to answer the question as to which is going to put over the crusher.

TENNIS GROUP TO REVAMP ORGANIZATION

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Territorial jurisdiction of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association has been extended to include all area in Pennsylvania within a 50-mile radius of the Steel City, according to a report offered yesterday by P. T. A. President J. Phillips Davis, local delegate to the annual meeting of the Middle States L. T. A. at Philadelphia last Saturday.

Davis, in special conference with officials of the district net group, stated that the proposition to enlarge the scope of the Pittsburgh organization had been favorably received and acted upon by the Middle States conclave and that the P. T. A. is now at liberty to re-vamp at convenience its governmental machinery to meet the demands of the added responsibilities, which, if it retains the stand taken at its recent powwow here, it is likely soon to assume. The augmented outfit may adopt the sobriquet of Western Pennsylvania Tennis Association.

The new arrangement means that the P. T. A. will hold court sway over Allegheny, Beaver, Washington, Greene, Fayette, Westmoreland, Butler and Lawrence Counties, with goodly portion of Indiana, Armstrong, Somerset, Mercer and Clarion acreage rounding out the circle. Among the cities and towns thus brought into the P. T. A. racquet picture are New Castle, Ellwood City, McKeesport, Indiana, Washington, Waynesburg, Connellsville, Uniontown, Butler, Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Beaver, Ambridge, Rochester, Greensburg, Latrobe, Scottdale, Brownsville, Mount Pleasant, Kittanning, Ford City, New Kensington, Natrona and Tarentum.

MANY LOOPS PLANNED

A strip of West Virginia within the 50-mile radius lies in the Middle Atlantic division, while an Ohio segment comes under Western Association rule. East of Pittsburgh domain is found the Central Pennsylvania realm and north is the unaffiliated Northwestern Pennsylvania T. A. sector.

Plans for perhaps half-a-dozen inter-city and inter-club tennis loops have been tentatively advanced for formation within the P. T. A. as probably to be constituted. Circuits along the Allegheny, Monongahela, Ohio and Beaver valleys, as well as through the Westmoreland-Fayette, the Indiana-Armstrong-Clarion, and the Washington-Greene County communities, are under consideration, though it will be impossible, of course, to put a program as ambitious as the foregoing into operation this summer or even next.

Davis announced that Middle States sentiment, as expressed at the week-end session, is strongly aligned with that of the Middle Western and Western associations in battle for better distribution of power in the U. S. L. T. A., which since its inception has been mainly in the hands of metropolitan and New England moguls.

DISTRICT DATES ASSURED

Several proposals along the line of decentralization will be submitted at the national gathering in New Orleans, February 6. Middle States representatives appear also to lean toward the idea of open tournaments in which both professionals and amateurs would be permitted to compete.

The Pittsburgh envoy was assured by sectional officers that the 1932 Western Pennsylvania championships will be sanctioned for the traditional dates, these being June 18 to 26 this year. Attempt will be made to prevent recurrence of the 1931 date conflict between the Pittsburgh feature and the U. S. Inter-City doubles event at Cleveland.

JACOBS MAY SIGN TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Joe Jacobs and Johnny Buckley went into a long huddle yesterday in an effort to reach an agreement for a heavyweight championship bout here in June between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey.

It was announced the official signing for the match tentatively had been fixed for 1 o'clock today.

Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, said the principal difficulties still to be overcome so far as he was concerned, were financial terms. He indicated he was not yet satisfied with the terms offered.

CISSELL SIGNS

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Chalmer (Bill) Cissell, infielder, has joined the ranks of the contented Chicago White Sox. Cissell was the fifth player to return his signed 1932 contract, Pitchers Alphonse Thomas, Ted Lyons and Sam Jones, and Catcher Bennett Tate previously having agreed to terms.

MOORE IS SATISFIED

WATERBURY, Conn., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Johnny Moore, recruit outfielder recalled by the Chicago Cubs from the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League team, said yesterday he was satisfied with the terms offered by President William Veeck and had returned his signed contract for the 1932 season.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: A RAZOR 3,500 YEARS OLD—The razor 35 centuries old, with which Karl Ludwig Messing shaves every morning, originally belonged to King Thutmosis III, who ruled Egypt in the sixteenth century B. C. It was brought to Europe by an ancestor of the present owner, who was a member of a German Scientific Commission active in Egypt about 90 years ago. The razor, which is made of bronze alloy, has a perfect shaving edge, although it has been used by three generations of the Messing family. It is not known how the ancient Egyptians managed to temper bronze to a razor effect. The secret may have been in the alloy used, aided by a process of patient hammering.

G. WASHINGTON TRIMS DUKES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—Duquesne University lost its first basketball game of the season here last night, when the husky George Washington University quintet subdued the Pittsburghers, 48 to 27, in recording their sixth consecutive triumph.

George Washington led the procession throughout in spite of the brilliant, though vain, game produced by Coach Chick Davies' men.

The Dukes trailed, 23 to 18, at the intermission, and in the second half, although George Washington gained an 18-point lead, the home club did not let up in its scoring spree for an instant. The lineup:

SHEEHAN GOES WEST

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Hollywood baseball club of the Pacific Coast League yesterday signed Tom Sheehan, a free agent, to pitch in the coming season. Sheehan has spent most of his baseball career with the Cincinnati Reds and the Kansas City American Association club.

THREE GIANTS SIGN

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The New York Giants have announced three more signatures in the 1932 contract fold, including Ethan Allen, outfielder; Dave Bancroft and Tom Clark, coaches.

Alec Fox, Former Pitt Grid Star, To Be Wed

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Alec Fox, head line coach at the University of Pennsylvania, and Nan Lowthian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lowthian, of Yorkville, O., will be married in Oil City Saturday.

Fox, former University of Pittsburgh grid star, is widely known in this section, having coached the Oil City High School team.

COLLEGE RIFLE LOOP OPENS

The Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio Intercollegiate Rifle League, one of the six groups conducted by the National Rifle Association, begins its matches tomorrow, with Carnegie, Pitt, Penn, Drexel, Fenn College, Penn State and West Virginia competing. The district league's schedule:

First week, week ending January 23—Penn State vs. Cincinnati, Drexel vs. Fenn, Pitt vs. Penn, West Virginia vs. Carnegie.
Second week—Carnegie vs. Cincinnati, Penn vs. Drexel, Fenn vs. West Virginia.
Third week—Cincinnati vs. Penn, Drexel vs. West Virginia, Pitt vs. Carnegie, Penn State vs. Fenn.
Fourth week—Carnegie vs. Drexel, Penn vs. Fenn, Cincinnati vs. Pitt, West Virginia vs. Penn State.
Fifth week—Fenn vs. Pitt, Penn vs. West Virginia, Carnegie vs. Penn State, Drexel vs. Cincinnati.
Sixth week—West Virginia vs. Cincinnati, Pitt vs. Drexel, Penn State vs. Penn, Carnegie vs. Fenn.
Seventh week—Fenn vs. Cincinnati, Penn vs. Carnegie, Drexel vs. Penn State, West Virginia vs. Pitt.

BOZEMAN TOPS SCOVILLE

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—J. N. Bozeman, of Vallejo, Cal., supplied the second upset of the world three-cushion billiards championship tournament yesterday by defeating Frank Scoville, of New York, who previously was unbeaten. Bozeman rallied in the last five minutes to win his first victory, 50 to 45, in 54 innings.

Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, won his second in a row, overcoming Tiff Denton, Kansas City veteran, 50 to 35, in 43 innings.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, another veteran of the angle game, accounted for his second straight victory, easily defeating Bud Westhus, former St. Louis University football star, 50 to 25, in 40 innings.

Young Jake Schaefer, of San Francisco, suffered his first defeat, bowing to Len Kenney, Chicago youngster, 50 to 34, in 43 innings.

Gizzy is Victor Over Eddie Anderson

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Battling Gizzy, of Pittsburgh, won a close 10-round decision over Eddie (Cowboy) Anderson, of Chicago, in a 10-round bout here last night.

The fight was so close that the crowd booed the decision of Elmer (Slim) McClellan, veteran referee, for five minutes. The referee credited Gizzy with six rounds, Anderson with three, and called the other even. Gizzy weighed 135¾ pounds; Anderson, 136.

HOWARD EXONERATED

BELLINGTON, Wash., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A Coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Richard Howard, 18, of responsibility in the death Wednesday night of George Bell, 20, who died during a boxing match with Howard. The jury held the death accidental. Autopsy surgeons said Bell died of a heart attack, caused by a blow in the solar plexus.

Another Betting Coup Staged By Gamblers

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Charm, once owned by Al Capone, was backed by the "builders"—a group that increases odds on the horse it is playing by wagering heavily on other horses in the same race—in the first race at Jefferson Park yesterday, and winnings of about $100,000 resulted.

Charm, the subject of a 60-to-1 coup at the New Orleans Fair Grounds track a few years ago, was listed at 1-to-2 at the opening of the mutuel machines. At the barrier, the board showed Charm at 4 to 5, and as the horses broke away the price was boosted to 7 to 2.

The former Capone racer won, and $19.60 was posted as the pay-off on a $2 mutuel ticket.

Track officials said the "builders" waited until the last minute, and then bet approximately $10,000 through the mutuel windows on other horses in the race. Previously the "builders" had bet with private bookmakers on Charm.

Colleges Present 12-Point Program

CINCINNATI, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A 12-point program urging higher standards for intercollegiate athletics, especially football, was recommended yesterday by the Association of American Colleges by its commission on athletics.

Highlights of the recommendations were:

Shorten the season to six or seven games.
Eliminate pre-season practice.
Ban subsidizing.
Abolish recruiting and proselyting.
Reduce coaches' salaries to the general faculty scale.
Return the game to students.
Abolish drudgery in training.
Eliminate training houses.
Schedule only competitors of equal strength.

ROLLS PERFECT GAME

A perfect game in duckpins was rolled Tuesday night by William H. (Lucky) Henn, manager of the Central Bowling Alleys, in Carrick. He turned in the 300 count during an informal match on his home alleys.

CLEVELANDERS TEST SKIBOS TONIGHT

GAMES TONIGHT

Western Reserve vs. Carnegie Tech in Tech gym.
Westminster vs. Thiel at Greenville.
California Teachers vs. St. Vincent at Latrobe.
D. & E. vs. Potomac State at Keyser, W. Va.
Morris Harvey at West Liberty.
New River at Marshall.
Youngstown Y at Indiana Teachers.

By JESS CARVER

Western Reserve's Red Cats of basketball step squarely on the spot tonight as they appear in the Carnegie Tech gymnasium for a tussle with the Tartans. They'd been in a tough spot anyhow, but it's going to be worse tonight, for the Tartans are just recovering from the shock of two successive setbacks at the hands of Grove City and Pitt. They had little mercy on the Cats a year ago, serving them a terrific trouncing. You can guess what they'll try to accomplish tonight.

Eddie Finnigan

At that, the task may not be particularly easy, for the Red Cats have been playing excellent basketball this year. They gave both Michigan State and Detroit stiff arguments, and defeated Yale by as great a margin as did Carnegie. Coach Clifford is fortunate in having on his squad several lads who played under him when he was coaching at Collinwood High, in Cleveland. The team generally is conceded to be the best in Reserve's history.

TARTANS DISAPPOINTED

Carnegie was bitterly disappointed in the outcome of the Pitt game. The Skibos were aware that the contest was not going to be a setup, but the way in which the Panthers socked it to 'em in the first half was disconcerting, to say the least.

So the going figures to be plenty rough for the Red Kitties. Coach Hogan has shifted his lineup, with both Bob Smith and Jagnow definitely out, and will send his charges into the battle with Capt. Jimmy (Brute) Leonard and Popeye Silverman at the forwards, Eddie Stentz or Edelblut at center and Fergus and Raudabaugh at the guards.

Reserve's battlefront will consist of Charlillo and Bernardic or Crum at the forwards, Berwald at center and Eddie Finnigan and Forsythe at the guards. All are veterans.

PITT GOES WEST

Pitt entrains tonight on its annual basketball invasion of South Bend. Tomorrow the Panthers will meet Notre Dame. The Irish have been clipping 'em all this season, and are touted as being as powerful as they were the year they played Pitt here in the Stadium pavilion, when Charley Hyatt pulled the ballgame out of the fire with a last-minute, or second, goal.

With Russ Ochsenhirt still ailing, Coach Carlson plans to give Johnny Brown, the Braddock grocery boy, another chance to shine at the center job. Brown is the laddie who scintillated so against Tech.

The probable lineup:

| Carnegie | | Western Reserve |
|---|---|---|
| Leonard (C) | F | Carillo |
| Silverman | F | Crum |
| Stentz-Edelblut | C | Berwald |
| Fergus | G | Finnigan |
| Raudabaugh | G | [illegible] |

Referee—Bill Dalzell. Umpire—Sam [illegible].

VANGS BATTLE SHADY SIDE

The Shady Side polo team and the Vang team will clash in the opener of the Pittsburgh Polo League games at Hunt Armory tomorrow night. The game is the first this season to be played under the rules of the United States Indoor Polo Association and in accord with the new handicap regulations fixed by the board of governors. Capt. E. J. Voltz is manager of the league. The lineup:

| Vangs | | Shady Side |
|---|---|---|
| George Vang | No. 1 | McCahill, Jr. |
| [illegible] | No. 2 | Bailey McCreary |
| Howard Adams | No. 3 | Art Aaron |

FRENCH JOINS LLOYD WANER AS HOLDOUT

OTHER PIRATES FACING CUTS MAY BALK

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Lloyd Waner, center fielder, and Larry French, star southpaw pitcher, are Pirate holdouts, it was reported today, while Paul Waner, right fielder; Adam Comorosky, left fielder, and Remy Kremer, pitcher, are others likely to balk at the terms offered them in their 1932 contracts.

Lloyd Waner

Lloyd Waner late yesterday announced from his Ada (Okla.) home that he had returned his contract unsigned. From an authoritative source it was learned that French was making a similar move.

Gus Suhr, first baseman, who accepted a $500 salary cut gracefully, but who balked for a time because the document did not include a transportation clause, as heretofore, today capitulated and came into the fold.

SLUGGER IN FLORIDA

Paul Waner is wintering in Florida. Definite word regarding the terms of his 1932 contract have not yet been received, but it is reliably reported that the slugger's pay is to undergo a serious amputation, and Paul is famous for his opposition to such operations.

Kremer and Comorosky had such lean seasons last year that their new documents are virtually certain to reflect this falling off in effectiveness. Their reaction to the change is not likely to be favorable.

WANERS MAY REPEAT

French did not join the ranks of the holdouts until today. Last season Larry won 15 and lost 13 games, and finished eleventh in the matter of earned runs per game. It is not known whether a decrease in pay or the lack of an increase in salary prompted him to balk at the new terms offered him.

In the event that P. Waner refuses to sign the contract forwarded him, the famous brothers will repeat their holdout performance of 1929. Three years ago the brothers kicked over the traces on the matter of pay. Lloyd entered the fold again in time to get the benefits of spring training, but Paul was not satisfied until the bell was almost ready to sound. He had scant preparation.

Touching on the report on Lloyd from Oklahoma, Treasurer William E. Benswanger, of the Pirates, said:

NO WORD AT OFFICE

"I cannot say whether Lloyd Waner is dissatisfied with his contract. The document has not been returned to us; at least it has not arrived at our office. The same statement applies to Paul Waner. Both have been sent their contracts, but since they were forwarded we have heard nothing from either of the brothers."

Lloyd, according to the Oklahoma item, states that his contract "had not been cut much." Paul is believed to be the highest-paid Buccaneer, with his brother being not so far behind him in the matter of salary.

Adam Comorosky and Remy Kremer, who had lean seasons last year, probably are in line for heavy salary slashes, and they may be regarded as prospective additions to the ranks of the holdouts.

LOCAL GOLFER GOES AHEAD

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22.—John D. Wallace, of Pittsburgh, teed off this morning in the second round of match play in the annual Glenn H. Curtiss trophy golf tournament at Miami Springs. He is opposing F. J. Gennette, of New Britain, Conn., in the third flight.

Wallace advanced yesterday without even swinging a club when his scheduled opponent, F. Z. Reid, of Cleveland, failed to show up.

John B. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., the defending champion, and winner of the qualifying medal, won a hard-fought match from Albert R. Hakes, of Dunkirk, N. Y., former Western junior champion, by 2 and 1.

Winfield Day, 16-year-old Chicago star, scored a notable victory over Lee Chase, Sr., Buffalo veteran, by 1 up. T. Philip Perkins, of New York, former British amateur titleholder, defaulted to Clinton Meacham, of Pleasantville, N. Y., due to pressure of business. He was favored to win the event.

GUN DELFINGER ELIMINATED

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 22.—W. T. Gundelfinger, of Pittsburgh, was eliminated in the second round of match play for the Florida East Coast men's golf championship over St. Augustine links yesterday. He was trounced by Everett G. Livesay, of Columbus, by 7 and 5 in the title 16.

After disposing of Gundelfinger, Livesay continued his brilliant stroking to win in the semi-finals against Thomas H. Somerville, of Charlottesville, Va., by 1 up. He is opposing Tommy Goodwin, 18-year-old Monroe, N. Y., crack, in the 18-hole final today.

YOUNGSTOWN GETS GEISLER

The Middle Atlantic League claimed another local sandlot star today when Harry Geisler, probably one of the best shortstops developed here, signed to play with Joe Cambria's Youngstown club.

The departure of the Hagerstown magnate with Geisler's signature probably will put to an end rumors that Harry was to be with Cleveland, of the American League.

While at Villa Nova there was considerable talk that the Indians were sweet on the Pittsburgh boy, and later gossip stated that Geisler actually had signed. But Cambria has the Geisler contract, and now the Dormont club, of the City League, will be on the lookout for a capable shortstop to replace him.

The Middle Atlantic is making plenty of raids on the City League. Rip Collins, Joe Vitelli and Geisler have signed, and it is reported Joe Hadley is considering making an excursion into the minors. However, Hadley may remain at home.

Celtics to Play Knickers Next Week

The Rosenblum Celtics make their first appearance of the season in Pittsburgh Thursday of next week, when they meet the Knickerbockers at Forrester Hall. On Friday they play at home, and on Saturday they will play St. Mary's at Beaver Falls. On Sunday night they play Ft. Wayne at Youngstown. On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week they perform at Akron and Canton. The professional game between Brooklyn and the Rosie Celtics, to be played here, has been postponed to February 12.

Pitt Frosh Beat Schenley Swimmers

Pitt Freshmen swimmers defeated Schenley High School, 45 to 19, at the Pitt pool yesterday afternoon. The summary:

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Young Teddy Yarosz, of Monaca, king of the local welterweight boxers since he defeated Jimmy Belmont at Motor Square Garden Christmas afternoon, is in a tough spot tonight, when he faces Jimmy Hill, Filipino puncher, in a 10-round windup in Detroit.

Ted Yarosz

Hill is a deadly socker, especially with the left hand, being a converted southpaw. It is claimed he has knocked out all but one of his opponents in his last 24 starts. His most recent victim, Howard McLean, went out in a punch. Tommy Grogan turned down tonight's match before Ray Foutts, Yarosz's manager, accepted it.

It will be Teddy's fiftieth start as a professional and here hoping he gets over that hurdle. This wouldn't be a very good time for a break in his record.

Between Rounds

Archie Meyers has completed his card for his reopening show in the Moose Temple Tuesday night. He has Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, and Tiger Joe West, local middleweight, in the 10-round windup; Roger Brooks, of Cleveland, and Tom [illegible], of Soho, doing a comeback, in the semi-final; Steve Smith, of Homestead, against Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, in the second bout, and Max [illegible], of the Hill, making his professional debut against Nick Russell, of Rochester, Pa., in the opener.

Bobby Brinkman boxes Sandy Campbell and Tony Quinto meets Glenn Gainer in six-round preliminaries to the Joey Thomas-Eddie Edelman match at Wheeling next Monday night. Jack Gibbs tackles Johnny Lightner and Cyclone Driscoll encounters Jimmy McMahon in four-rounders.

Jack Metz, Willow Club, of Lawrenceville, has the biggest team entry in its history in the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. junior boxing tournament to be held at the Keystone A. C. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Father James R. Cox and Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, will be in attendance at the amateur boxing show to be held in Aliquippa tomorrow night for the benefit of St. Titus Church. McCloskey's son will participate in one of the bouts.

Eddie Lord and Santiago Zorilla box in the Moose Hall, Cleveland, next Monday night.

Freddie [illegible], Kittanning boxer, who may be reached by calling Kittanning 2157-W, is handling Baby Kid Berry, Jackie Ruffner and Charley Donato and would like to match them for bouts at the local clubs.

Billy Lewis is making good as the referee of the college boxing shows here and has stepped into the front ranks of the amateur officials.

Robert J. Nelson, of Reading, just appointed, is the second Negro to serve as a member of the State Athletic Commission, Charles Fred White, of Philadelphia, having been a member of the original commission named in 1923. White was removed by Governor Pinchot for friction with the late William A. Rocap, the first chairman, who also was dismissed, the pair being replaced by Harry A. Farrell and Frank Wiener. Nelson now fills the vacancy caused when Wiener was dropped last June.

GROUP LEADS AT STAKE IN W.P.I.A.L.

By JULIUS LEVIN

With the leaders in both sections of the City League enjoying a well-earned day of rest, followers of scholastic basketball will have to turn to the W. P. I. A. L. ranks tonight for their feature attractions.

Topping the day's schedule are three engagements all involving sectional leadership.

First places in Section V, Section VI and Section VII will be at stake tonight when the undefeated leaders oppose each other on the floor.

OLD RIVALS CLASH

The Section V classic should prove an interesting duel with Charleroi, Steve Stepanian's passers, opposing Preston Ditty's Monessen quintet on the Monessen court. Monessen is leading the way in its section with five victories and no defeats, while Charleroi is right at its heels with four victories and no defeats.

Ford City and Leechburg, tied for first place in Section VI, each winning all of their three league encounters, clash at Leechburg. Ford City, which was a contestant in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations last season, appears to have another winner, but must pass tonight's barrier to remain in the running. Leechburg will give Neenie Campbell's quintet a tough argument.

Locally, the fans will turn their attention to the Munhall-Homestead duel at Homestead, a battle which gives the victor undisputed possession of first place in Section VII. Munhall, Dick Toline's combine, leads the way at present with three victories and no defeats, while Bill Campbell's passers have won two and lost none.

KEN HIGH FAVORITE

New Kensington, Carl Glock's smooth-working floor machine, tied with Har-Brac for first place in Section I, should have no trouble winning its fourth straight game as the Ken High passers engage Tarentum tonight. Tarentum is in last place, having dropped three straight games.

City League games this afternoon find Schenley at South, Westinghouse at Fifth Avenue and Peabody at Allderdice in Section I. Section II games find South Hills at Allegheny Vocational, Carrick at Oliver and Langley at Perry.

A victory for Fifth and Schenley will force the Section I fight into a three-way deadlock as Connelley Trade School is idle. Allegheny is assured of first place in Section II as it is the only undefeated team in the group, having won five straight league contests.

CENTRAL TITLE UNDECIDED

By TOM BIRKS

Now that the fans are convinced the Central League battle is still on, and that Clan Douglas as yet is not counted out of the championship fight, much interest will turn to the Douglas-German Sport game, scheduled for Westinghouse High School Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

When Westinghouse defeated the Clansmen last Saturday, the league statistician proclaimed Union Switch as "in," and the title appeared to be safely tucked away.

But this was an error, and the Clansmen probably will fight much harder to repeat. It probably depends upon the outcome of the Switch game, just where the championship will land this season.

Douglas should have little trouble beating the Germans, on past form, but in soccer anything may happen.

It seems everything is set for the Charity cup competition. The meeting of the other evening brought out an enthusiastic crowd.

The charity cup tourney is to begin February 27 or 28. The West Penn Referees' Association and West Penn Soccer-Football Association have put up a cup, and S. M. Park, 641 Griffin street, is accepting entries. The entrance fee is $1, and more than 40 teams are expected to enroll before the lists close February 6.

LOTT REACHES SEMI-FINALS

MONTREAL, Quebec, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Three United States players, headed by George Lott, advanced to the semi-final round of the Canadian covered courts tennis championship along with a lone Canadian, Marcel Rainville, of Montreal, yesterday.

Today Lott, the defending champion, will meet J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., while Rainville is tangling with Berkeley Bell, of New York.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Tony Marino defeated Marty Gold, 10 rounds; Davy Grove defeated Matty Oldach; Bobby Stewart defeated Young Bordell, 6 rounds; Chuck Zelnack defeated Bearcat Amos Jones, 6 rounds.

At Flint, Mich.—Battling Gizzy defeated Eddie (Cowboy) Anderson, 10 rounds; Johnny Mitchell knocked out Juan Cruz, 4 rounds; Frankie Donnelly defeated Jackie Russell, 8 rounds; Don McLeod defeated Eddie Felton, 8 rounds.

JACKETS LOSE IN OVERTIME BATTLE

By CARL W. SHATTO

A single point, representing one-half game, is all that separates the Yellow Jackets from the International Hockey League cellar today.

A defeat at the hands of the last-place Syracuse Stars, 5 to 4, in a thrilling overtime battle at Duquesne Garden last night is directly responsible for the local skaters' lowly status. The victory enabled the visitors to move up to within a point of Pittsburgh and Cleveland, tied for fifth and sixth places. Had the Reidmen won they would have been only one-half game out of third place, which indicates that the race is rather close and Pittsburgh chances not at all hopeless.

MILLER, ROMNES SHINE

The Jackets absorbed their setback after they twice had come from behind to tie the score in a bruising, weird battle in which both goalies were injured and in which each team "lucked" a goal. At the finish the fans were groggy from cheering, the players groggy from battling and Referee Traub groggy from arguing.

And at that, the dark clouds were not without their silver lining. Earl Miller was back in the lineup after being out for one game with a charleyhorse. He was shifted from center to left wing, and was teamed with Doc Romnes at pivot and Cliff Barton at right wing. This front line showed offensive strength that was little short of amazing and defensive strength that left nothing to be desired. Romnes bagged two goals, and his combination plays with Miller were things of beauty. Barton, because of his great speed, was able to back check in all parts of the arena.

Markle, Syracuse right wing, emerged the hero of the fray. Twice in the overtime period he caged the puck after being checked by the Jacket defense. Each time he was knocked off balance, but not off his feet, and each time he carried the puck on in to get off shots while standing in the Pittsburgh goal mouth.

HOWE SCORES FIRST

Howe, the Stars' aggressive center, opened the scoring at 6:54 in the first period by "lucking" a goal. He bounced the puck off Goalie Abbie Cox's chest, and when it hit the ice it bounced backward past Cox into the net.

Howe boosted the Stars' edge to two goals at 3:22 in the second period by scoring on an assist from Savage after Savage had been tripped by Matte, and after the referee had sounded his whistle to mete out a penalty. The Jackets protested the allowing of a goal after the whistle had sounded for some five minutes, but to no avail.

Whitey Fields cut one goal from the Syracuse lead by beating Goalie Grant after receiving a neat assist from Tory Gregg, and at 14:27 in the middle stanza Gordy Fraser knotted the count by bouncing the disc over the Star goalie's big stick from just inside the blue line.

While Markle stood in front of Cox to obstruct his view, Waite slammed a puck past the Jacket goalie to put the Stars back in the lead at 10:00 in the third period, but at 14:23 Romnes set the stage for the overtime by back-handing the rubber into the net on an assist from Fraser.

COX INJURED

Markle scored twice in the overtime before Romnes tallied Pittsburgh's last goal on a sparkling play in which Miller assisted.

Cox was injured in the second period when Howe's hot shot hit an unprotected portion of his knee. Goalie Grant suffered a sprained back when Miller crashed into him in the third stanza.

McBride was handed a major penalty when he knocked Miller unconscious in the second period. The local forward was not seriously injured, and resumed play after being revived. The lineup:

| Pittsburgh—4 | | Syracuse—5 |
|---|---|---|
| Cox | G | Grant |
| Matte | D | Hughes |
| Fraser | D | Teasdale |
| Fields | C | Palangio |
| Gregg | W | Clark |

| Score by periods | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburgh | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1—4 |
| Syracuse | 1 | 1 | 1 | 2—5 |

Spares—Pittsburgh: Romnes, Barton, Miller, Arbour, Rodden, Dunning, Berlett. Syracuse: Waite, Markle, Howe, Martin, Savage, Downie.

Scoring—First period: Howe (unassisted), 6:54. Second period: Howe (Savage), 3:22; Fields (Gregg), 4:35; Fraser (unassisted), 14:27. Third period: Waite (Markle), 10:00; Romnes (Fraser), 14:23. Overtime: Markle (Waite), 4:45; Markle (unassisted), 5:20; Romnes (Miller), 6:45.

Penalties—First period: Dunning, Palangio. Second period: McBride (major), Hughes, Savage, Teasdale, Barton. Third period: Clark, Miller, Downie, Fields. Overtime: None.

Referee—Traub.

TONY MARINO WINS OVER GOLD

Tony Marino, of McKeesport, scored another decisive victory last night in his home town, when, at the Palisades, he grabbed the unanimous decision over Marty Gold, of Philadelphia, in their 10-round main bout.

Although Marino was warned for low punches in the early rounds, he showed well in the closing stanzas and the decision was a popular one. Gold was staggered by a left hook in the sixth round and the Philadelphian's face carried a mark on it as a souvenir.

Marino was knocked to a sitting posture in the tenth round by the only solid punch Gold put over. He was on the canvas for only a moment with only a few seconds of the fight remaining. Marino weighed in at 115, and Gold tipped the scales at 118 pounds.

In the six-round semi-final contest, Davy Grove, of this city, who weighed 144½, won the verdict over Matty Oldach, of Erie, 144, in a close bout. The decision was split and was decided with the referee's vote. Although Oldach won the early rounds, Grove came back with thunder aplenty, staggering the Erie lad in the fifth and sixth stanzas.

Bobby Stewart, 134½, local Negro, who subbed for Charley Blozevich, easily defeated Young Bordell, 138¼, of New Kensington, in their six-rounder.

In the opening fracas Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, weighing 152¾, took the verdict from Bearcat Amos Jones, McKeesport Negro, in six rounds. It was the first professional fight for Jones.

WAGNER TO SPEAK

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 22.—Franklin's second annual American Legion baseball banquet will be celebrated Thursday of next week, with speeches by several league players, General Chairman Herbert Williams has announced. Joe Harris, of Franklin; Steve O'Neill, of Cleveland, and J. Honus Wagner, of Pittsburgh, are among those invited to attend.

HOME BARGAINS AT PRESENT PRICES SEEN

Expert Holds True Value Of Real Estate Above Market Exchange Rate

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Jan. 22.—Fortunate is the observer who re-discovers the rich resources of this golden state at a time when the market for everything is low. Driving along the coast and viewing magnificent homes which have depreciated sharply in value in the last two years, one wonders anew what is "value."

Mr. Rukeyser.

In the recent economic hysteria there has been a tendency to get away from first principles. When a man acquires an attractive villa for his family, does its value really depreciate when a wave of pessimism runs over the country? There has been too much loose thinking about value. Bankers, with the souls of pawnbrokers, have developed these misconceptions by regarding prevailing market quotations, however manipulated, as the sole criterion of value.

The value in exchange, it is true, of real estate, stocks and bonds, and of ships and shoes and sealing wax, has slumped enormously since the peak of the last boom, but the value in use of desirable property has held its own. There is an important practical bearing to this distinction. The slump in the value in exchange in real estate, for example, which is suffering from temporary lack of stability, means unprecedented buying opportunities for the person who is animated by a sense of value in use.

Buying at or near the bottom is relatively safe for all classes of buyers, but the purchaser guided by a sense of value in use minimizes the hazard. Unlike the trader, he is not speculating on the probability of getting better bids for property six months or a year hence. The demoralization of property values spells rich opportunities for permanent buyers who step in and take advantage of low prices.

Human values, such as courtesy and friendliness, never depreciate, in spite of bear activities at the market place. As the traveler crosses the Mississippi River, westbound, he observes a change in attitude toward the stranger. Out west, railroad conductors, porters and others regard each person as an individual, not as a unit, as in the more hurried East. And from coast to coast the traveler finds vastly more courtesy and consideration than he gets when exploiting his tourist dollars in foreign lands.

Forbes

Maybe You Are Very Much In His Position

By B. C. FORBES

AREN'T MANY of us—though not all of course—in a similar position to an important executive of a well-known company who in course of conversation told me:

Mr. Forbes

"I felt everything in the world was going against us. My salary was substantially cut. First one and then another of my children had serious trouble. One of my nearest and dearest died. The frightful drop in securities pretty well wiped out my rather large savings. Mainly because I tried to help out others.

"Misfortunes were coming so thick and fast they were 'getting' me. One night, finding I couldn't sleep, I got up, went downstairs, sat down and tried to think things out. I'll admit I was blue.

"Suddenly my wife appeared. Sitting down on the arm of my chair, she began to cheer me up, not by talking a lot of hooey, but by reminding me of a few simple but very important facts.

"'It was foolish,' she pointed out, 'to worry about the children; they would get better, all right. Yes, we certainly had had tough luck financially. But,' she impressed upon me, 'although the worst that has happened is that we are back almost where we were 10 years ago, you are earning, even after your cut, much more than you were earning then. Your earning capacity has certainly increased.

"'Your company has shown that it is well pleased with your work. We have never allowed our prosperity to make us extravagant. We still live modestly. We lived on very little longer than we have lived on more. So, come to bed, and realize that you and we have a great deal to be thankful for.'

"I realized that what my wife said was absolutely true. I there and then decided to devote myself enthusiastically and whole-heartedly to my work. Somehow my troubles no longer seem so very terrible. I have ceased fretting about my hard luck and am battling with real zest."

THIS MAN'S experience appealed to me. I had been flirting with the idea of writing an article, entitled "How It Feels to Be a Millionaire—and After."

Don't many of us make the mistake of recalling only how well off we were in 1928-1929? Don't we neglect to reflect where we were and just what we had, six, ten, or a dozen years ago?

Isn't it true that, despite all the trying experiences of the last two years, the majority of American families are better circumstanced today than they were 10 or 15 or 20 years ago?

How many of us, for example, then sported automobiles? How many of us had homes as well furnished as now? How many of us traveled half as much as we have done more recently? How many of us were then in a position to spend what we now spend on education?

Our national wealth has doubled and trebled and quadrupled. Wages have increased. Our standard of living has risen. Working hours have been shortened. Entertainment and recreation have entered more generously into our daily lives.

ISN'T IT TRUE that happiness or unhappiness, real wealth or real poverty, are very much a matter of how we feel mentally?

LET'S CEASE brooding and resolve determinedly to battle with stout heart and cheer-spreading countenance.

COTTON STEADY AT DECLINE

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 3 points on scattered selling, influenced by easier cables. March sold at 6.60.

There was a fair volume of business, but orders seemed to be pretty evenly divided and fluctuations were narrow with the market showing no particular feature during the first half hour.

After selling at 6.59 at the start, January rallied to 6.65, but the last sale of that position before the final expiration of the contracts at midday was 6.59. The general market was steady to firm late in the morning. Offerings were light and were readily absorbed. March advanced to 6.73 and July to 7.04, making net gains of about 1 to 3 points with the market steady at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 22.—Cotton: Spot in good demand but business moderate; prices 3 points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.07; good middling, 5.67; strict middling, 5.57; middling, 5.52; strict low middling, 5.42; low middling, 5.32; strict good ordinary, 5.12; good ordinary, 4.82. Receipts, 28,000 bales; American, 25,500. Futures closed quiet and steady: January, 5.22; March, 5.18; May, 5.16; July, 5.16; October, 5.18; December, 5.23; January, 5.24.

Stock Exchange Topics

Wall Street Watching Action of Wheat Market Closely

That action of wheat will be important in coming months is indicated by the close attention given grain markets by some of the most important operators in Wall street.

There is a feeling that if wheat can be kept steady to firm it will have considerable influence on the securities market. Several important professionals who have been active in the stock market for some time, first on the short side, and later in aiding during the recovery, are reported to have transferred most of their activities to the wheat market in the last few business days.

Buying in American Tobacco presumably has its basis chiefly in rumors current relative to the possibility that the usual extra dividend would be ordered on the common and B stock at next week's meeting. Such reports presumably were influenced by the action of the Ligget and Myers board in ordering the customary extra. American Tobacco's earnings will very likely show up well by comparison with results obtaining in 1930, but usually well-posted people are inclined to doubt the likelihood of any extra being voted at this time.

Commission houses did less business than in some time Wednesday. There was only a little outside buying while the selling during the forenoon was steady. The leading firms sold on balance. Professionals and floor traders did little until during the afternoon, when they were covering shorts actively. This buying more than offset the early selling from these operators.

Warm weather recently has affected general business considerably. Unseasonably warm temperatures in certain areas had a tendency to check further the trade in lines which should be moving now. Because of the delay in the disposition of winter goods and the fact that there has been no real incentive thus far to bring buyers into the market for these products, it is feared in some quarters that winter goods will move even more slowly from now on and merchants will carry over quite a stock when the spring season buying starts.

Comments continue to be heard regarding the small supply of stocks obtainable in the loan market. The premiums charged borrowers have not brought out many certificates, according to those who handle this end of the brokerage business. One explanation is that there has been so much comment regarding short selling that owners of the shares are not willing to lend them, for making deliveries against short contracts.

There are indications of a moderate speculative interest in sugar. This commodity was a leader on the decline several years ago and with the current price of futures unusually low, there are some who hope for a buying movement which could create more interest in the market. It is said that some professionals in sugar futures have been inclined to purchase the September and December options. Improvement in futures would help the sugar stocks.

Sloan Says Auto Prospects Are Very Good

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors Corporation, told President Hoover today that prospects for his company at present are very good.

Alvan MacCauley said the auto business as judged from results of the New York show, is splendid.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Familiar dullness prevailed on the curb market today. Trading was somewhat more active in the utility group, which showed a tendency to ease, but on the whole the price changes were inconclusive.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

RAILWAYS BUY LESS IN '31

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Railway purchases in 1931 were about 40 per cent less than during the previous year on the basis of a compilation by Railway Age.

The market supplied by the carriers for rail equipment, fuel, materials and supplies amounted to $863,000,000 as compared with $1,446,000,000 during the previous 12 months. The amount was only 59 per cent of the total bought during the banner year 1929 when $1,715,000,000 represented total purchases.

The publication declared that stocks of materials and supplies on hand at the year's end was the lowest since 1916, presaging a material increase in rail purchasing when an improvement in the carriers' financial position occurs.

LOANS DECLINE $32,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve Member Banks in New York City, decreased $32,000,000 during the week ended January 20, to $531,000,000, a new low record. This compares with $563,000,000 in the preceding week, and with the record high of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

McKeesport Tin Plate To Report High Rate Of Earnings for Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE McKEESPORT TIN Plate Company will publish one of the outstanding annual reports of industrial companies in this district. It was one of the few organizations to maintain its operations at a high rate during the greater part of 1931 and will show a relatively slight decline in its earnings.

Current operations are at about 50 per cent of capacity. The large can companies, principal consumers of tin plate, have not followed their usual policy of giving estimates of their yearly requirements to the tin plate makers. The real determining factor is always crop conditions during the months preceding the harvests of fruits and vegetables, but it is generally believed that plans will be made for a pack this year about equaling that of last year.

With can companies not making estimates of their requirements far in advance, it is probable that less tin plate will be made early in the year in anticipation of requirements and that production will be concentrated in the spring and summer months.

In the first half of 1931 the McKeesport Tin Plate Company earned $1,270,722, which was equivalent to $4.23 a share. This represented only a moderate decline from the corresponding period of 1930 when earnings reached $1,513,850 or $5.04 a share.

Decline in Earnings For Year to Be Small

IT IS GENERALLY expected that the results for the first half of the year will be representative of the profits to be reported for the full year. A high-record profit of $2,502,897, or $8.35 a share, was established in 1930. This compared with $2,402,201, or $8.01 a share, in 1929, and with $1,587,919, or $5.29 a share, in 1928. Earnings for 1931 are unlikely to reach the levels of 1929 and 1930, but they may be expected to exceed 1928.

The stock is on a $4 annual dividend basis. Dividends at the regular rate for a full year were earned, with some margin to spare, in the first six months.

Directors discontinued the quarterly payment of extra dividends of 50 cents a share last summer when it became apparent that some recession in volume would take place as a result of the reduced packs of fruits and vegetables. The maintenance of earnings at a rate in excess of regular dividends indicates that the present dividend rate is safe.

Market for Tin Plate Showing Stability

TIN PLATE HAS been the most stable product of the entire steel industry. In 1930 production was not far from record levels, while in 1931 the recession was comparatively slight. It has not been subject to price cutting tactics as have other products. Reductions of 25 cents a base box were announced at the close of 1930 and 1931, but these merely reflected the lower costs of semi-finished steel and pig tin, the two raw materials of tin plate manufacture.

The company has no funded debt or preferred stock. The issue of 300,000 shares of no par common stock constitutes the only capital liability.

Its production of tin plate is confined at a single large plant near McKeesport. It also engages in the production of cans through a subsidiary, the Metal Package Corporation. Recently this organization purchased a plant in Chicago. It also has a plant in Hamilton, Ontario, bought in 1930, and plants in New York and Baltimore.

MARKET EASES IN NARROW TRADING

Some Rails Sell Up 1 to 2 Points, but Later Lose Gains; Many Show Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The stock market found the downward course somewhat the easier today, but seemed disinclined to move far in either direction.

With the remedial projects such as the reconstruction measure apparently well discounted by the market, and the volume of general business still showing but slight seasonal expansion, stock traders found little inspiration. The market was sluggish. A morning upturn in the rails was short lived and the list generally sagged after mid-day.

Some of the rails sold up 1 to 2 points, and Missouri Pacific preferred got up nearly 4, but these advances were mostly lost. Later, Norfolk and Wester nand Delaware and Hudson recorded losses of 3 points, and declines of 1 to 2 were numerous, embracing such issues as United States Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Du Pont, General Motors, American Tobacco "B," Liggett & Myers "B," American Can, Case, Standard of New Jersey, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, Sears, Bethlehem and Borden.

Some traders were said to be turning to the view that final approval of the reconstruction measure, and settlement of the railway wage controversy, would result in more "selling on the good news" than new buying. Long anticipated favorable developments frequently bring a rush to take profits, on the theory that with the good news finally out, no further upward stimulus can be expected from those quarters. These traders, therefore, were inclined to feel that fresh news of a favorable character would be needed within the next few days to extend the market's recent advance.

Some quarters were inclined to view as unfavorable to the market, the bill introduced in Congress by Senator Glass, which proposes, among other things, to restrict stock market credit. Nevertheless, certain important banking quarters are wholly in accord with the principle that measures should be taken to prevent any repetition of the speculative orgy of 1929, and the brokerage loan tabulation continues to show how little the supply of credit is affecting the current market. Today's weekly tabulation showed a decline of $32,000,000 in brokers' loans, the twentieth successive weekly decline.

WHEAT PRICES TAKE DROP

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Big export shipments of wheat from southern hemisphere sources led to early lower prices today for grains. An easier tone in securities was also a bearish factor. Opening unchanged to ¼ lower, wheat afterward sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to ⅜ off and subsequently showed a general setback.

With Buenos Aires wheat quotations at a new low record for the season and 4 to 5 cents a bushel under the level at this time last year, bears gave special emphasis to word that Argentine and Australia combined exports of wheat this week totaled 11,521,000 bushels. This aggregate compared with 6,100,000 a year ago. Little attention was given to the fact that Australian wheat exports were largely to the Orient.

LOCAL MARKET CONTINUES QUIET

Traders Standing Aside As Outside Interest in Stock Dealings Wanes

Trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today continued to reflect the almost complete absence of public interest in that market. Only one transaction appeared on the board during the first half hour—a sale of 100 shares Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt at 3⅜, the first trade in the issue since last Monday. The price represented the smallest fractional decline from the last previous figure.

The "big board" dealings were hesitant during the early market, with prices inclined to sag slightly from last night's finals. The slack trading in the New York market had the effect of further curtailing interest in the stocks here. Mesta Machine dropped a point to a new low when it came on the market around the noon hour, but the rest of the list remained dull and narrow.

NEW INSURANCE SALES DROP

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The largest amount of new life insurance written in the past 18 months was credited to December, in a report by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

The statement showed new business of the companies during December, 1931, was $1,117,187,000 compared with $1,112,173,000 in December, 1930.

The total new business of the companies for 1931 was $11,085,003,000 against $12,460,977,000 in 1930, a decrease of 11 per cent.

The reporting companies showed the total of all life insurance carried by them to be $89,833,462,000 on December 31, 1931, a net increase of insurance in force for the year of $1,059,325,000, or 1.2 per cent.

UTILITY GETS BANK AID

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Successful efforts of American Commonwealths Power Corporation receivers to enlist co-operation of creditors gave added hope today that final reorganization might be effected without loss to the company of its important operating subsidiaries.

Chase National Bank has agreed to carry a secured note of the American Community Power Company, a subsidiary, in order to give the receivers more time to perfect their reorganization.

The United States and Foreign Securities Corporation has retained an interest in the reorganization by purchasing the American Gas and Power Company from A. F. Fitkin, who on Wednesday bought a controlling interest in that company.

Fitkin has given a one-year option to the company's receivers which will permit recapture of control of American Gas and Power from him at a cost "considerably below" $1,000,000.

American Commonwealths Power Corporation could be re-established as a $220,000,000 enterprise at a maximum charge of $6,000,000 necessary for fresh working capital and other current needs, it was estimated.

EUROPE SEES U. S. REVIVAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the Bank for International Settlements, stated that no one worries about the future of America because the world is confident that it will lead the way to recovery. Although refusing to comment on European affairs or the policy of the Bank for International Settlements, Mr. McGarrah was definite in his conviction that the United States was showing signs of returning confidence.

Mr. McGarrah's visit at this time is unofficial and he expects to remain only for a short period.

Money Circulation Billion Above 1931

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Money in circulation has again reached a level of more than a billion dollars in excess of the same time last year.

Outside of the treasury and the Federal Reserve banks, circulation for the week ending January 20 was announced today $5,613,000,000, an increase of $1,020,000,000 over last year. During the week the decrease was but $6,000,000, indicating a slower return of money.

Normally there is a heavy decrease in circulation of about $300,000,000 in money circulation after Christmas buying.

Grain Speculation Favored by Harris

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Speculation in grain was described to a House committee today as essential to insurance against losses.

Siebel Harris, of the grain committee on national affairs of the Chicago Board of Trade, in outlining the grain trade's reasons for opposing restrictions on short selling, told the Agriculture Committee "hedging won't work where there is no short selling."

Chief of Police Orders His Brother's Arrest on Murder Charge

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett with screen play by John L. Mahin; produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

Synopsis

Jim Fitzpatrick, police captain, noted for his honesty, succeeds in having Daisy Beaumont freed after she is arrested on a false charge. Four racketeers are found murdered and Fitzpatrick suspects Guiseppe Belmonte, overlord of a huge vice ring. Belmonte is arrested by Fitzpatrick, but is soon released. Ed Fitzpatrick, sergeant of the vice squad, promises to help his brother Jim to bring Belmonte to justice. They discover that Daisy is employed by the vice leader. Ed admires Daisy and visits her. Belmonte plans revenge on Jim with Daisy's help. Ed is detailed to guard a fortune in gold bullion being transferred from a bank. Becoming drunk, he plans to steal it himself and reveals his plans to Mike Cholo. The next day the gold is stolen and Lieut. Makowsky is killed while chasing the robbers. Two of the bandits are arrested and tell Jim that Ed planned the robbery.

Now Go On

CHAPTER XIV.

Fightin' Jim Fitzpatrick sat at his desk, his face chalky, haggard and drawn. Routine orders were piled in front of him and now and then he fingered them and looked at them, and then he pushed them aside. The door opened and Ed came in.

"Did you want to see me, Jim?" he asked. "I just got out of the hospital—I got a neat little tap on the bean, but I'm all right——"

Jim got up stiffly and looked at his brother. His gaze was cold and grim. Ed winced, shuffled toward the desk and drew out a package of cigarets. There was a discolored welt on his forehead and his right eye was black.

"What do you want, Jim? you look worried," continued Ed, lighting his cigaret.

For a moment Jim could not talk. His gaze was full of cold pity and he swallowed hard.

"Ed," he said huskily, "You've got blood on your hands—the blood of one of the best detectives on the force—and—and a little innocent girl."

Ed raised his eyebrows in surprise and tried to grin.

"What's the matter, Jim?" he asked. "What are you talking about? Could I help it when that mugg cracked me over the skonce. I was standing there and—"

"Cut the hooey, Ed," hoarsed Jim. "This thing's too serious. You've murdered a man and a child and—"

"You must be crazy—what are you raving about, man?"

ORDERS BROTHER'S ARREST

Jim walked up and grabbed him roughly by the shoulders and shook him.

"I'm not crazy—I've got the confessions right here," he said in a hollow tone. "Those two fellows told me everything—how you framed the deal in Daisy Beaumont's place, how you——"

"Get away, Jim!" cried Ed, wrenching himself loose. "I can't talk to a loon like you—what's the word of two crooks who are sayin' anything to save their lousy lives?"

"But everything jibes—it all tallies up—and you've got to take your medicine."

"What the hell are you screaming about?—where are the confessions?—let me talk to those two hoodlums—what's the matter with you?——"

"You planned that stick-up and there's no use hedging now," ruled Jim grimly as he sat down at his desk again. His hand felt for the buzzer.

Ed was waving his arms and protesting.

"What do you mean?—I couldn't help what came off—I—It was a nutty idea in the first place—I was put on a spot for a wild experiment, an'——"

Just then the door opened and Tom came in. Jim waved toward Ed.

"Arrest him and book him for the murder of Lieut. Makowsky and Mary Ryan," he commanded, tears welling in his eyes.

"Why you—why you can't do this, Jim." Ed's tone was a whimper now.

Jim leaped up and walked over to him. Tom already had Ed by the arm. Jim threw back Ed's coat and grabbed his brother's badge and ripped it off. He flung it in a corner.

"Why you—you're a hell of a brother, you are!" cried Ed.

"Take him out, Tom—take him out of my sight—to think that he's flesh and blood of mine—take him out—OUT!"

* * *

Guiseppe Belmonte sat in front of the window of his hunting lodge 50 miles from the Big Burg. He had discreetly retired there after the murder of Lieut. Makowsky and little Mary Ryan. Cholo was there, too. And so was Michaels, the weazened and weasel-eyed attorney.

From Belmonte's window he could look out onto a little landlocked lake and in the center of the lake was a miniature lighthouse. Innocent enough was the winking of this little beacon light at night, but its vacillations were controlled from the gatekeeper's house and it flashed out signals of warning—when danger appeared.

"I'll take care of the witnesses," slowly mused Belmonte, crossing his hands comfortably over his ample abdomen. "I'd just as soon see those two muzzlers smoke—but I've got a big idea."

"Yes, yes," said the attorney, urging him on.

WANTS ED FREED

"This Jim Fitzpatrick guy thinks he's such a big boloney," continued Belmonte. "I just want to show him an' show him up. I want to get his brother free. Jus' becus he's a cop wit' a star pinned on his heart an' wants to send his own brother to the chair I'll show him he can't—becus I—Belmonte—says so."

"Funny idea that, but you're the boss," chuckled Michaels.

"Well, what do you think o' the chances?" asked Belmonte, turning his cow-like eyes toward the attorney.

"H-m-m-m-m. Well, the chances look pretty thin to me. They've got these fumble-fingered fish cold—"

"I don' care how much it costs. I wanna show this town who's boss. I said I'd take care o' the witnesses. When I get t'rough you won' find a person who can identify these men. An' you know, too, them confessions don' mean a thing. One against the other—offset—an' nobody'd believe any of 'em, anyways."

"Oh, as far as the two muggs are concerned, it won't be so hard—but I'm talking about Fitzpatrick—that won't be so easy," insisted the attorney, twiddling his fingers. "They both agree on his end of it."

"Well, I'm tellin' you I want him sprung," continued Belmonte. "And I want the whole world to know that Guiseppe Belmonte did the job. It'll make a monkey outta that super-copper. An' when I get t'rough wit' this I'm got some other schemes for him. He's out to break me, huh? Where's Cholo?"

Had he taken the trouble to turn in his seat he would have seen Cholo passing nervously as a cat back and forth at the other end of the room. Cholo came forward.

"You work with Michaels," said Belmonte, with an imperious gesture.

"Anything you say," muttered Cholo.

"You go into the city tonight."

"Say!" exclaimed Cholo, "you don' want me to go in there—you know they'll pick me up—"

"You go in!" snapped Belmonte with a tone of finality.

Cholo said nothing.

"You look up them witnesses—and you know what to have the boys do to them—an' how to say it—see?"

"Okay—I see."

"And you, Michaels, stall as long as you can," continued Belmonte. "When you get the jury picked jus' let me have the list o' names an' addresses—I'll handle the rest. You don' happen to know what judge'll hear the case, do you?"

"No, but it'll probably be Hand-on-my-heart Doyle."

"H-m-m-m, Doyle. He's a bad boy—churchy an' silly, well—you get your private detective agency busy an' dig out everything you can about him—from the cradle up. Have him watched an' trailed from now on. Think you might slip him dough?"

"Not a chance."

"Oh, every man's got his price. I tell you I don' care what it costs. I want Ed Fitzpatrick sprung. An' them pure boys usually ain't bulletproof."

"Well, you know me—I'll do everything I can."

"You'll do everyting." And Belmonte turned his sad eyes on him. And Michaels bowed. And Cholo sighed.

* * *

Daisy Beaumont, in her bed, brushed aside the proffered cup of broth. Her platinum hair was wild.

"No—no—I can't eat nothin'!" she cried. "I don' feel hungry. Take it away. Lemme die!"

"But you've got to eat something, Daisy—you haven't eaten for two days now—just try a little bit—one sip," insisted Kiki Edwards, pushing the cup toward her again, solicitously.

"No—No—I'm too damn miserable," whimpered Daisy, rubbing her eyes, red and swollen from weeping. "I—I can't do a thing but think of Ed—the mess he's in—and me gettin' him there. I'm crazy about him—I love him—I love him—"

"I know—I know—"

Daisy sat up in bed.

"You don't know!" she exclaimed with vehemence. "You don't know how much I love him. I wanted him to get enough dough so's we could go away together and now what am I goin' to do?—what am I goin' to do?" A widow without a home. An' there's gonna be a—oh, my God! The man who saved me, a stranger, crucifies my man, his brother! Oh, my God, have mercy!"

"Take a sip of broth," persisted Kiki. "It'll do you good, honey."

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

ONE OF THE biggest kicks you can get out of this particular job is watching the manner in which the various Broadway boys and girls can change overnight. A wild man among the ladies, for example, will suddenly fall for the right one—and will look with disgust upon the men who acted just as he did a few weeks previously. It seldom fails,

The same thing applies to columnists, radio stars and stage performers who achieve a small measure of fame in a short time. It is more than amusing to watch the small time ham who was given the right play through a lucky break and scored a hit. Before anyone realizes what has happened, the ham is sitting around and giving plenty of advice to others. As far as he is concerned, George M. Cohan is a novice and Al Jolson never did amount to much.

I suppose all this is merely natural, but somehow or other I can't take it that way. When I hear such large conversations from such small minds, I am tempted to laugh aloud. Sometimes I do. But the ham doesn't object because he figures I am laughing at something he said. Which is true, but in a different sense from the manner in which he figures it.

All of which, to get back to my first paragraph, leads me into something that happened the other day and which gave me my biggest wallop in many a moon. A certain broker in this town fell in love with a showgirl about a year or so ago. Formerly a roue of the worst type, he suddenly developed a virtue complex that hasn't been equaled since Mrs. Thomas Whiffen rode around in a baby carriage.

No matter when he meets you, he immediately begins to extol the great qualities of the showgirl with whom he is in love. It makes no difference whether she is with him or not. He goes along in the same strain just the same.

Meeting him in a restaurant last Tuesday night with the girl, he began on his favorite topic:

"Now you take my Margie, here. She's different. So different that I can't begin to compare her with anyone. I've been around just as much as you have. Maybe a lot more. And I want to tell you that there isn't a man in this town who can point a finger at her.

"When I found her, a year ago, she was working in an undraped revue," he went on, "but would she go on the stage like those other dames? I should say not. Margie's different. She has decency in every inch of her make-up.

"Margie goes with me only to the best places. I let her mingle only with the best of company. Only the very best people see her. Nobody in this town can point a finger at her."

Margie had not said one word during the entire speech. Neither had I. As soon as I could get a word in edgewise I bade him good night and hurriedly left his table.

Early the next morning I wound up in one of the worst speakeasy dives I have ever seen. It was in the West Fifties, and if you ever saw a sweet spot for a murder, this was it.

A few broken tables and chairs. Around the walls were pictures of what photographic fakers like to call "art studies."

I had been lured there on the promise that I might be able to dig up a good human interest story. One look at the place convinced me that there was nothing here for me. But the bartender called me back.

"I'm glad to have meeten you, Mr. Hellinger," he croaked. "Got a nice little place here, ain't we? How do you like the art gallery?"

He winked suggestively and pointed to a picture above the cash register.

"Looka that baby up there," he muttered. "Ain't she the prize, though? I put her in that spot 'cause all the other customers like to look at her."

I looked up—and almost fell over. It was an undraped picture of Margie, the broker's sweetheart, who is seen only by the best people. . . .

* * *

EVERY TIME AN office boy is hired in a newspaper office, the kid is in for a hazing by his fellow workers. The head copy boy generally sends the new boy all over the building in search of type lice, pink ink and all sorts of heavy and impossible contraptions. If you ever enter a newspaper office and see a young lad lugging heavy slugs of metal around the place you can be pretty sure he's new on the job.

George Clarke remembers one boy who was hired by a Western newspaper. This boy went through the usual routine the first day. And, as he saw the grinning faces around him, it began to dawn upon him that he was being kidded. He had walked four miles around the building in search of pink ink. And, doggone it, that sounded silly in the first place.

Suddenly the managing editor emerged from his office. He was in search of a "bulldog," which is newspaperese for an early edition.

"Boy," cried the editor to the new kid. "Get me a 'bulldog.'"

The boy rose to his feet and snapped his fingers under the editor's nose.

"You an' your paper can both go to the devil," said the boy. "Who do you think you're kidding?"

And he walked out of the office, never to return . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

Members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club look forward to Saturday as the one big party of the week.

By going to their neighborhood theater at the time stated on the schedule herewith, they not only see the feature picture and program current at the theater, but may take part in the meeting of the Junior Komic Club. Children wishing to join the club may obtain an application blank from the manager of the theater. When this is properly filled out, they will receive their cards and buttons.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

Special programs have been arranged for all chapter meetings tomorrow, and names of the members who take part in the Club Revue will be published in this column early next week. If you can sing, dance, play an instrument, or give readings, and would like to appear on the stage of your neighborhood theater, see the manager of the theater. He will be glad to put you on the list.

Since the announcement that letters from club members would be published in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, stacks and stacks of mail have come in. The secretary has been kept busy opening and reading all the letters. If we published all the really good ones, we would have to omit the Komics! So we have made a selection, and a few of the best will appear in the Club News column Sunday.

Let's get acquainted through the mail!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Life's Gift of Song

Life has given me only this:
Song's ephemeral, keen bliss.
Joyous is the crystal note
From the nesting robin's throat.
Poignant is the flute's refrain,
Soft and sweet the falling rain.

Life decreed that I should find
Voices in the flowing wind,
Every tone of wind and sea
Eloquent with melody,
Till each hour runs along
To the changing moods of song.

Fame is dear, perhaps, and gold;
Yet more dear than these I hold
Song, forever new and sweet;
Song elusive, very fleet
Who would ask for more than this,
Song's ephemeral, keen bliss?

The Fair Rate Fight

New Organization Will Seek Relief from Exorbitant Charges in the Most Practical Way—At the Polls

The Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association, formed here by representatives of 32 municipalities, has decided to seek relief from exorbitant public utility charges in the most practical way—through the election of members of the Legislature and other public officials who will enact and enforce remedial laws.

It appears futile to seek redress from the Public Service Commission as now constituted.

The policy of that body to allow the Pittsburgh Railways Company to monopolize bus service in Pittsburgh and to charge 25 cents for a ride that would cost only 10 cents elsewhere was in effect reaffirmed only a few days ago when it granted the company the exclusive right to run busses to Bettis Field.

The public will look in vain for protection from excessive rates from a commission which allows the people of Pittsburgh to be mulcted in such a way.

The remedy lies in the enactment of legislation which will require the Public Service Commission, or any body that may be substituted for it, to put the welfare of the people above the interests of the utilities.

The cure for the 25 cent bus fare lies, as one of the speakers at the meeting of Wednesday night said, at the polls.

The new association's objects, as outlined in its constitution, include public ownership of utilities and taxation of utilities' property which is now tax-exempt.

If this program should be carried through, the utilities will have no one but themselves to blame.

It is their rapacity that has aroused the indignation of their Pennsylvania customers.

New Drive for Trouble

Internationalists Demand U. S. Join League and Engage In All Broils Menacing Peace Abroad.

With the support of George W. Wickersham and other Hoover internationalists, the League of Nations Association has launched a new drive to entangle the United States in every political broil that threatens the peace of Europe, Asia or Africa.

Resolutions adopted at the Philadelphia convention of this bi-partisan organization of internationalists fix three objectives for their new drive to scrap the advice and counsel and warnings of George Washington and junk the major policies he enunciated in the farewell address.

These three objects are:

1. To undermine the "common defense" of the United States by accepting European budgetry limitation for what is left of America's armed forces afield and afloat.
2. To accept full membership for the United States in the League of Nations, including unconditional membership in the League Court and unrestricted participation in the league bank.
3. To cancel more of Europe's war debts to this country by the Hoover method of "revision, readjustment and reduction."

Opposition to this program is denounced by Mr. Wickersham as "unpatriotic" and another Hoover internationalist, Charles P. Taft, of Ohio, calls for "an aggressive campaign" to carry this program out.

All three objectives of this drive of the internationalists toward political entanglements with the old world VIOLATE THE CAMPAIGN PLEDGES UPON WHICH THE HOOVER ADMINISTRATION WAS ELECTED IN 1928.

Yet the Hoover administration appears to be aiding and abetting the efforts of its internationalist supporters to reduce its campaign pledges to so many scraps of paper.

By secretly instructing its delegates to the Geneva conference to abandon this government's opposition to Europe's proposal for budgetary limitation of American armaments, the Hoover administration paves the way for halting the upbuilding of our Army and Navy and air force to adequate strength.

By accepting without authority provisional membership in the League of Nations, the Hoover administration encourages its internationalist supporters to revive their demand for full membership in the league and all its works.

By offering to Europe a one-year moratorium on its war debts, and calling upon Congress to renew negotiations for further reduction of these obligations, the Hoover administration suggests to its internationalist supporters to demand cancellation by "revision, readjustment and reduction."

How can the American people be expected to retain any confidence in an administration at Washington that publicly pledges support to the traditional policies of the United States set forth in Washington's farewell address and secretly strives to send those policies one and all to the scrap heap?

The Automobile Show

Everyone Should See the New Motor Cars, If Only for Educational Reasons

Pittsburgh's annual automobile show opens tomorrow in Motor Square Garden, and if the experience of other cities is repeated the attendance and the sales will be considerably larger than last year.

It is not necessary to search for the reason for the increase in public interest. It obviously lies in the remarkable improvements that have been made in the latest models of automobiles—and in the remarkable prices as well.

Motor cars have attained a degree of mechanical perfection and riding comfort that will not soon be surpassed. The machines of a few years ago that sold for two or three times as much as a good car can now be bought for were inferior in almost every respect.

Everyone should visit the Automobile Show, even if there is no intention of buying a car at this time. One should see the new models if only to improve one's education.

The Street Car Crash

Pittsburgh Railways Company Should See That Its Motormen Obey Traffic Signals

The street car crash at Third avenue and Smithfield street, in which 13 persons were injured, appears to have been caused by both motormen moving their cars on the warning amber traffic light. That is the testimony of at least one witness. The experience of the most casual observer makes such testimony easily believable.

It is a common sight to see street cars at a standstill move forward on the amber light just before the red stop warning flashes, and be no farther than the crosswalk when the danger signal is visible. It is the rule rather than the exception for street cars to begin movement on the amber light just before it turns to green.

If the Pittsburgh Railways Company sets its men such a fast schedule that they must resort to these dangerous violations of traffic lights, the company must bear direct blame. If the fault lies with individual motormen, the company should issue and enforce orders against the practice.

"Nize Baby"

By Dry apologists we're told
That prohibition isn't old
Enough to be denounced as wild,
But still is just a growing child!

And sawed-off shotguns, too, look bad
As playthings for a little lad.

A woman is always happiest when she is sacrificing herself for a man—and complaining about it.

Before a woman gives her support to a political candidate, she insists on knowing what his policies are. But she will elect a man to a life-term as Husband, just because he has good shoulders, misty blue eyes and a cute red roadster.

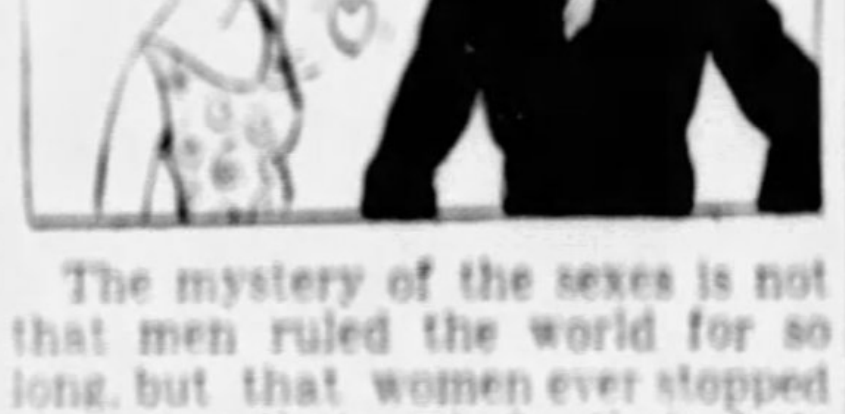
The great matrimonial problem for lots of young couples, these days, is to decide whose parents they are going to live on.



The mystery of the sexes is not that men ruled the world for so long, but that women ever stopped changing their minds, their hats and their styles, long enough to get the vote and economic equality.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Thoughts while strolling: The Lexington avenue entrance of the Chrysler Building suggests a black coffin upside down. What became of eye salves? Broadway's "two bit" cabaret. Raymond Hitchcock was the first actor to brush his hair in the Will Rogers manner.

The vaudevillians around the Hotel Van Cortlandt. Which Wilson Mizner used to run. And where the "Gin Buck" was invented. That gang of old timers who gather nightly at the Broadway and Fiftieth n. e. corner. And that sidewalk spray of perfume near Nat Lewis' shop.

Channing Pollock, a Washington, D. C. boy, who made good in the city. One-word description of Jimmy Durante—cyclonic. The crimson glow of a winter twilight. No new electric White Way signs. Jack Kennedy has the biggest freckles on Broadway. Another of my favorite people—Bill Hamilton.

Lew Fields' daughter Dorothy. Precise old clubmen who make Sunday calls and write testy open letters to the Park Commissioner. And the old Delmonico waiter who drives an avenue Victoria. They say Ernest Hemingway is to reside in New York permanently. What's become of the trick bicyclist—Joe Jackson?

The former Winter Garden beauty with a ghastly face scar. Joy ride and a fling through the windshield. Now a hat checker. Broadway! Something substantial about the name Phillip. Russ King, the cartoonist. The avenue's best dressed clerk—Albert Mander. Tallulah Bankhead looks a bit wan.

I never heard Renee Adoree's name pronounced. That Roaring Forty crowd in front of the Somerset. And Pa and Ma Gerson's theatrical eatery hard by. Purseless clowns of the curb. And now and then a strutting midget Thespian. The musty dignity of Helen Gould Shepard's home.

Names such as Mrs. Belloc-Lowndes and D. B. Wyndham Lewis stick in my memory. But I cannot remember my own phone number. The blue white of Pierre's against night. Like moonlight on snow. Central Park South, another Rialto with strollers from its theatrical hotels. And Leo Carillo returns to town from Hollywood with a monocle, deah! deah!

* * *

The first of Park Row's reporters to tinge Broadway with romantic abadaba passes with the demise of gifted Charlie Somerville in a Harlem hospital, coming to his earthly end a little abandoned and without funds. He was the first journalist to swing a cane and in his hey day was welcomed in all the bars, cafes and theater lobbies. After quitting The World, he wrote fiction for magazines and was rarely seen on the street he helped to beglamour.

* * *

Another metropolitan metamorphosis from real life: She came from a Western town. A few weeks in second rate musicals and a midnight Connecticut marriage to a broker's clerk. Housekeeping in a Bronx walk-up, a baby, divorce. A cigaret girl in a night club and an engagement in a revue. Marriage to a wealthy lawyer. An apartment on the avenue, jewels, limousines and trips to Europe. A newspaper scandal linking her with a leading man. Finale: Saleswoman in a shabby gown shop in a side street. Then, too, there is the famous Winter Garden beauty now selling cigarets at The Royal Box.

* * *

Tragic bankruptcy sign on upper Broadway: "After 35 years of fair and faithful service—now closing our hospitable doors for evermore."

* * *

Maybe Heywood Broun's experience has slowed up response to autograph seekers. Broun scribbled his name on an extended pad upon leaving a theater. His returned checks for the month included one expertly forged for $500.

* * *

A "speak" in the Snooty Sixties is as French as a bistro in Montmartre's rue Leipic. The waiters profess not to understand English. This gives one-trippers a chance to try out their Gallic vocabulary before friends.

* * *

A slightly bleary youth yelled: "Garcon, encore la Bacardi pour monsieur et une fin pour madam." And as the waiter turned away, yelled: "And tout it your snappiest, sweetheart."

* * *

And there was the teetering platinum blonde at the bar, who holding aloft an aperitif, cried: "Here's to life—whatever the hell it is!"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Do you get mad at people? Hurt at their neglect? Peeved because they don't agree with you? Yes? Then here's a letter for you, whether you're 16 or 60.

It is the letter of a very young girl. Reading it, you'll laugh, or perhaps choke, at the sudden memory of your own young rage. Those days when you wisht-you-could-die-an'-they'd-find-you-lying-cold-n'-still-then-maybe-they'd-be-sorry. Those long ago days—or are they so long ago? Aren't you still sharing little Polly's problem?

Dear Miss Elsie:

I guess there never was such a wicked, ungrateful girl as I. I have a nice home and everything a girl should want and yet I just can't get along with my family.

The trouble is, they all clash with my ideas. There is seldom a day that I don't quarrel with my sister and I am openly disrespectful to my father. I even quarrel with my mother who has always been so kind to me.

I don't know what terrible thing has come over me. I just go into regular tantrums and throw things. When my sister acts indifferent to me, I go to pieces. Then of course I am very sorry. But still I feel that I am not entirely to blame.

Why do they not show me more consideration? Even if I am only in my teens, I think I deserve consideration. And why do they always blame things on me, no matter what happens? I am always getting blamed and naturally it makes me ugly. I am getting so discouraged I am apt to do something desperate. Please help me. What ails me?

POLLY

What ails you? Nothing, honey. You're just human, that's all. Of course you are a very young person, and part of your trouble is due to your youth. But the unpleasant truth is that you'll never be very much different inside. You'll always want more consideration than you're getting. You'll always feel that everyone is blaming you for everything. You'll always have tantrums and want to throw things.

Do I mean to say that EVERYONE feels that way? Your father? Your mother? All these cool, controlled grownups who seem so far removed from your hot, bewildered young life?

Yes, that's exactly what I mean to say. No one is ever truly grown-up, inside. We're all Pollys—little girl. We're all at odds with other folks . . . and no matter how exalted our status or glorious our career, we spend most of our time just trying to get along with other people. And usually failing.

But isn't there a cure?

No, Polly, there is no complete cure for human cussedness. But you'll help yourself a lot if you'll realize that the other fellow is just as cussed as you are and has just as much right to express his cussedness. You and your feelings seem very important to you . . . but they are no more important, nor rare, nor precious, that the feelings of the girl at the next desk or the boy in the next house. Everyone feels lonely and misunderstood. Everyone feels "burnt up" when some one clashes with their opinions. And there's only one way to forget your own peeve, or heal your own hurt.

AND THAT IS, TO REMEMBER THE OTHER FELLOW'S.

And that rule goes for always, little girl. It will solve all your young anger and bewilderment and humiliation . . . it will stand by you through every agony and every trouble that may come in the future years. Everything that you are . . . every thing that happens to you . . . is all of a piece with the rest of human life. If you can remember that and act on that, you'll never again have trouble in Getting Along With Folks.

New Slant on Business And Government

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The American people, perhaps that portion of the people "one never meets" unless in days of battle when they become "heroes," are waiting with keen interest the naming of the successor of Justice Holmes. In the speculation of the press we are hearing less about the choice of a thorough liberal on economic and social questions.

Geography and politics are entering now as the important things. And the big thing involved in the choice of the successor of Holmes has nothing to do with geography or politics. I would a million times rather see a liberal Republican named than a reactionary Democrat.

The public is interested in learning whether the resignation of a great liberal is to be taken as an opportunity to rid the Supreme Bench of liberalism altogether. There are ill-natured people who are convinced that nothing but a reactionary with no human sympathies or humane outlook on the social and economic problems that find their way to the court can be expected from President Hoover. He has an opportunity to disprove that very prevalent opinion.

Government Interferes With Business

We hear much these days about there being a complete separation between government and business, and many bitter complaints because government interferes with business. It does. Government has certain rules regarding banking designed to protect the interest of the public, and about railroads to protect the public there, and about monopoly to prevent the wholesale robbing of the people.

And any government that would not interest itself in these things would not be fit to live.

But it appears that those who talk the loudest against government and business having any connection are most anxious for government actively, and through political action, to serve the ends of business.

Just now the people are interested in knowing to what extent some business has used government for the fleecing of the people.

Plain Truth Will Serve

When the American government was warned against the proposed Peruvian loan, by an official of the government whose business was to tell the truth, that the loan would be "defaulted within five years," and the investors in the bonds would "be lucky to collect 10 cents on the dollar," the government at Washington, through the department of which Mr. Hoover was the head, rebuked the honesty of this minor official and instructed him that he was expected to send in "optimistic reports."

That, we submit to any decent mind, is a shocking thing.

It made the government an active agent in the defrauding of the American investors. Plain truth will serve.

And government appears to have entered into business at the behest of Business in the case of the Colombian loan. The connection there between the making of a loan and the restoration by the government of Colombia of oil concessions to the two most powerful financial groups in America is most intriguing.

The President of Colombia said that Mr. Mellon, whose family group was interested in the oil concession, gave him the impression that the loan desired hinged upon the restoration of the concession. It appears that the oil concession was restored; and that the President of Colombia gave our minister to understand immediately afterward that because of the restoration of the concession he expected the loan.

That appears in correspondence or dispatches between the minister and the State Department—which Mr. Stimson wishes kept from the public because "not in the public interest."

It also appears that Secretary Stimson personally interested himself in getting the loan from the bankers.

Dear me—can it be possible that Big Business and Government were playing in the same back yard? The public wants to know.

* * *

It All Works Out In the Wash

And so Business, especially the Banking Business, does not always want government to play in its own back yard. Having made enormous private loans in Europe, the international bankers are now trying to persuade our government to pull their chestnuts out of the fire by relieving the debtor nations of the money they owe to the American nation. This they would have our government do by lifting the foreign debt from the backs of foreign peoples and putting it on the backs of the American taxpayers.

How convenient government comes in here!

And how clearly it all works out in the wash.

Thus the other day Mussolini amazed us with the bland statement that the nations that owe this nation billions should simply refuse to pay—and thus transfer the debts of other nations to our own people. And then, through the Rome correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, we get an explanation:

"The mood of unusual frankness on the question of debts adopted by Italy is said to have been inspired by the opinion brought back from America by Grandi that plain speaking would be the only method of approach acceptable to the United States in any European effort to get the debts reduced."

And where did Grandi get this tip? He talked with the President and Mr. Stimson—in secret, and with the international bankers—in secret. Did either of these, or both together, mixing government and banking business in the interest of banking business, give him the tip? We wonder.

The Bankers Will Not Succeed

And just now with the municipality of New York in need of money, because economic conditions brought on by the stupidities of the economic policies of the administration and the refusal of the federal government to furnish work or food to prevent the starving of the unemployed, thereby putting that burden on local treasuries, we find the bankers treating the people's government as a back door beggar and attempting to dictate the increasing by government of the subway fare on the people.

These bankers are interested in the thing financially. They may feel that they are now in position to dictate to the city administration the betrayal of the people. They will not succeed.

We merely call attention to the fact that certain kinds of business finds government its business on occasion.

'The Poor Little Rich Man'

Just now Congress is passing a Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill—in the interest of business. We do not object to that. But this bill is in the interest of financial institutions that need help. It is a plan to help "the poor little rich man" by going into the people's pockets through government for a loan, to furnish "emergency financing facilities for financial institutions." Does Business want Government to stay out? Not on your life! They want Government to come in—to help the financial institutions.

But isn't it strange that with 7,000,000 jobless, 20,000,000 in distress, and starvation facing hundreds of thousands of women and children, it becomes "bad business policy" to float a government loan to furnish work and save human beings from starvation? Think that over.

'Government of The Banks—'

We hear much in the campaign propaganda of the President's "relief program." Relief for the financial institutions. Relief for the railroads. But no thought is given yet to the relief of millions of women and children in distress. Money is great and necessary—but men are something.

The man in the street has come to believe that ours is a "government of the banks, by the banks, and for the banks."

Isn't It So?

There can't be eloquence without sense.

Some fat women are cheerful—but not about being fat.

Some persons think a married woman shouldn't work, unless she's supporting a husband.
